

BUTTE FALLS Resident Still Hospitalized

By JUNE TAUNTON
Butte Falls — Raymond "Buck" Sutton is still in Sacred Heart hospital where he is recovering from surgery.

It became necessary to operate on his back, following an injury suffered several months ago.

Mrs. Cecil Taunton has learned of the death of her only niece, 3 year old Susan Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison, of Malabar, Fla. Her death was attributed to influenza.

Pvt. Warren Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Brown, was recently transferred from the 1st Infantry division to the 5th division at Ft. Ord, Calif., where he has been since being inducted in the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Conley flew to Portland last week end, where they visited relatives and friends.

Plans are being made to organize a ladies softball team here.

Anyone interested in playing may do so by contacting either Mrs. Bill Rogers or Mrs. Cecil Taunton.

The team is being sponsored by the Medford corporation.

Cecil Taunton spent a couple of days in Portland where he went on business last week.

A lingerie shower was given recently by Miss Joyce Irwin at her home in honor of her girl friend, Vicki Lytle.

Another bridal shower was given for Miss Lytle at the Butte Falls city hall by her mother, Mrs. William Lytle.

Miss Lytle is to be married to Donald Dillard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wolf of Butte Falls April 28 at 1 p.m. The wedding will take place at the Assembly of God church with the Rev. John Fuiten performing the ceremony.

Pvt. Raymond L. "Lee" Abbott, now stationed at Camp Carson, Colo., has been hospitalized with pneumonia. Private Abbott is with the 8th Medical Battalion. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Orb Abbott, of Butte Falls.

On Thursday, April 26, senior students of Butte Falls High school, did odd jobs, in order to make enough money to finance a trip. The community responded quite well and the students worked very hard.

The International Woodworkers of America have purchased the Carson building for a union hall. The building also includes a barber shop, which will be open soon for business.

Mrs. Bruce Pugh attended the Lions auxiliary spring board meeting in Portland, April 18. She also visited the Oregon state school for the blind, and met many of the students, among them children who had been "fostered" by individual members of the Lions auxiliary. Danny Gardner was "fostered" by the Butte Falls Lions auxiliary. He is 7.

Nine-year-old Tony Clark has been "adopted" by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taunton. Tony has partial sight. He is the eldest of several children. Plans are being made to make it possible for Tony to visit with the Tauntons for a few days when school is out.

Mr. and Mrs. Page Stauffer have taken Darryl Henry, 12, as their foster child. Darryl is an unwanted child, so he is especially fond of his new friends.

Mrs. Pringle was able to visit all of these children, but she was unable to see the 17-year-old girl, Alice Merrill, who she has fostered. The girl was at public school which he attends despite her handicap. It is hoped she may soon enjoy normal sight due to an operation scheduled for June.

With Mrs. Pingle on her trip was Mrs. George Hubbard of Prospect. Mrs. Hubbard was able to visit a child the Prospect Lions auxiliary has fostered as their project. She is nine-year-old Shirley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wright of Butte Falls were surprised last week to have their son, Boilerman 2nd class Eugene "Gene" Wright home on leave. He came home to spend a six day leave.

Herb Wright's father, L. D. Wright, of Elsinore, Calif., is also visiting for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hartley, former owners of the Butte Falls tavern, have sold their business and home, and are now residing in Ashland.

The two older children, Cathy and Robert, have remained in Butte Falls to stay with friends the Harvey Gilberts, until school is out.

Bernard and Zelma Parton, and his sister, Dora Ogle, are the new owners of the Butte Falls tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Smith visited several days in Coquille with their daughter, Mrs. S. Johansen.

They attended a dinner given to celebrate the 37th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. "Frenchie" Morret, and the

The annual earwig invasion is starting again at this time so if control measures are used now, best results will follow.

Young earwigs generally hatch in late April and this year they seem to be right on schedule.

The young earwigs feed on leaves close to the ground until they are fairly well grown. Later in life they will scatter over a wide area and will feed on foliage not only on the ground but up into bushes. They also become more resistant to poisons.

The next two weeks will be the vulnerable period in the life of the earwig for control.

Mrs. W. I. Kesterson of Klamath Falls spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Carrie Pool.

