Lake County Geyser Attracting Tourists

Lakeview—(U.P.)—Lake county is enjoying some unseasonable tourist trade as word spreads of the county's second geyser. The new one erupts promptly each four hours and shoots a cloud of hot water and steam 35 feet into the air.

The geyser was brought in when Charles Crump, who has a ranch in the Warner valley, was drilling for water. When he reached a depth of about 100 feet, hot water gushed from the hole.

The other geyser in the county also is man-made and is located near Lakeview. The hot water is believed to originate in a branch of the Warner fault zone, one of a series of faults that lace Oregon, California and Nevada.

Minneapolis—(U.P.)—Like police everywhere, Minneapolis officers are used to strange reports and questions, but they were stumped by this one. "Is this the place where you cash bad checks?" the caller asked.

Italy Communists Split Over Stalin

Rome—(U.P.)—The Italian Communist Party gave strong indications today it was badly divided over the move to discredit Josef Stalin and a new campaign to win Italy's local elections with "ballots instead of bombs."

Delegates attending the second session of the three-day congress had visual proof the Italian Communists were having trouble swallowing the new Moscow line degrading the late dictator.

A huge portrait of Stalin hung side by side in the meeting hall with those of the other Communist "immortals"—V. I. Lenin, Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. Modern-day Communist leaders of the Kremlin were not included.

Stalin has long been a hero to many Italian workers, and the Russian debunking campaign has not been popular with Italy's 2,500,000 Communist Party members. Thus far congress leaders have skipped around the Stalin issue.

English Bride Withstands Torture

Oundle, England—(U.P.)—Many brides are nervous. But not auburn-haired Margaret Collins.

She stood calmly throughout the ceremony Tuesday as she married Patrick Cunningham. And all the time she could feel a bee crawling along beneath her bolero.

The bee stung her near the end of the ceremony but she endured the pain and carried on.

But when the wedding was over she dashed from the church and to a drug store for treatment. Her husband ran after her.

In the store he helped remove the lace-trimmed, tight-fitting bolero, and there was the bee and the swelling wound.

Mrs. Cunningham dabbed on some medicine and left calmly for the reception.

Carpenters' Strike Spreads To Tulelake

Klamath Falls—(U.P.)—The carpenters' strike that tied up most major construction in Klamath Falls Monday, spread to Tulelake, Calif., yesterday and the number of men out rose to about 200.

Members of the Building Trades council in Klamath Falls stayed off their jobs yesterday in sympathy with the striking carpenters. The carpenters are demanding a $3 an hour wage. They now receive a scale of $2.80.
