Is That So?

Over the Pacific, with Japan Air Lines — when a visitor is departing from Hawaii it is customary to present him with a garland of flowers called a lei. I have been loaded down with many, but intertwined with these leis are facts presented to me by Dick McMillan of the Visitors Bureau. He calls them, "the lei of the land." Such as: You might say, Hawaii was "discovered" three times. First by the Polynesians around 960 A.D.; next by the Spaniards who reputedly arrived around 1555; and last by Captain James Cook of the Royal Navy, 1778, who named the group the Sandwich Islands after the Earl of Sandwich.

4-30-56

Cook of the Royal Navy, 1778, who named the group the Sandwich Islands after the Earl of Sandwich. Captain George Vancouver introduced cattle. On these King Kamehameha placed a "hands off" kapu and the herd multiplied quickly. Today, Hawaii has the second largest cattle ranch in the world. So lush is the grass and so drenched by dew that some of these Parker ranch cattle die without ever having had a drink of water.

The Hawaiian Islands are the summits of the loftiest mountain range in the world. Before the history of mankind, a great 2000-mile rift opened on the floor of the Pacific Ocean. From it poured enough lava through the millions of years to build this mounted chain to a height of 30,000 feet from the ocean floor. The tallest peak in this range is Mauna Kea on Hawaii. Hawaii Largest of Islands

Hawaii, the largest of the islands, is not the capital. That honor goes to much smaller Oahu, with Honolulu as the capital city.

Some of the peaks on Kauai and Maui islands are extremely old; others on the Big Island (Hawaii) are still being formed as periodic lava flows cascade down their slopes. Around most of these islands, myriads of tiny coral animals have built reefs.

The Hawaiian archipelago is the longest in the world—1500 miles from Hawaii northwest to Kure (Ocean) island.

The total area of these Hawaiian Islands is 6,435 square miles — about the size of Delaware, Connecticut and Rhode Island rolled into one.

The islands have year-round summer weather; with a mean monthly temperature in Honolulu of 70 degrees in February; to 78 in August. Throughout the year, happily, fresh winds blow — mostly tradewinds with an occasional "kona" which usually brings rain.

Rainfall varies tremendously in different parts of the same island; the greater rainfall is usually found on the windward side. In general, winter is the rainy season, although there is no month without some rain. Veneta Iverson, Salesman, Ph. 3-3089 them and they sometimes see liquid molten red-hot lava spurring up in 500-foot fountains. In addition, Hawaii has many dormant volcanoes. Punchbowl, within the city of Honolulu, was active perhaps 5,000 years ago. Another, Haleakala (house of the rising sun) is one of the largest dormant volcanoes in the world — its highest point is 10,025 feet and it is 21 miles around the rim.

The islands are unbelievably rich in colorful flowers, plants and trees. There are more than 460 kinds of ornamental trees — the most dramatic perhaps being the showy trees; more than 5,000 hybrid hibiscus shrubs alone; and on the island of Hawaii, more than 400,000 acres of tree ferns some of which grow to heights of 25-30 feet. Yet despite this seeming profusion of plants, few are native. Most of the flora, from weeds to huge banyan trees, were brought into the territory.

British Carrier Crashes; Two Die

Sansted, England. — (U.P.) — Two persons were killed when a British troop-carrying plane crashed on takeoff with 54 persons aboard today.

Four survivors were trapped inside the smashed fuselage for two hours as fire threatened to break out while rescuers worked feverishly to free them.

The rescuers finally cut their way through the crumpled metalwork of the plane and pulled the four survivors to safety in a tense, drama-filled operation.

The four persons trapped inside while jittery firemen ringed the wreckage, suffered injuries. But the other 48 persons aboard the four-engine York airliner, which was bound for Cyprus by way of Malta with British servicemen and their families, escaped injury with the aid of seats which faced rearward.

They were able to climb out of the fuselage on their own. But it was in a section of the passenger compartment which was crushed by the impact that the rescue drama took place.

