Home Extension Units Hold Annual Festival Yesterday

Scores of home extension unit members from all parts of Jackson county gathered in Central Point yesterday for the annual spring festival. This is traditionally a time when the past year is reviewed and the unit members examine exhibits of one another's work, present humorous skits and hear speakers. Election was also held and three new members of the county extension committee were named. They are Mrs. Rollin Jones, Oak Grove unit; Mrs. Dora Krouse, Applegate unit and Mrs. Chester Wilson, Rogue-Elk unit.

Speaker for the morning session was Mrs. Mabel Mack, assistant director of the Oregon Extension service who for 11 years was extension agent for Jackson county. Mrs. Mack keyed her talk to the festival theme which was "Spizzierintum," or "Up with the Sun."

Mrs. Mack defined "spizzierintum" as super-energy and super-force which leads to super-activity and said to acquire this super-energy, persons must be well fed and in good health. She pointed out that the extension program, which seeks to improve home, family and community living, also seeks to improve the health of its members.

The speaker talked of the role leaders play in the units and said the extension program for years has had the developing of leadership as one of its goals. She pointed out that much more can be accomplished in many fields through group activity than can be accomplished by individual effort and quoted surveys and statistics to show how group activity improves production and efficiency, whether in a factory, a home or community projects.

Some of the group projects of the units have been lessons in clothing, in making home furnishings or decorative objects, and in weight control, she recalled.

The festival held in Jackson county is only one of several held in the state, Mrs. Mack said, and pointed out that they

Phoenix Festival Activities Open With Ball Friday

Phoenix—First activity of the annual Phoenix May festival, set for May 28, will be held Friday, May 4. It is the annual ball for the festival princesses and will be held at Phoenix Community club. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music to be furnished by the Tunemiths.

The public is invited to attend, and refreshments will be served.

At a meeting of the festival committee last Monday evening Cecil Clafin reported that there is still space available for booths. Any valley organization desiring booth space is asked to call Mr. Clafin, telephone 3-3780 or V. C. Clafin, 3-3414. Festival Coordinator Leo Furry asks that anyone wishing to place an entry in the parade, either floats, walking groups or horses, is to contact W. R. Haggard or David Haggard, telephone 2-7915.

Entertainment was provided by the Eagle Point Mothersingers.

Among guests attending the festival were County Judge Rodney Keating, Commissioners Paul Chester Wendt and L. G. Morthland and their wives, County Agent, W. B. Tucker and Miss Rizzpah, Josephine county extension agent.

The invocation was given by the Rev. James Krieder of Pilgrim Holiness church, Medford, and group singing was led by Mrs. James Edge, with Mrs. Robert Rosenbaum as pianist. Mrs. Arnold Gosnell led the flag salute. Mrs. Ira F. Burns, retiring chairman of the county committee, served as mistress of ceremonies and introduced program numbers.

Skits were given by the Howard, Rogue-Elk, Willow Springs, Evans Valley and Ashland units. During the morning session music was provided by Crater High school mixed chorus, directed by Norman Carothers.

Luncheon was served at noon in the basement of the Grange hall and during the two-hour noon intermission unit members and guests viewed the unit exhibits set up in the American Legion hall across the street.

In order that more persons might become acquainted with the work of the units, open

Company Names First Winner of Sewing Contest

A chance to win $25,000 and a trip to New York may be in store for Miss Elaine Sorum, 1309 Thomas road, who Thursday was named first-round winner in the Singer annual sewing contest. Miss Sorum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sorum, 1309 Thomas road, modeled a dress she made at the Singer Sewing center, under the direction of Mrs. Geneva Neill and it was selected as best of the entries. Judges were Miss Jean Brooks, clothing instructor at Medford Senior High school; Mrs. Joan Weatherford, County Home Extension agent and Mrs. Dorothy Sneed, sewing instructor at Hedrick Junior High school.

Miss Sorum won a fitted scissors set. The winning dress will now be entered in the Northwest contest at Seattle, Wash. First winners in the 33 regional contests will have their garments entered in the final judging in New York and will go to New York for five days in June to participate in the grand "sew-off." Winners will have the use of specially equipped sewing corners to make a dress for a professional model which will be judged equally with the dresses made for themselves to choose a winner for the $25,000 prize.

Mothersingers Close Season Concert Sunday

Mothersingers of the Medford Council of Parent-Teacher associations climaxed six months of rehearsals and appearances with a concert in Hedrick Junior High school cafeteria last Sunday afternoon. The concert was well attended and well received. Mrs. LeRoy Jansen is director.

This group is the result of a state-wide project started some 10 years ago by the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers. It was organized last November as one unit of the state movement to promote "better unity between home, school and community by providing a broader range of activities for the talents and abilities of its members in general" according to a council statement.

Sunday's program was planned to please various tastes, with numbers ranging from opera to currently popular songs.

Soloists were Mrs. Stanley Lacey, Mrs. T. E. Popham and Mrs. Darrell Huson. Mrs. H. Chandler Drew is accompanist for the chorus.

Since the season just closed is considered a satisfying one by the chorus and its sponsors, in all probability those who enjoy this type of musical endeavor can look forward to an expanded program and activity next season.

Club Painting House Numbers on Curbs

The Phoenix Lions club project of painting house numbers on curbs in Medford continued last night, and will continue tonight and Saturday morning, club officials have reported.

About 500 numbers have been painted since the project started a few weeks ago, they said.

The area in which club members will paint house numbers this week is bounded by East Main st. on the north, Almond st. on the west, Florence ave. on the east and 11th st. on the south, officials said.

They pointed out that painting is voluntary, and there is no cost. They said, however, that contributions will be accepted for the club's program of civic improvements, youth activities and aid to the blind.
