

Rose Society Announces New Division for Show

A new exhibit division in competitive rose arrangements has been created by the Medford Rose society for the second annual rose show to be held June 2 in Medford high school cafeteria. This new division has been added because of interest manifested by "old rose" exhibitors in the show last year which were entered on a non-competitive basis, according to Eldred Peyton, society president.

The entries will consist of "old fashioned or species roses" and it is expected that mainly they will be entered in "old fashioned" containers, though the officers point out, any type container can be used, so long as directions in each particular class within the division are followed.

If possible, variety names should be included and given to entry clerks. This will facilitate placement of arrangements.

To be classed as an "old fashioned" variety it must have been introduced over 50 years ago, Mr. Peyton states. The species roses are original forms of roses, or roses of pure strain that are not the result of hybridization.

Open To Amateur

Competition in this new division is open to any and all amateur rose growers whose entries have been grown out-of-doors without the manual assistance of professionals.

The non-competitive old fashioned rose exhibit which was featured last year and those who do not wish to enter their arrangements in the competitive division may place them on display.

It is hoped that this type of exhibit will acquaint the general public with the old roses and demonstrate that they and the species, (or wild roses), have a definite place in rose growing.

It is estimated that there are at least a thousand named varieties in this class now in existence. Of these possibly two or three hundred are distinctly different from modern roses in type of beauty, charm, fragrance and garden purpose, and are worthy of an important place in every rose garden of today, the society believes.

Varieties Listed

Officers of the Medford Rose society have listed some with the year of their origination, all of which are grown in southern Oregon, for the convenience of those who may wish to enter exhibits. The letter "S" indicates species roses.

They are Hansa, 1905; Hermosa, 1840; John Hopper, 1862; Frau Karl Druschki, 1901; Crested Moss, 1827; Hon. Ina Bingham, 1905; Mrs. John Laing, 1887; Marshal P. Wilder, 1885; Fanny Bias, 1819; Red Moss, 1863; Baron Girod de l'Ain, 1897; Mrs. J. F. Redly, date unknown; General Jacqueminot, 1853; American beauty, 1875; R. Hugonis, 1899; Austrian Copper, prior to 1590; Suzanne Marie Rodocanachi, 1883; Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, 1891;

UN Chapter Reports on Convention

Dr. Edna Landros, retired University of Oregon professor will visit Medford soon in the interest of the Oregon United Nations association according to Lawrence Solin, president of the Medford chapter.

Mr. Solin announced the visit of Dr. Landros during a meeting of the local chapter held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Padgman on Springbrook road. The president, reporting on the recent state convention which he attended, stated that finances are an increasing problem for the Oregon UN association, and that Dr. Landros will work on this phase of the UN program during her visit here.

Mr. Solin stated he, his wife, Mrs. Bruno Pellegrini, Mrs. Zella Van Valzah, Mrs. Kenneth Murray and Mrs. A. C. Cameron had attended the state meeting in Eugene. Speakers at the convention were Abdel Moneim El-Khedry, consul general of Egypt in San Francisco, and Ranan Sivan, consul general of Israel in Los Angeles.

Mr. Solin gave general background material on the Arab-Jewish problem and Mrs. Cameron then reported on the talk which the Egyptian consul had given at convention. The consul had pointed out that the Arabs had resisted the division of Palestine as arranged by the United Nations, and added that Syria, Jordan, Lebanon and Egypt backed the Arabs in this resistance movement.

He discussed the arming of the Arabs by the Russians, the refugee problem and charged that Israel is the "new face of imperialism," she reported.

Mrs. Van Valzah reported on the talk of the Israeli consul, quoting him as having said that the Jewish people returned to Palestine with the original full cooperation of the Arabs, but that later they began to threaten the Jewish people.

The speaker quoted Biblical sources to defend the Jewish stand, she said and declared that the Baghdad pact had not accomplished its purpose. He also discussed the refugee problem, she reported, saying that the Arabs were purposely not making any attempt to resettle displaced persons, even though these persons could be assimilated in the Arab states.

Concluding the report, Mr. Solin stated that the convention delegates had agreed that the United Nations must continue to make every effort to solve the Jewish-Arab problem.

Guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts of Liberia. Mr. Roberts, assistant secretary in the department of public works for Liberia, outlined the history of his nation, spoke of its problems and accomplishments and of the help given throughout the years by individuals, agencies and the government of the United States.

Mrs. Padgman served dessert before the meeting.

Installation Held By Lone Pine PTA; Principal Honored

Lone Pine — Mrs. E. J. Lindstrom was installed president of Lone Pine Parent-Teachers association during a recent meeting in the school gymnasium. Installing officer was Mrs. William Underwood, a past president of the Lone Pine unit. Also installed were Mrs. Barton LaFon, vice-president; Mrs. Bernard Hughes, secretary and Mrs. Royd Fogelquist, treasurer. All were presented corsages by Mrs. George Paul, retiring president.

A past presidents pin was given Mrs. Paul by the members with Mrs. Lindstrom making the presentation.

Henry Kamman, school principal, reported on bus conditions in the district. There was a discussion on the possibility of a Pee Wee league baseball team in the area.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of the children in the first grade.

The new and retiring officers of Lone Pine P.T.A. served a turkey dinner for the faculty of the school May 4. That day Mr. Kamman was presented a watch from the pupils of the school and the other teachers.

