

SLASHED SCHOONER SINKS—Debris churns about the sinking bow of the lumber schooner Howard Olson, cut in half in a collision with the freighter Marine Leopard south of Monterey, Calif. The Marine Leopard survived the collision in good shape. At least three crewmen of the schooner were killed, two are missing and 23 were rescued.

Blame Sought in Ship Collision

San Francisco — (U.P.) — A Coast Guard board of inquiry met today to determine who was to blame for the collision between the freighter Marine Leopard and the lumber schooner Howard Olson.

It appeared that fixing the blame would be a hard task. Crewmen of each ship blamed the other ship for the accident. Two facts were known: The accident took place in clear weather and on calm seas, and the two ships were within sight of one another for a half-hour before the collision.

There was some speculation that a maritime traffic jam was at fault. Heading south on either side of the Marine Leopard were another cargo ship, the John B. Waterman, and an unidentified log raft in the tow of a tug.

Most Severe Crisis In Higher Schools Said Near at Hand

The latest and most severe crisis in higher education is almost at hand, with the shortage of educational leadership and college facilities far behind immediately anticipated enrollment, according to Dr. F. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette university, Salem.

He spoke at the Medford Rotary club luncheon Tuesday at the Jackson hotel. Dr. Smith recalled two other periods of crisis in higher education in the U. S. One occurred in 1929 when income for universities was sharply reduced, personnel salaries cut, students could not afford to attend college and enrollment suffered.

The district attorney has indicated that he wishes to confer with the attorney general before he takes any legal steps directed at the utility company.

Market Sets X-Rays For Employees Here

Ed Milne's Quality Market is the first of the food stores to provide chest x-rays for the second year for all employees as a protection to customers, according to the chest x-ray committee of the Jackson County Public Health association.

Employees of Quality Market and several other local markets had chest x-rays a year ago. Complying with medical advice of a chest x-ray once a year, Milne made arrangements for employees to visit the clinic at Sacred Heart hospital Thursday. Three cases of active tuberculosis were found last year among those serving food to the public, and the association is again making an effort to urge everyone in the food industry to have x-rays.

Portland — (U.P.) — Union barbers here turned down a proposed increase in the price of haircuts from $1.50 to $1.75 and also decided to eliminate one of their own holidays.

The proposal to boost the price of haircuts was trimmed 235 to 222. Barbers voted 277 to 176 to eliminate Armistice day as a holiday. A union official said the move was made "because it seemed like the barbers were the only ones closed that day."

Proposal Would Ban Federal School Aid In Segregated Areas

Washington — (U.P.) — Rep. Adam C. Powell said today that beginning next year he will attempt to bar all federal school and educational funds to states maintaining segregated school systems.

The New York Democrat said he would offer anti-segregation amendments to such existing federal aid programs as vocational education, school lunches and aid to areas whose schools are burdened by military and defense installations.

The federal government spends millions of dollars each year on these programs. Powell said he would offer amendments to these programs similar to one he has proposed to the administration's $1,400,000,000 school construction program. Powell's amendment would deny funds under this bill to states that have not complied with the Supreme Court's decision voiding public school segregation.
