Expert Cautions on Mental Health Drugs

Detroit—(UP)—A prominent mental health expert cautioned Monday against "kidding oneself that newly developed tranquilizing drugs will empty mental hospitals."

Dr. Howard D. Fabing, Cincinnati neuropsychiatrist, warned there still were many forms of mental illness about which nothing is known.

"These chronic neurological and psychiatric diseases are caused by factors yet unknown and half our hospital beds," he said, Dr. Fabing made the statement before the American College of Apothecaries at its annual meeting here.

He said new "ataractic drugs" quiet certain overactive patients and tranquilize some of the disturbed but emphasized that causes of many mental diseases still must be learned before mental hospital beds are vacated.

Red Foley, a performer who has been singing country music almost as long as we've had a country.
According to Red (this square handle is Clyde) it's getting hard to tell the difference between pop, rock-and-roll and country music nowadays.

"The lines between the different types of music are beginning to overlap," said Red as he nudged his way through a city-type breakfast in a fancy-type hotel here.

"You know, we used to think of country music that told a true story. But you can't say that anymore."

"Ozark Jubilee" Star
Red currently holding down the wheel horse position on ABC-TV's "Ozark Jubilee," pointed out that in the sweet long ago his public would demand such songs as "The Wreck of The Old 97," "The Death of Floyd Collins" and "A Letter Edged in Black."

"We used to sing songs about things that were happening," said Red, "about the sinking of the Titanic or the disaster of the Shenandoah. But nobody is buying that kind of music anymore."

"Even the way we sing has changed. You know, juke boxes make the hits and kids pour the money into juke boxes. They want to dance and want music with a beat. So where once the country singer would be backed by fiddles and guitars, we now find the bass and even drums added."

Red, who has sold some 25-000,000 records over the past 25 years, may feel we've lost something with the passing of true country music, but he sees no sense in bucking the trend.

"You take two young comers in our field like Elvis Presley and Carl Perkins, why, they're basically more rock-and-roll than country. But they're making the kind of records the juke boxes want."

"And as they say, if you can't fight 'em, join 'em. I cut my first rhythm record back in 1950 and am still cutting 'em. Right now, Burl Ives is the only singer who's making any money on truly folk stuff and even he makes records like "Blue Tail Fly" in tempo."

There'll be no turning back either, thinks Red. "What has happened of course," he explained, "is that things like TV and radio have brought the country closer together. The fellow down in the hill country sees the same program as the man in the city.

"You go out in the rural areas and you'll see TV aerials all over the place. In some places, the sets cost more than the houses."

"That lazy, bewhiskered, ragged character we used to think of as a hillbilly just doesn't exist.
What with television and radio and all, it's getting real hard to find anybody who's even illiterate anymore."

A KILLER ON THE WAY—The deadly funnel of a tornado that slammed into Grand Rivers, Mich., is caught by an amateur photographer seconds before he took cover.
A two-day barrage of killer tornadoes ripped across 11 states from Oklahoma to Michigan leaving 43 persons dead and more than 500 injured. Hundreds were left homeless and destitute as damage ran into the millions.

Country Music, Like the Old Gray Mare, Becoming Citified, Red Foley Declares

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Correspondent
New York—(UP)—Country music, like the old gray mare, ain't what it used to be.

Once as comfortably squares as the fig Newton, it has lost its twang and gone citified. What's more, it figures to become even more cool, crazy, hip or what-have-you, cousin.

For that, you have the word of
as long as we've had a country.

country music nowadays.

city-type breakfast in a fancy-
type hotel here.

"You know, we used to think
story. But you can't say that anymore."
