

MANPOWER PROBLEM — Gen. Curtis LeMay, appearing before special Senate armed services subcommittee on air power in Washington, labeled a shortage of skilled manpower as the "most critical deficiency" of his strategic air command.

Arrangements Near Complete for Show Of Fire Equipment

Representatives of federal, state and private industry groups have completed initial arrangements for a Fire-Ama Saturday, May 26, at Elk Lumber company, North Highway 99.

The Fire-Ama will be a display and demonstration of various types of equipment used in Jackson county for forest fire protection. The show was organized to focus attention on the investment in protection of forested areas, both in public and private funds.

Federal and state agencies have indicated they will cooperate in the show.

Demonstration Planned — Included in plans are demonstrations of equipment, an air-drop exercise, demonstration of hand tools and pumps used in controlling forest fires, and several other events including a log-birling contest.

Rural fire protection district, the weather bureau and other agencies concerned with forest fire suppression have been invited to participate, according to Sam Taylor, of Elk Lumber company, chairman of the committee in charge of the show.

Taylor said those interested in participating in the show may contact him at Elk Lumber company.

Grandview Water Extensions Ready

Five extensions of water mains installed last fall in the Grandview Water district are now ready for use, according to Harvey and Watkins, consulting engineers.

The extensions have been sterilized. A total of 34 fire hydrants have been installed in the district.

Extensions are on Buckshot rd. from Springbrook rd. west; on Crater Lake ave. from Delta Waters rd. north; on Crater Lake highway from Delta Waters rd. southwest along the highway; on Corona ave. from Hilton rd. north; and on Hilton rd. from Corona ave. west.

Oregon Caves Featured In Magazine Article

An article on Oregon Caves National monument appears in the May issue of Sunset magazine.

The article includes pictures taken inside the caves as well as one of the lodge and outside the cave exit. The geology of the caves, accommodations available, and short descriptions of trails also are included in the article.
