Over 200 persons attended an annual Jackson County Shrine club dinner Monday night at Rogue Valley Country club. Western theme decorations were used including saddles and leather trappings and bales of straw decorated the club entrance. The appearance of "Pedro," a donkey, strictly a "non-partisan member," added a note of gaiety. Pictured above, left to right, are George Guldager, Eugene, Hillah Shrine temple potentate, who came especially for the party; Earl Newbry, Ashland, secretary of state, who came from Salem to attend, and Frank Barnthouse, Ashland, temple recorder. In the picture below, left to right, are Jack Walker, L. C. Taylor, Homer Marx, Bob Taylor, (sleepy figure) and William Schel. Bob Taylor led the donkey about during the evening. Most of those who attended wore western attire and wives of club members were issued straw hats for the occasion. Some husband-wife pairs wore matching outfits. (Landis-Shangle photo).
