

Israel Premier Says Basic War Danger Still Exists in Mid-East

By ELIAV SIMON
United Press Correspondent
Tel Aviv, Israel—(U.P.)—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion said today the basic danger of war between Israel and the Arab states still exists because there is "no sign that any of the Arab states really want peace."

He said a direct meeting between Arab and Jewish representatives was the only way to bring about a general improvement in Mid-East relations and renewed his proposal for a meeting with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Arab leaders.

The white-haired premier said also that "without a balance of forces between the Arab states and Israel it is difficult to believe there will be no outbreak of war."

Gen-Gurion received this correspondent for the first interview he had granted since U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld flew to the Middle East last month to try and prevent war breaking out along the tense Gaza Strip.

In an appraisal of the Hammarskjöld mission Ben-Gurion said he hoped the "visit has been useful since the forging of the cease fire on the part of Egypt and also perhaps on the part of Jordan."

But Ben-Gurion charged that Arab attacks across the Israeli border since the forging of the cease fire "aroused doubt in either the willingness or the capacity of the Egyptian dictator to maintain order in the Gaza Strip."

The premier said such incidents as the blowing up of a house on the Israeli side of the Jordan border Sunday "raised skepticism as to the insecurity of the Jordanian forces."

Ben-Gurion said he was "afraid . . . that the basic danger of war still exists."

Cites Balance of Forces
"Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and possibly also Jordan continue their fervent preparations to attack Israel, and Soviet arms are now flowing also to Syria," he said. "There is no sign whatever that any of these states really wants peace.

"Without a balance of forces between Israel and the Arab states it is difficult to believe there will be no outbreak of war."

Asked if the United Nations could do more to bring peace if the balance of power were restored, Ben-Gurion said: "Balance of forces alone will prevent war, but it will not restore peace."

Ben-Gurion said the first step the United Nations should take toward the establishment of peace is to secure full implementation of the armistice agreements of 1949.

Newby Unavailable For Vehicle Post
Salem—(U.P.)—Secretary of State Earl T. Newby told Gov. Elmo Smith today that he does not wish to be considered for possible appointment as director of the new motor vehicle department.

Newby made his statement to quell reports that he might be named to the post.

He said he intends to serve out his second term as secretary of state which expires Jan. 1, 1957, but had no other comment concerning his future plans.

The Motor vehicle administration, now under the secretary of state, was transferred by the 1955 Legislature to control of the executive office effective this July.

Pre-Sentence Probe Of Attorney Launched
Salem—(U.P.)—A pre-sentence investigation of Salem attorney Walter S. Lamkin was under way today by District Attorney Kenneth Brown and the state parole board.

Lamkin pleaded guilty yesterday to charges he converted to his own use $1,132 of a client's money. He will be sentenced May 21.

Arraignment Slated On Kidnaping Charge

Pendleton—(U.P.)—Paul L. Stelle, 39-year-old escapee from Washington state prison at Walla Walla, was arraigned in Justice Court here yesterday on a kidnaping charge.

District Attorney John W. Walker said Steele asked for time to consider whether he wanted to waive preliminary hearing and was given until Friday.

Stelle, who escaped from the Washington prison April 30, is charged with forcing Mrs. Nadine Norton, a Milton-Freewater taxicab driver, to drive him as far as Hood River where the cab ran out of gas.

The convict was captured in a hobo jungle east of Hood River last Thursday.

Stelle was turned over to Umatilla county authorities here when Walker decided to prosecute him on the kidnaping charge rather than return him to prison officials at Walla Walla.

Cattlemen To Hear Ex-Gov. Thornton

Bend—(U.P.)—Dan Thornton, ex-governor of Colorado, was the main speaker today at the Oregon Cattlemen's Association Convention here. Also slated for talks during the day were Harvey Dahl, assistant to the secretary of agriculture, and Forest Noel, executive director of National Beef Council.

In yesterday's opening session, members and their wives on hand for the three-day meeting heard 10 committee reports, outlining the business that will be brought before the group.

'Grass Roots' Drive Said Needed To Send Ike Back To Capital

San Francisco—(U.P.)—Governors Goodwin J. Knight of California and Robert E. Smylie of Idaho told Republican leaders yesterday they must launch a "mammoth grass roots campaign" to return President Eisenhower to the White House for another term.

"Revising the enthusiasm of four years ago," Knight said, "will require renewed effort and experienced organizational ability."

"The record-breaking balloting of 1952, a spirit of lethargy has overcome our voting population, and this widespread lack of interest must be changed to one of positive concern for the maintenance of the Eisenhower administration."

Conference Addressed
The two Republican state executives addressed a regional "Citizens for Eisenhower" conference attended by party leaders from the seven Western States. Knight spoke at a closed business meeting attended by 65 persons and Smylie addressed 100 delegates at a luncheon.

Smylie said the GOP must make an "even greater effort" to get out the independent vote this year than it did in 1952.

"We must be shoelather politicians this year," Smylie said. "We must ring the door bells and tell the story. Complacency can be our biggest enemy in 1956."

"We will win if, from this moment, we go to work to build a crusading organization of inspired and determined men and women; determined to interpret and sell American principles and the Eisenhower program of dynamic conservatism to all the people."

Cruiser Toledo Placed in Quarantine

Long Beach, Calif.—(U.P.)—The Navy's heavy cruiser Toledo was in quarantine today with its crew of 1000 men confined to quarters aboard the vessel following an outbreak of a throat infection.

Capt. T. A. Torgenson, commander of the ship, yesterday cancelled all leaves and passes after 110 members of the crew were stricken with a virus throat infection. Torgenson said the throat infection, accompanied by a high fever, began Saturday when 50 men were stricken.

The outbreak led Navy officials to send for Cmdr. H. Lawlor, an epidemiologist. The ship was ordered quarantined at the Long Beach Naval shipyard.

Red China Invitation Rejected by Eden

London—(U.P.)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden brusquely rejected a Socialist demand today that he invite Red China's Premier Chou En-lai to Britain for talks similar to those he had recently with Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

But, he told the House of Commons, President Eisenhower "would always be welcome."

How Standard invested its money last year to meet your growing oil needs

Exploration for new oil sources cost $184 million. Standard Oil Company of California produced oil and gas from more than 8600 wells in the U.S., Canada and South America to supply your petroleum needs.

New Refinery Units to make higher octane gasoline took a big part of the $30 million we spent for plant improvement.

Petrochemicals for plastics and other new products; fertilizers and sprays for bigger crops, took a $26 million investment.

Research and technical services cost nearly $13 million. One result was a technique which promises to greatly increase yields from oil wells, helping conserve U.S. resources.

Transportation Facilities to bring our products from oil field to you were a $10 million item.

New and Modernized Service Stations from Alaska to Mexico cost $16 million, made Standard products more convenient for you.

Petroleum progress means . . . to keep pace with your needs, oil companies must invest $74 billion in new U.S. facilities by 1965