The troop carrier, chartered by the Royal Air Force, was taking off without hint of trouble when it suddenly swerved off the runway and groundlooped.

El Segundo, Calif. — (U.P.) — One of the fastest carrier-based aircraft ever built, the new supersonic F4D Skyray, now is being used by the Navy's Pacific and Atlantic operational fleets.

The Navy department yesterday announced the bat-winged jet, holder of two speed records, was designed and built at the El Segundo division of Douglas Aircraft company.

Six of the planes were delivered to the Navy. The speedy craft is lightweight and was designed for intercepting modern bombers at high altitudes.

How many times do I love you, dear? Tell me how many beads there are in a silver chain Of the evening rain. Untraveled from the tumbling main. Threading the eyes of a yellow star; So many times do I love again. —Beddoes

How do you rate yourself as a well-informed person? What shape are you in to win one of those fancy jackpots on a quiz program? Can you answer the following question? "What would I be carrying home if I brought an antimacassar, a dinghy, a sarong and an aperyx?" That was the first question put to the youngsters on the celebrated "Quiz Kid" radio program. That was in 1940. They answered it correctly. It was a seven year old "Quiz Kid" who described an antimacassar. Smart boy. I was 14 years old before I even knew what an antimacassar was.

Horses and Women Women now wear less clothes than ever. Average female only has to don about seven articles of attire. Yet they are taking longer to dress than their grandmothers. Too much of the life of a husband is wasted waiting for his wife to get ready to go out. A bitter campaign for speedier dressing by wives must be launched. To get ready for a social visit, as for example, to play bridge, seven minutes is sufficient. To go to the theatre 10 minutes is enough. For a formal affair 30 minutes. There will be more discussion of this vital question anon. Maybe sooner.

Asking Queries from clients. Q. Was Hitler a vegetarian? A. Hitler followed a vegetarian diet originated by a German dietician named Gaber. Q. Are all roulette wheels alike? Or do some give the player a better break than others? A. Some casinos, notably in Belgium, eliminate the zero from the roulette wheel. This gives the player a better chance of winning. Or should I say of losing less? . . . Q. Can you name the character in classic literature who had five husbands? Our librarian couldn't. A. The "Wife of Bath" in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales had five husbands. At different times, of course. She was fondest of her fifth husband, saying he was the only one who dominated her.

In a few words "Well married a man is winged; Ill-matched he is shackled," so said Henry Ward Beecher. "Mind, not body, makes marriage lasting," observed Publilius Syrus. "A woman needs a stronger head than her own—" she should marry," said Calderon. Please Note Have heard of a young fellow with first name of Omaha. Name was inspired by his having been born in Omaha, Neb. Brings to mind the tale told of the great Chicago ballplayer "Cap" Anson, whose full name was Adrian Constantine Anson. When six years old he asked his mother why he had such "funny" names as Adrian and Constantine while the other kids were named John, George, Charles and Robert. His mother told him she was born in Adrian, Mich., and his father in Constantine, Mich., so they named him Adrian Constantine. That night when little Adrian Constantine knelt in prayer, he thanked the Lord his mother had not been born in Ypsilanti and his father in Kalamazoo.

Over the Bridge Being overweight shortens life. Fat people do not live to a ripe old age. So claim the longevity experts. They are probably right. But, of course, there are exceptions. In Brooklyn live six sisters, the youngest is 70 years old, the eldest, 84. They each weigh over 200 pounds. They all feel wonderful. And their appetites are excellent.

Getting Married One of the world's most difficult places for a girl to get a husband is Sweden. The average Swedish bachelorette, even those beautiful blue eyed blondes in Stockholm, doesn't get a husband until she is 27 years old.

Twenty-five per cent of Swedish women are still unmarried at 40. Husbands The most jealous husbands are the Greeks. So I note it said. It was ever thus. Even in ancient Greece when some wives went out alone, their husbands made them eat a quantity of onions. That was to prevent anybody enjoying kissing them.
