

Candidates To Be On Program

Every registered voter should not only vote on May 18, but be informed about the candidates for whom he casts his ballot, states Mrs. Irving Thomas, voters' service chairman for Medford League of Women Voters.

Citizens have an opportunity to become better acquainted with candidates for local and state offices by attending the "Meet Your Candidates" program at Hedrick Junior High School Friday, May 4, at 8 p.m. James Dunlevy will be master of ceremonies and present the candidates to the audience. There will be a question period at which time candidates will answer questions pertinent to functions of the office they seek personal qualifications. The questions are to be submitted in writing.

Also included on the program are musical selections by the Medford High School band under the direction of I. A. Mirick, and a baked food sale by the Jayettes. The proceeds of the food sale will be used for the J. C. camp for underprivileged children, at Lake of the Woods.

The Grocereria is donating two cakes to the league for sale at the meeting, one decorated with an elephant and one with a donkey, in keeping with the non-partisan spirit of the program.

LWV members cooperating in the planning of this program are Mrs. Harold Snodgrass, Mrs. Hugh Collins, Mrs. Irving Thomas, Mrs. Adam Richter and Mrs. Gordon MacKenzie. Many other league members are aiding in the publicity for this candidates program which they believe to be of great importance before the primaries to be held in two weeks.

Sample Republican, Democratic and non-partisan judicial ballots will be available at the program.

Try eggplant this way: Peel, cut into 1/2" thick slices, salt and pile up with a weight on top to extract the brown juice. Rinse and dry. Marinate in french dressing, then broil directly under the flame until golden brown. Serve hot with any kind of meat.

Donelsons Return To Medford Home

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Donelson, who lived in Medford until six years ago, have returned to the city and again are making their home at 1002 Sunset avenue. The Donelsons have lived in Seattle and Vancouver, Wash., since leaving Medford. Mr. Donelson has now retired.

Phoenix Church Group Meetings Held Last Week

Phoenix—Several groups in Phoenix Presbyterian church held recent meetings.

Sunday the Westminster Fellowship group held a swim party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Flanagan in Medford. After luncheon served by Mrs. Flanagan all attended the Medford church to hear Dr. J. Hudson Ballard talk on "Toward Overcoming Worry."

Sunday, May 6, the meeting will be led by Don MacKintosh and Dale Haggard on the topic, "Friendship - Evangelism." A color sound film will be shown. Saturday, May 12, the young people plan to attend a meeting of the Youth Presbytery to be held at Grants Pass Bethany Presbyterian church.

All members of the church are invited to join the Westminster Fellowship group May 10 for a skating party at the Ashland Skating rink. Hours will be from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Friday night program last Friday night was attended by about 60 persons. Fellowship dinner the picture "In the Face of Jeopardy" was shown by Conger-Morris. The next meeting for this group will be May 25 when a film "Today in Pakistan" will be shown.

Woman's association of the church attracted a large attendance for a meeting last Thursday. Mrs. J.N.O. Poling conducted devotions and the business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Roscoe Owens. During the luncheon hour Mrs. Owens was presented a president's pin.

The luncheon committee was Mrs. J. H. Webster, Mrs. Lester Igo, Mrs. Al Morin and Mrs. Ernest James. A report on the book, "Go Quickly and Tell," was given by Barbara Marrs, the book being on the Navajo Indians. This was followed by a film on the Indian "Strangers in Their Own Land." About 20 women attended the meeting.

Auxiliary Team Wins First Place At FOE Meeting

A drill team from the auxiliary to Crater Lake aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, won first place in a ritualistic competition during a Crater Lake regional meeting of the FOE and auxiliary. The sessions were held in Lakeview Saturday and Sunday.

Teams from Bend, Klamath Falls and Medford competed. Trophies were awarded three Medford women for outstanding ritualistic work. They were Mrs. Al Ford, president of the Medford auxiliary, Mrs. Jack Weber, junior past president and Mrs. Roy Heath, conductress.

About 25 members of the Medford lodge and auxiliary attended the regional meeting.

DAR Members Give Reports on State Meeting

Mrs. C. O. Lovejoy was hostess for the April meeting of Crater Lake chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, entertaining last Saturday at her home on Old Military road.

Delegates who attended the state conference at Albany reported on the various activities of the societies throughout the state.

Mrs. Lovejoy spoke of the aims of the society in encouraging the teaching of history and rewarding the students for outstanding citizenship and scholastic achievements.

Mrs. George R. Carter told of the increasing interest of people throughout the nation in Champeo park and Newell house of the Oregon society. She stated that the National Education association which will meet in Portland in July has made reservations to visit these places and have asked the DAR women to be hostesses at that time.

Crater Lake chapter voted to have a letter of appreciation sent to Dennis Wyatt who recently published a letter in the Oregonian in which he praised the DAR for its "outstanding patriotic endeavors."

Mrs. O. T. Heyerman, Mrs. Vernon Patton and Mrs. John Sansone were welcomed as new members.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Charles Stearns, Mrs. O. C. Rawlins, Mrs. Marion Wood and Mrs. F. J. Glonning. Assisting Mrs. Lovejoy were Mrs. J. C. Archibald and Mrs. A. V. Hardy.

U. S Products Cause Commotion In French Shops

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent

Paris — (U.P.) — Plastic gadgets and washable sports jackets straight from America cause more commotion here than a Paris label in a closet back home.

While visiting Americans crowd into cut-rate perfume shops and expensive boutiques, French shoppers now are flocking to buy American-made products imported in record numbers by two leading Paris department stores.

Their enthusiasm for genuine made-in-U.S. products is so contagious it makes even Americans look with new respect at such familiar items as plastic bridge table covers, nylon undershorts for men and plastic playthings for children.

The escalator which carries customers up to the fifth floor American section in Le Printemps, one of the two stores, rolls past walls advertising scores of the imported items.

Caught in one of these eager upward riders, I rode past Davy Crockett chemisettes, nylon rompers, plastic mats and finally, spilled onto the fifth floor with the shoving crowd, found myself in the men's slacks department.

"The section for men is the most popular except for slattees," a pretty clerk explained when I question her in English. "Men in France cannot buy such things before."

Prices of seersucker pajamas, dacron jackets and slacks and nylon raincoats were as high and often higher than they were in the United States.

One French couple fingered a lightweight dacron sports jacket. "Too cold for our weather," the woman complained in English so I could understand. Her husband added, "It is for Tex-ahz," and laughed uproariously at his joke.

Entire families gathered around the American toy display. In the center was a colorful cardboard booth with a sign reading "Super Duper Market." The play store unfortunately had not come equipped with American-type merchandise, so the display shelves held one box of corn muffin mix, some Easter egg dye, hair ointment and tooth paste.

Protect the fuzzy surface of brushed-knit sleepwear during laundering, suggests Gas Appliance Manufacturers, by turning each garment inside out before it goes into the hot soap or detergent suds.
