

Truck with Removable Tank Among Displays In Fire-Ama Saturday

A two-ton tank truck with a 1,000 gallon removable tank will be among fire fighting equipment on display at the Fire-Ama Saturday at Elk Lumber company, committee members have announced.

All displays will be open for inspection at noon Saturday, with demonstrations tentatively scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

Tenny Moore, fire control officer with the Rogue River National forest, said the local office has received priority for immediate delivery of the truck. Moore said the removable tank feature enables them to use the truck for other purposes when it is not actually standing by for fire suppression work. Al Hansen, supply officer of the local office, will be in charge of the unit for the display.

Curtis Nesheim, district warden for the Southwest Oregon district of the state forestry department, announced plans for cooperation of his office in his display of new equipment and in demonstrations of slash fire control. Forester Doyle Stockton will be in charge of the displays of state equipment.

Steel Industry Strike Expected, Magazine Claims

New York —(U.P.)—The odds now favor a strike in the nation's giant steel industry, Iron Age magazine said today.

The metalworking authority placed the odds favoring a walk-out at 55-45. It said labor will have to slash the "outlandishly high" demands it is expected to take to the bargaining tables if a strike is to be avoided.

Iron Age said the key to peaceful settlement of coming negotiations may lie between a 17-cent and 20-cent hourly package boost for labor.

Would Hit Users Hard
The trade paper estimated a two-week strike would "hit hard at more than 50 per cent" of the nation's steel users. Except for automotive, steel-using industries "are rolling along at a strong pace," the publication said.

It noted estimates that freight car builders alone will need 3,000,000 ingot tons "to make a dent in order backlogs and car repair programs."

Meanwhile, Iron Age said, auto companies have been holding off on new orders for July and August. They apparently plan to "live largely off inventories until new models go into production."

It termed the action "a gamble that could leave Detroit out on a limb should new car sales show a summer upturn."

Stocks 'Fairly Ample'
As for supplies, Iron Age described stocks of cold-rolled sheet and strip as "fairly ample" although other steel shapes are "at the least out of balance."

It said a current letdown in cold-rolled sheet consumption has been a blessing for users of hot-rolled sheets and light plate.

"Mills that several months ago were turning down hot-rolled sheet orders are out soliciting business now" and "some producers are rolling high plate on sheet and strip mills," the authority reported.

Scrap prices continue lower but a battle in Washington over exports of scrap is looming, Iron Age said. It described administration sentiment as still favoring "relatively free exporting."

Scandinavians Invite Russians

Stockholm, Sweden —(U.P.)—Sweden, Norway and Denmark have invited Russian leaders to visit Scandinavia.

Ambassadors of the three nations extended the invitations to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev in Moscow Tuesday.

The Soviet bosses were urged to make the visit at a time "convenient" to them. Sources in Oslo indicated they probably will make it next spring.

The premiers of the three Scandinavian countries all have made formal state visits to Moscow recently, starting with Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen last November.

If the Kremlin bosses accept, and there was every indication they would, it would be the first Russian state visit to Sweden since the czar came to Stockholm in 1909.
