

Harriman Gets First Sizeable Bloc of Delegates in Wyoming

Washington—(U.P.)—New York Gov. Averell Harriman has picked up his first sizeable bloc of delegates outside his own state in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Wyoming state Democratic convention, which Harriman addressed Monday, elected a slate of 28 delegates of which 12 are Harriman supporters, though not officially pledged.

Harriman's campaign in Wyoming and other northwestern states and today's presidential preference votes in Nebraska highlighted political developments on the national scene.

In the Nebraska primary Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is unopposed on the Democratic ticket and President Eisenhower is unopposed on the Republican ticket. Write-in votes are permitted, however.

Little Significance

The contest in staunchly Republican Nebraska will have little significance unless normally GOP voters in rural areas cross over to the Democrats to protest the Eisenhower administration farm policies. Voters in farm areas and towns of less than 7,000 are not required to register by party and may ask for either ballot.

Delegates being named in today's Nebraska voting are not bound by the outcome of the presidential preference balloting. Nebraska will have 18 votes at the GOP convention and 12 at the Democratic convention.

In the 1952 and 1954 Nebraska primaries, about two-thirds of the vote was cast on the Republican side. Sixty-nine per cent of the Nebraska vote went to Mr. Eisenhower in the 1952 election.

The delegation which will cast Wyoming's 14 votes at the Democratic convention technically is uninstructed. But 12 of the 28 delegates named Monday have indicated a preference for Harriman. No more than five were considered backers of Kefauver.

Not Favorite Son

Harriman puts himself directly into the Democratic race Monday when he told the Wyoming convention his name will be entered at the convention "not as a favorite son but as a candidate."

Later Monday Harriman moved into Montana and told an airport audience at Billings that he would be "very happy to have Montana support me" at the Chicago Democratic convention on Aug. 13.

Harriman was scheduled to speak today at Butte, Mont., and Seattle. He will campaign at Pullman, Wash., and Idaho Falls, Ida. Wednesday and at Salt Lake City, Utah, and Reno, Nev., Thursday.

Kefauver and the third major candidate for the Democratic nomination, Adlai E. Stevenson, campaigned today in Oregon, seeking write-in votes for that state's primary on Friday.

Eden's Stand Turns Disappearance of Frogman To Mystery

London—(U.P.)—Sir Anthony Eden's absolute refusal to explain the case of Lt. Cmdr. Lionel Crabb turned the disappearance of the frogman today into one of the great unsolved mysteries of the cold war.

Both the opposition Labor Party and the British press relieved the pressure on the Conservative government to air the case in the face of the prime minister's pronouncement that "I have not one word more to say."

There still were demands that side issues be cleaned up, such as punishment for the men responsible for Crabb's last swim near Soviet ships in Portsmouth Harbor.

Dark Government Secret

But government critics appeared convinced that the case itself would remain a dark, embarrassing government secret, at least until time can dull the effect of making it public.

Political circles said Socialist leader Hugh Gaitskell has given up his plan to turn the case into a political cause celebre in the face of overwhelming Parliamentary support of Eden Monday.

The House of Commons voted 316 to 229 for Eden's position of silence. The vote increased Eden's normal majority of 60 to 87 votes.

A few back bench questions on the mystery were expected today and Wednesday, but there was no certainty they would be answered.

Both the Daily Sketch and the Daily Telegraph admitted today that Eden had the right and the duty not to disclose any secrets that might harm the national interest. Eden said disclosure of the frogman case would do this.

Papers Cite Responsibility

Each of the newspapers said, however, that responsibility for the handling of the matter should be fixed.

The Telegraph added that it was hard to believe "that we have heard the last of the frogman case. There is still a death to be accounted for and a body to be recovered."

As far as the public knows, a frogman believed to be Crabb was seen by Soviet sailors swimming in a skindiver's suit near three visiting Russian ships in Portsmouth Harbor. He went underwater and they did not see him again. The British government has "presumed" him dead but there has been no announced search for his body.

Light Bombers Now Capable of Carrying H-Bomb

Washington—(U.P.)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, disclosed today that H-bombs have been so reduced in size that they can be carried by light bombers.

Twining told the United Press that the new B66 light bomber, for instance, is capable of carrying the H-bomb.

Official Indication

Twining's statement was one of the first official indications that the H-bomb can be carried by planes other than huge heavy bombers such as the B36 and the B52.

A reporter commented to Twining that if the B66 can carry the H-bomb, "you must be getting the bomb pretty small."

"They are not too big," Twining answered with a smile.

On Carrier Planes

Twining supported the assertion by Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, Naval chief of operations, that carrier-based planes are capable of carrying the H-bomb. Burke made the statement last week in an interview with the United Press.

