Large Tea on Wednesday Observes Hospital Week

More than 200 people attended the tea given at Rogue Valley Memorial hospital (Community hospital) Wednesday afternoon, according to Mrs. Shelby M. Tuttle, president of the hospital auxiliary. The annual affair, held in observance of National Hospital week, was arranged by members of the auxiliary under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Sheridan W. Scott.

Plans for the new hospital building were on display and Miss B. J. Larsen, administrator, was present to explain them. Tours of the present building were available for those who wished, and other exhibits arranged in the penthouse included student nurses' uniforms and pictures dating back many years. "Pinky the Puppet," a toy being made by St. Martha's Guild at Prospect was shown, as were several "ditty bags" which the Gold Hill health unit is furnishing the hospital.

It is planned to begin soon giving each child confined to the hospital one of the puppets, which he will be allowed to take home with him on dismissal.

Three boys in the hospital Wednesday were given puppets. They are Michael McIntyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIntyre, who has been there about ten days, and Turman and Doyle Jones, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Jones, who had tonsil surgery.

Women pouring included Mrs. George R. V. Bolster, Mrs. James Rowan, Mrs. Charles W. Barnes, Mrs. Eugene Thorndike, Mrs. A. S. V. Carpenter, Mrs. Edwin R. Durno, Mrs. Russell G. Barnes, Mrs. Martin Sands and Mrs. Tom MacLeod.

Flowers in the penthouse were arranged by Mrs. B. L. Lageson and Mrs. Robert Norris, and Mrs. C. Elwood Hedberg had charge of the table. Sandwiches and cookies was supplied by auxiliary members, and were served by hospital staff members under the direction of Mrs. MacLeod, dietitian.

Mrs. C. E. McIntyre was in charge of hostesses who greeted guests on arrival, and Mrs. William H. Bartlett assisted in serving refreshments.

Volunteer workers interested in feeding patients at the hospital are needed immediately, it was announced today by Mrs. Shelby M. Tuttle, president of the hospital auxiliary.

One of the services offered by the auxiliary is maintenance of a group of trained volunteers who go to the hospital when needed to aid the regular staff members in this work. Mrs. Tuttle points out that when several patients are unable to feed themselves, it becomes difficult for the nurses to care for each patient without assistance.

Those interested are asked to call Mrs. Sheridan W. Scott, telephone 3-4937. Mrs. Scott has been appointed chairman of this unit, and she will arrange a training course for new volunteers. Before working with patients, each volunteer is given instruction by Mrs. Bernice W. Nims, director of nurses at the hospital.
