Grace Kelly Parties With Friends, Dances

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Aboard the SS Constitution at Sea—Grace Kelly parted with her friends and family sailing with her to Monaco but the only man she danced with was her father.

The statuesque blonde twirled about the dance floor in the ship's lounge in a fox trot with her father, John B. Kelly Sr., shortly before midnight.

Then she sat down at a table with a party which included three of her bridesmaids and was content to watch the other dancers.

So far Miss Kelly has worn a different outfit each time she appeared.

Friday night she dressed for dinner in a slate blue organza short evening dress with a hand-printed flower pattern. She carried a white mink stole over her arms.

Wedding Group Party
With her parents she joined the entire wedding group at a cocktail party before dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Mathew McCloskey of Philadelphia.

The bride-to-be said she felt rested after three days on the ocean and was beginning to catch up on correspondence.

She agreed to play deck shuffle-board this afternoon with her two nieces, Margaret, nine, and Marylee, seven, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Davis Jr.

The athletic Kellys so far have refrained from shipboard exercise except for the father of the bride-to-be. He has worked out in the ship's gymnasium each afternoon and danced almost every dance in the lounge nightly.

Scores Of Wires
Scores of telegrams have arrived for Miss Kelly since she boarded the Constitution Wednesday.

Several have been from Prince Rainier III, who is in Monaco nervously preparing for the arrival of his future bride.

Most of the telegrams have come from American movie fans. Miss Kelly showed reporters several of these. They urged her to return to the United States soon to make another movie.

Dispatches from Monaco said first replies to the wedding invitations sent to the heads of Europe's governments indicated there would be few, if any, government chiefs on hand for the wedding. They are sending substitutes.
