A stroll along the campus walks is a favorite pastime of University of Oregon co-eds on a warm spring afternoon. Taking an afternoon walk in front of the University Theater building are (left to right) Miss Kay Dunford, Miss Regina Hannon and Miss Celia Clogston.

Evenings in Eugene may be a little chilly, but these Medford students don't seem to mind as they sit on the front steps of Carson hall, women's dormitory. Pictured are (left to right) the Misses Flori Sloniger, Cynthia Rukovina, Nancy Hamilton and Judy Finegan.

Spring Comes To The Campus

By Olive Starcher

Spring is the time when college students are tempted to cut classes and stroll on the campus or sit in the warm sunshine. However, some of the University of Oregon students from Medford pictured today will be on the honor roll in spite of spring temptation and others are well known for their participation in campus activities.

Darrel Brittsan, active in campus politics, is one of two candidates this spring for the office of student body president.

Today's pictures are the work of Ken Metzler, graduate student in journalism at the university.

Formal parties — teas, dances and dinners, are an important part of campus social life and provide one of the big thrills for the pretty co-eds. Shown here wearing a printed spring formal frock is Miss Eleanor Leibbrand, and Miss June Abel assists her in fastening her necklace.

"What will the folks back home think?" muses Miss Darrelyn Ettel as she prepares to sink the No. 3 ball in during a game in the student recreation room of the campus. Standing by to give expert assistance are (at left) Curt Halzgang and Terry Maddox, the latter a varsity baseball pitcher and outfielder.
