Doctors Said Fast Losing Art Of Proper Practice of Medicine

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
 New York—(U.P.)—One of the nation's leading medical journals has published a "Sermon In Stone" which concludes with this lament, "Two thousand years ago St. Paul wrote, Physician, heal thyself." It is now almost but not quite too late.
 The "preacher" of this medical "sermon" was Dr. Henry Jackson Jr. of Tryon, N.C. the medical profession is likely to listen because it was published in the August New England Journal of Medicine. Dr. Jackson said too many doctors now rely altogether on science, and that is a shame.
 "Science of course is necessary," he said. "It has its justified place and each year it becomes more important to the proper practice of medicine.

SAVINGS BOOK
 THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Such a Happy Book!

Yes, a happy book, because it tells a practical story of dreams come true!
 It's a First National Savings Book, and the story it tells is about the way savings grow, and grow, and grow... until they're big enough to bring your wishes to life.
 Yes, wonderful things can come from a First National Savings Book, when you use it to save regularly. And, of course, it's most fun to save where you enjoy the courtesy and friendliness of the people at First National... your kind of bank!

Chicago—(U.P.)—Five hundred judges and legal authorities, including Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, met Monday night to pay tribute to retired federal Judge J. Earl Major. Associate Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton also attended the dinner to pay tribute to Major, who retired last month after 19 years on the federal bench.

him in clothes and he has won a silver cup for a batting average of .575. This treatment or rather lack of it is the art of medicine—not the science."
Horse Also Treated
 He also told the story of a doctor who as a boy made the rounds with his doctor-father.
 They were called to a farm one bitter winter night. The farm wife was in bed, ill. The country doctor looked her over and prescribed. Then, visiting in the kitchen with her husband, he heard that a horse was sick, too.
 Instantly, the doctor said: "Let me look at him." So he treated the horse as well as the woman.
 This, said Dr. Jackson, was "the art of medicine—and its versatility."