Race Barriers Tumbling, Banquet Speaker Declares

Guest speaker for the annual mother-daughter banquet at First Methodist church Friday night was Mrs. Clarence A. Meeker. About 250 attended the banquet and greeted Mrs. Meeker and her daughter, Miss Eleanor Meeker, following the banquet.

Mrs. Meeker, former Medford resident, came west from New York City to speak at the banquet and to attend the dedication ceremonies for Meeker Memorial chapel, named for the late Mayor Meeker who was a well known lay worker in the Methodist church until the time of his death.

Mrs. Meeker is now editor of The Methodist Woman.

Choosing as her topic "At Home in the World," Mrs. Meeker related numerous personal experiences of travel in foreign countries which impressed upon her the thought "How small our world really is today." "Because of the speed in travel and communication we must realize that we now live in a shrinking world and must adjust ourselves to be at home in the world of this age," she said.

"Race and prejudice are world problems, not of any one place or country," she stated. "We must feel that every person has spiritual worth. The walls are rapidly tumbling down where race barriers are problems. To be at home in the world we must be adaptable to customs of other people; we must appreciate the cultures of other countries and train ourselves to more flexible thinking," she told her listeners.

In speaking of the refugee masses, Mrs. Meeker stated that it is necessary to develop a sharing spirit toward the whole world and that opportunity for service is great beyond measure. In concluding she said "it is the duty of every mother to acquaint the growing child of the needs of the world if they are to be at home in the world with all races and with God."

Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins was mistress of ceremonies for the evening.

Mrs. John Kent gave the welcome for the mothers and Miss Carolyn Kent responded for the daughters.

The church choir Caroleers, composed of Mrs. S. B. Bayliss, Mrs. R. L. Baccus, Mrs. J. C. Harris, Mrs. G. L. Rabjohn, Mrs. E. V. Ludwig and Miss Elizabeth Shields sang two selections accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Adamson.

Mrs. Lionel Rankin, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, presented corsages to the oldest mother, Mrs. Cora E. Carder; the youngest mother, Mrs. Marshall Rotan, and several other mothers shared honors in having the most number of daughters present. These were Mrs. Raymond Balcomb, Mrs. L. R. Ballance, Mrs. Wayne Maxson, Mrs. John Kent.

An amusing and lively skit, "The Romance of Hats," was presented in which models wearing unusual creations were Mrs. E. V. Ludwig, Mrs. Gladys Adamson, Dr. and Mrs. Milton Snow, Miss Elizabeth Shields, Mrs. S. B. Bayliss and Mrs. J. C. Harris and daughter, Connie. Mrs. Verne Wilson, wearing a large red hat with feather, was reader for the group. Incidental music was presented during the skit. Models for the fashion parade which closed the skit were the Misses Nancy Adams, Marjorie Anderson, Jean Fretwell, Ann Garner, Sally Greaser, Marjorie Sandfort, Karen Sloniger, Mary Vandenberg, Nancy Walstead and Sharon Falsh.

Jacksonville PTA Installs Officers

Jacksonville — The final business meeting of Jacksonville Parent-Teacher association was held last Wednesday evening in the school music room. New officers for the coming term were installed by Mrs. Rawlings Holmes. The officers are president, Warren Davis; vice-president, Lee Harter, secretary; Mrs. A. A. Goldschmidt, treasurer, Mrs. Francis Guidry.

Speaker was Karl Hayes, who discussed the Pilot school for children at Phoenix.

Music was provided by George Wasson of Southern Oregon college, Ashland, who sang. He was accompanied by Miss Judith Hall also of SOC.

A farewell gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sutherland. Mrs. Sutherland has been superintendent of Jacksonville school for the last four years. PTA members expressed their regrets at his leaving and wished them success in their new position. Mr. Sutherland has accepted at Sandy, Ore.

Refreshments were served by fourth, fifth and eighth grade room mothers.

PTA Unit Installs Officers

Mrs. Alfred Mercer was installed president of Jackson school Parent-Teacher association at a meeting May 11. Mrs. John Benson, state congress parliamentarian, was installing officer.

Mrs. Harold Snodgrass is the new vice-president; Mrs. Harold Gangstee, secretary, and Mrs. John Featherston, treasurer.

Den 4, Pack 8 of the Boy Scouts presented the flag and Mrs. Jim Hobbs gave the invocation. The school band played under leadership of Albert Huntemann. A number was played by the trumpet trio made up of Virginia Vaughn, Bob Schroeder and Jerry Piland.

The annual school carnival held in April showed a net profit of $7.82. Robert Baccus announced that the PTA had given $150 for classroom materials and another $150 for new books for the library. Through the year they also gave a tea cart, for the cafeteria, name plates for teachers' rooms, spotlights and a moving picture screen.

The group voted to give a musical instrument to the school band each year. The annual child health clinic for preschool children expecting to start school next fall will be held Thursday, May 24 in the school gymnasium.

This year the room mothers and members of the executive board will again be hostesses for the teachers at a luncheon to be held at the Rogue Valley Country club on June 8.

Mrs. Cecil Martin, magazine chairman, who attended the state convention in Eugene brought back the trophy cup for the greatest number of subscriptions to the PTA magazine in a state contest period.

Mrs. Treavell Turpin, retiring president, presented her officers and chairmen corsages and bouquets and expressed appreciation of their work. She in turn was given a past president's pin by Mrs. Alfred Mercer.

Mrs. Baccus introduced Mrs. Ruth Bolton who is completing the school year teaching the fourth grade and Mrs. Nancy Stuckey, student teacher in language art, who formerly was a Jackson school student.