Mrs. Amy Ross left Sunday for a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. C. E. Wilson, of Oakdale, and niece, Mrs. Tony Riwin, also of Oakdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haynes of Sacramento, Calif., one time residents of Lampan rd., spent a few days with Mrs. Charles Hummel. The Haynes have sold their home in Sacramento and have purchased a new one in Auburn, Calif. That is just 30 miles on the Lake Tahoe highway out of Sacramento. Haynes is still in the real estate business.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mulkey have recently returned home from Santa Rosa, Calif., where they attended the funeral of Mulkey's sister, Mrs. Belva Crocker, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Marsden Jr. and son, of Portland arrived Friday evening and spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dungey, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Marsden Sr. Mrs. Marsden and Son, Skip, are staying with her parents until school is out. They will then join Marsden in Utah where he has been transferred by the Southern Pacific as engineering inspector.

The Family Council

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, a newspaper editor, a women's page editor and two newspaper writers. These consult with clergymen of all faiths and denominations. All letters are held in complete confidence.

John—I've got a real new-lywed problem.

John—I shop better than she.

John—I am a newlywed, and I have run into a problem that neither mother, nor the books nor my friends ever gave me any inkling about. I was prepared to have all kinds of difficulties with my husband, but not the kind I have run into.

John simply will not let me run my kitchen, even though he was anxious enough that I quit my job so I could devote all my time to our home and our social life. He insists on deciding what to buy in the markets, and he has spent some money we received for a wedding gift building a basement storage room for our groceries.

He lets me do the dishwashing and cooking, but even there he insists not only on making up the menus but argues that certain ways of cooking are wasteful. I have asked him whether he would like it if I came to his office and told him how to do his work, but he says that I am being ridiculous.

John—My wife cannot get it into her head that shopping for the home is very close to the kind of work I do for a living. I am sure she has good taste and will run a wonderful home, but shopping is my specialty and I know I can save a great deal of money by buying certain items for storage when they are selling as specials and by avoiding those items that are abnormally high at the moment.

My wife is willing enough that I go with her to the market on Saturday mornings to help with the bundles, but she doesn't want me to help with my judgment. I think she is being unfair when she says I have no more right to interfere in the home than she would have to interfere in the office. The home is supposed to be mine as well as hers.

The Council: John is not wrong in his point of view, but he is employing very bad tactics. He no doubt knows more about shopping than his wife, this does not mean that he should impose his tastes on his wife. Cooking and homemaking require considerable patience, and the work can become very tiresome if the person who does it is deprived of all decision-making and reduced to the level of a kitchen helper.

John would be much wiser if he were to let his wife absorb his knowledge of shopping lore gradually and perhaps subtly. Instead of winning her appreciation for his helpfulness, he is assuming an obnoxious role.

Evelyn, on the other hand, should realize that her husband is not the only male who is taking a part in the family shopping. When the children come along, she will be happy, indeed, if her husband will be willing to take some of these chores off her hands. It is becoming quite common these days, what with the five-day week and improved merchandising methods in food stores, for men to do much of the shopping.

The difficulty here is that John went at this a bit heavily-handedly.

Daylight Savings Starts on Week End

Chicago—(U.P.)—About 70 million persons this weekend go on daylight saving time. Their clocks will be set an hour ahead.

An Elgin National Observatory survey showed today that DST will go into effect at 2 a.m. local time April 29 throughout nine states and the District of Columbia. The "fast time" will be observed in parts of 15 other states, and in most of the nation's metropolitan areas.

California, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont and the District of Columbia will observe the custom of "saving an hour" of daylight.

Daylight saving time is optional in Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Virginia and West Virginia.

Some communities in Indiana and Pennsylvania will advance their clocks an hour while others remain on "sun time."

Iowa and Louisiana are permitted by state law to join the daylight time savers, but so far they have not chosen to do so.

Politicians May Lose Votes by Campaigning

Tampa, Fla. — (U.P.) — Politicians here have been successful in reaching their audiences it may cost some of them votes.

Housewives complained Friday that campaigners' sound trucks woke their children when they toured residential sections during "nap" time.

Grand Rapids, Mich. — (U.P.) — Patrolman Myles Woods complained Saturday that when he went to check a business place someone stole a pad of parking tickets and a notebook from his motorcycle.

Little Danger in Ice Melting in Antarctic

Washington — (U.P.) — Residents of coastal cities can stop worrying about the Antarctic ice cap melting and flooding metropolises — at least for 10,000 years.

Robert P. Sharp, a professor of geology at California Institute of Technology, discussing the solidity of the ice cap at a seminar of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year (IGY) said on Friday in 10,000 or 20,000 years melting of the ice cap might cause a 250-foot rise in ocean levels.

FIREMEN BREAK
Chicago — (U.P.) — Steven Robinson, 10, and his 8-year-old brother, Ronald, filled their new canteens Friday to find out if they were waterproof.

The boys' grandmother called firemen who carefully smashed the canteens to extricate the finger of each boy caught in the neck of the containers.
