Medical School Gets Eyes, Body of Man

Oregon City — (U.P.) — The eyes and body of a 66-year-old man who died here Sunday were willed to the University of Oregon medical school as a token of the man's gratitude for medical treatment he received and was unable to pay for.

Clyde Blazer died of a stroke here Sunday. He had willed his eyes and body to medical science.

The decision by Blazer came when he suffered a stroke in California some time ago. He was treated at a county hospital.

Last week he suffered another stroke and arrangements were made with the medical school to receive the body and remove the corneas of his eyes.

SALVATION ARMY WEEK — Mayor Earl Miller has proclaimed this as Salvation Army week in Medford. He is shown above signing the official proclamation at the annual advisory board dinner meeting May 16. Mayor Proclaims Salvation Army Week Here May 20-27

The week of May 20-27 is Salvation Army week in Medford, Mayor Earl Miller, has proclaimed.

The mayor signed the proclamation at the annual advisory board meeting May 16. At this meeting, Brigadier Harry Larson, divisional commander of the Salvation Army in Oregon and officers of the board. They are Sam Colton, chairman; Dr. Scott Heatherington, vice-chairman, and O. P. Taylor, treasurer.

Noting that the Salvation Army in the last ten years had provided 100,000,000 free meals, or the equivalent of one meal for more than half of the country's population, National Commander Donald McMillan this week reaffirmed the Salvation Army's twin goals of physical regeneration and spiritual rebirth of the nation's unfortunate.

The Salvation Army's emphasis has been on spiritual help to the lowest-income segment of the population since it began in

New York in 1880. Cmdr. McMillan said. He added that last year Salvation Army officers and soldiers conducted indoor religious services attended by 18,637,423 persons.

One Salvationist service, known to many people because of the red trucks which call regularly at homes to pick up discarded furniture and clothing, is provided by the Men's Social Service centers. Last year an opportunity for self-help was provided in such centers to 42,987 men, Cmdr. McMillan pointed out.

Local Missing Persons—Another Salvation Army service, in which the organization cooperates with the police and other authorities, is that of locating missing persons. Cmdr. McMillan said last year 1,500 lost persons were located in answer to pleas to the Army from relatives and friends. Some of these were among the 2½ million homeless or transient men and women who were given lodgings in Salvation Army institutions.

Guidance to persons having domestic and other problems was given last year by the Army's Family Service bureaus to 324,039 individuals.

Aid in Disasters—Assistance in disasters such as floods, storms, fires and wrecks is being provided on a nationwide scale by the Salvation Army. The organization cooperates with other organizations in such disasters, particularly in the operation of its fleet of mobile canteens, Cmdr. McMillan said.

Records of the Salvation Army for 1935 show that women of the Army's League of Mercy visited more than two million persons in hospitals and homes for the aged, and that spiritual leadership and recreational opportunities were offered to almost four million boys and girls in Salvation Army youth centers.

Chamber Roundtable Asks Reinvestigation Of Bear Creek Route

A resolution asking a reinvestigation of the feasibility of the proposed Bear Creek route for a new Highway 99 freeway was passed by those attending the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce roundtable meeting in the Jackson hotel.

The investigation requested will be handled by the chamber's board of directors. Purpose of the Bear Creek reinvestigation will be to offer a compromise for those objecting to the proposed Hillcrest and Genesee routes. It was reported, Adopts Waiting Policy—Otto Ewaldsen, president of the chamber, reporting the findings of the highway committee on the proposed freeway routes, said the chamber has adopted a "waiting policy" because of the lack of evidence for superiority of either the Hillcrest or Genesee routes. He said the highway committee will recommend no route until a more detailed investigation has been completed on the proposed freeway routes.

The aviation committee, Ewaldsen said in a further report on chamber activities, has made arrangements to confer with Southwest Airlines attempting to get an early morning flight from Medford to San Francisco. The aviation committee has also been questioning Oregon private pilots to see if there is any deficiency at the Medford airport, he said.

Chamber Seeking Information on Tax Structure Effect

The Jackson County Chamber of Commerce is soliciting information about what effect Oregon's tax structure has on the plans of individuals, it was reported this week.

The information it receives will be forwarded to the legislative interim committee on taxation, which is studying taxes and their possible effects on people coming to, or leaving, Oregon.

The chamber has sent out letters to individuals who, it has been reported, may be considering moving from the state because of the combination of income and property taxation. It has received some replies which will be sent to the tax committee.

Others Invited—Others having views on the subject are invited to present them in writing to the chamber, which will see the tax committee receives them.
