Virus Overlooked As Cancer Cause

Detroit — (U.P.)—A Nobel prize winner and world renowned cancer authority told doctors and specialists at the National Cancer Conference here yesterday they have overlooked the virus as the possible cause of cancer.

Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, director of the University of California's virus laboratory, reminded the 1200 conference delegates that viruses had been known to cause cancer in animals since 1911.

"We know that viruses can mutate to form new strains which cause disease symptoms," he said. "We know that viruses may have different effects, depending on the age, genetics, state of nutrition and hormone balance of the host."

"We know that different cancer-inciting agents can activate latent viruses, with consequent cell destruction." And finally, "We know that viruses can cause cancer."

'Sell Oregon' Drive Urged by Gov. Smith

Pendleton — (U.P.)—A "Sell Oregon" campaign was advocated by Gov. Elmo Smith here yesterday as a major plank of a nine-point program designed to encourage a more prosperous and sound agriculture for Oregon.

Gov. Smith reviewed some of the causes of the ills of agriculture and then launched into a series of proposals which, he said, might tend to bolster a strong Oregon farm economy. He spoke before the annual convention of the Oregon State Grange.

Senate Committee Approves Seaton

Washington — (U.P.)—The Senate Interior Committee has unanimously approved the nomination of Fred A. Seaton to be secretary of interior.

Seaton, former Nebraska senator and recently a White House aide, was named by President Eisenhower last week to succeed Douglas McKay, who resigned to run for the Senate.

Committee approval was by voice vote after its members questioned Seaton for an hour and a half on federal power policies and other matters within the department's jurisdiction.

The action sends the nomination to the Senate floor for final action.

Encourage research in marketing costs to find out more about the spread between farm prices and the housewife's grocery sales slip.

Use state and federal agricultural statistical services in planning year to year farm operations.

Work together for agriculture's common interests.

Pointing out that research and promotion are necessary for successful expansion of the state's diversified crops, Gov. Smith said "Sell Oregon" means promotion, backed by quality, appealing packages and containers, good marketing and reasonable prices.

Misinformation of Students Viewed as Anti-Morse Effort

By SEN. RICHARD NEUBERGER
Washington, D. C. — Special — We received a petition signed by 10 sophomores of Klamath Union High school challenging the statement in our April newsletter that both Winston Churchill and Wayne Morse had changed political parties in similar fashion. The petition claimed that Churchill had resigned his seat in Parliament when he changed parties—and that Morse should have done this in the United States Senate.

We immediately checked again with the Library of Congress and with authoritative biographies of Churchill. This great Englishman was elected to the House of Commons in 1900 as a Conservative Party member. On May 31, 1904, he exchanged his chair for one across the aisle and joined the Liberal Party. He then remained in Parliament until January, 1906, when he was re-elected as a Liberal.

This is now what disturbs us: Who cares enough about partisan politics to goad high school students into sending us an inaccurate petition? To whom is the defeat of Wayne Morse so important that they would deliberately misinform young people about the career of perhaps the greatest statesman living today? Is political gain worth sowing seeds of partisan hate and bias in the minds of students?

No McKay Endorsement

In picking a successor to Secretary McKay, the President had an opportunity to endorse the McKay policies of surrendering Hells Canyon, of giving away the Al Sarena timber in the Rogue River National Forest, of permitting oil and gas wildcatting on our wildlife refuges. The President declined to make this endorsement.

By going totally outside the Interior Department to select ex-Senator Fred Seaton as the new Secretary, President Eisenhower repudiated the McKay regime.

Mr. McKay and a whole set of conservative Republicans had been urging the appointment of Under Secretary Clarence A. Davis, the man who backstopped such relinquishment of natural resources as the Al Sarena deal and the wildlife gas drilling. Davis had served as "acting Secretary" since McKay's departure. He was McKay's right-hand man. He was the man whose defense of Al Sarena got such headlines in the Oregon press.

But he wasn't the man whom Dwight Eisenhower chose to head the Interior Department.

It is my understanding that former Senator Seaton is a capable man, of integrity and of moderate views on resource development. I am sure I will not agree by any means with all his positions. But I rejoice that the President left McKay's aides at the post and selected a man not associated with the "give-away" of our resources.

Vacant Public Land Withdrawn on Coast

Washington — (U.P.)—A 1281-acre tract of vacant public land near Florence on the Oregon coast has been withdrawn from all appropriations under the public land laws, the Department of the Interior announced today.

The announcement said that the withdrawal would include mining locations and mineral leasing and would be effective immediately.

The withdrawal was approved to allow several federal agencies and the Port of Florence to provide stabilization of sand dunes in the area.

More than $400,000 will have been invested in addition to large sums by the Army Corps of Engineers in dredging, in the cooperative project. Officials said that the withdrawal was necessary to protect the investment against the extension of strip mining activities in the older beach sands south of the withdrawn area.

Festival Princess Selection Tonight

Portland — (U.P.)—Portland's Rose Festival swings into high gear tonight when one of eight lovely princesses is named as queen of the 1956 festival.

Officials of the realm of Rosaria quickly pointed out yesterday that damp skies will not have any bearing on the queen selection program slated for tonight.

The girls spent yesterday rehearsing for the big stadium show tonight while the junior court made a whirl of social engagements at various social and service organizations.

By tonight the complement of nine Navy ships slated to be in the Portland harbor for the festival are all scheduled to be at their berths at the seawall.

Chico Man Killed At Shasta Bridge

Weed, Calif. — (U.P.)—Lyle A. Wroe, 41, Chico, Calif., an Army warrant officer with the National Guard, was injured fatally Monday evening in a one-car accident at the Shasta river bridge near here, police reported.

Officers said Wroe was driving north in a jeep which was towing a trailer. They said the trailer apparently whipped the jeep out of control on a steep downhill curve approaching the bridge. Wroe was thrown from the jeep. The vehicle and the trailer went end-over-end into the river.

Dr. H. L. Vidriksen of Weed clinic said Wroe died about 15 minutes after he arrived at the scene of the accident.

Wroe is survived by his wife and four children in Chico.

Washington — (U.P.)—Arthur Kline, a Republican state judge in Wyoming, has been nominated by President Eisenhower to a five-year term on the Federal Power Commission.