Burke indicated that the A3D attack plane, which has not yet gone into operational use, is the Navy's H-bomber. The B66 is the Air Force's version of the Navy-developed A3D.

Seattle To Tacoma Swim Completed

Tacoma—(U.P.)—Bert Thomas, burly Tacoma ex-logger, completed a Seattle-to-Tacoma swim here only today after 15 hours and 23 minutes in the chilly waters of Puget Sound.

Thomas, first person ever to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca, arrived at the Old Tacoma Dock at 3:04 a.m. to polish off the 18½ mile swim.

The 275-pound swimmer entered Puget Sound at Fauntleroy in Seattle yesterday. He fought an adverse tide and a leg cramp but overcame both to reach the goal he had sought twice before.

Russian Naval Attaches Said in Puget Sound Area

Seattle—(U.P.)—The FBI here today issued a "no comment" to reports two Russian naval attaches have been in the Puget Sound area the past 10 days.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer said the men have been seen the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard at Bremerton and Boeing Airplane Company installations at Seattle and Renton.

According to the paper, the pair arrived by plane May 5 and registered at a local hotel under the names of S. S. Federov and I. P. Sakulkin.

The paper said both checked out of the hotel last Thursday and are now believed in the Bellingham or ocean coast areas.

In Washington, the Soviet Embassy confirmed that Federov and Sakulkin are traveling in Washington.

"They are traveling on business of the office of the Soviet military attaché," an official said. He declined further comment.

Not Restricted Area

The Puget Sound area is not included among those sections of the United States declared restricted to Soviet representatives.

The newspaper said both attaches have asked questions in the neighborhood of important Puget Sound industrial installations and that it had been informed the two are about to visit points along the Columbia river but not including the atomic plant at Hanford which is under high security restrictions.

Two-State Airplane Search in Last Day

Portland—(U.P.)—Officials said today would be the final day of an all-out two-state search for a private plane with four Californians aboard that has been missing since Friday on a flight from Renton, Wash., to Eugene, Ore.

Dozens of leads have been run down in the two states since the plane's disappearance. Yesterday air searchers checked out no more reports that had been considered good leads but without success.

Missing aboard the craft are A. D. Posten and his wife, Dorothy, of Redondo Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leap of La Mirade.

West Skeptical On Russian Plan To Cut Manpower

London—(U.P.)—Western powers today greeted with mixed welcome and skepticism the Soviet announcement that Russian armies will be trimmed by 1,200,000 men within a year.

The British Foreign office and other European foreign ministers withheld official comment while they consulted on how to evaluate the Moscow announcement.

No Way To Check

Unofficial sources pointed out, however, that:

1. There is no way to check on Russian demobilization.
2. The announcement might be only propaganda coinciding with French Premier Guy Mollet's visit to Moscow and the Italian election campaign.
3. Russia is only now making arms cuts that correspond in size to earlier reductions by the Western powers.
4. A conventional arms cut has only relative value as long as nuclear weapons are not controlled.
5. Russia would still have some 3,000,000 men in service, compared to America's 2,900,000 and Britain's 800,000.

Pressure Step-Up Seen

British political sources said one immediate result of the Kremlin move is expected to be a step-up of Labor party pressure on Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government to reduce the length of service for British draftees.

The two-year service period is longer than any other allied country.

Sources close to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said he considered it "just another bouquet of propaganda moves to woo the West."

Falling Jet Tank From Plane Fatal To Alaska Child

Fairbanks, Alaska—(U.P.)—Kathy Burns, 4, died here last night of burns suffered when a wing tank fell from an F88D jet fighter plane and burst into flames.

Another youngster, Billy Ifft, about 6, was burned "almost beyond recognition" when the tank exploded and burned in the yard where the children were playing. His condition was critical.

Contained Jet Fuel

The tank broke loose yesterday from a jet piloted by 1st Lt. Carl J. Lewis of the 433rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at nearby Ladd Air Force Base.

It contained between 250 and 275 gallons of jet fuel and exploded and burst into flames when hit. The fire destroyed one house and partially burned a garage and a second home.

Billy was taken to St. Joseph's hospital by Ed Gaines who witnessed the explosion from a nearby drive-in cafe.

Died in Hospital

Kathy was taken to the hospital by ambulance along with her mother who was slightly burned around the ankles. Kathy died a few hours after admittance.

The public information office at Ladd AFB said an examination disclosed a rear shackle mounting holding the 1900-pound tank broke sending it plunging to earth.

Lewis landed safely although he remained aloft for another hour and a half to empty his other wing tank and balance the plane for the landing.
