

Stevenson's Campaign Advisers To Confer on Wooing Delegates

Washington—(AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign advisers will confer in Chicago this week and about ways of wooing delegates who are uncommitted, pledged to favorite sons or still to be chosen.

They also are expected to eye those delegates who are committed to a first ballot vote for Sen. Estes Kefauver at the Democratic national convention but are not firmly tied thereafter. These involve such states as Indiana, which will have 26 votes, and Maryland with 18.

Stevenson topped Kefauver in the California presidential primary this week and thereby established himself as the leading contender for the presidential nomination. Although Kefauver said he would continue his campaign, many Democrats believe he was killed off in California.

Will Remain in West
While his advisers discuss strategy to be followed between now and the national convention in August, Stevenson will remain in California for a holiday.

He and his backers now regard Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as their principal opponent. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri may be a formidable dark horse possibility but only if and when the Stevenson campaign falls apart.

Much attention will be given to the 10 states which still must choose delegates with 238 convention votes. With the primaries now finished, all these will

29 Phoenix Seniors Receive Diplomas At Commencement

Phoenix — Commencement exercises for 29 Phoenix High school graduates were held Tuesday at the high school gymnasium. An address by Dr. Elmo Stevenson of Southern Oregon college was followed by the presentation of diplomas by J. A. Hoffbuhr, chairman of the school board.

Scholarships and honor awards were presented to several members of the class. James Korth, valedictorian, won a tuition scholarship to Oregon State college, and also an honors at entrance award to Stanford university.

Sandra Owens, salutatorian, won a tuition scholarship to Oregon State college, and a scholarship to Whitworth college. Sheyla Thompson received an honor recognition certificate to Oregon State college and the Phoenix Lions club scholarship award of $100.

Awards were presented to James Korth as valedictorian, Sandra Owens as salutatorian, and Sheyla Thompson as third in scholarship rank in the class.

Other Awards
Faculty selections were announced for Sandra Owens as outstanding senior, James Korth as highest in scholarship, Don Blankenship for boys activities, Sheyla Thompson for girls activities and Jane Daniels for citizenship.

Jane Daniels, winner of the citizenship award, presented a plaque to Hoffbuhr in recognition of his service to the school district.

These states are New Mexico, Arizona, Tennessee, Washington, Kentucky, Mississippi, Colorado, Virginia, and Arkansas. New York still must select delegates at large with 12 votes.

As of now, it appears to be a conservative estimate that Stevenson can count on 450 or more first ballot votes at the national convention. The majority needed to nominate is 686½.

Credited With 377
The United Press tabulation now credits Stevenson with 377 votes from delegates committed or known to have a first ballot preference.

This figure does not include a sizeable number of delegates from the South and elsewhere who are reported to be leaning toward the former Illinois governor. It also excludes Massachusetts where Stevenson forces claim a majority of the 40-vote delegation after a first ballot vote for a favorite son, Rep. John W. McCormack.

New Jersey, with 35½ uncommitted votes, also is considered fertile territory to be cultivated by Stevenson.

Other states with large delegate blocs committed to favorite sons include Texas with 40 votes pledged to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Ohio, with 54 for Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Michigan with 40 for Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

For dependable, low-cost pest control...

use these proved Du Pont fruit chemicals

Keep scab off apples and pears with Du Pont "Fermate" or "Zerlate". Either fungicide can make your fine-finish program more profitable. Fruit gets proved protection combined with mild action. There's no russeting or scald. And the mildness of "Fermate" or "Zerlate" pays another dividend... orchards using these materials have a history of improved production.

You get powerfully effective mite control with Du Pont EP 300. Take advantage of its long-lasting residual action to control Willamette mite, European red mite, Pacific and two-spotted mite. Compatible with Fungicides in combination sprays, EPN also stops pear psylla and certain other insect pests.

Control bull's-eye rot with Du Pont "Zerlate". Profit from a higher yield of clean fruit plus lower repacking costs. Tests in the Northwest show that "Zerlate" also reduces decay in storage caused by anthracnose and perennial canker.

For top efficiency, add Du Pont SPREADER-STICKER. It makes chemical sprays more effective... helps wet waxy leaves more thoroughly, uniformly. Pesticides stay put longer, won't collect to cause fruit spotting.

See your dealer for these and other outstanding Du Pont pest control products. Ask him for the latest information on pest control, or write to Dupont, Grasselli Chemicals Dept., 111 Sutter Street, San Francisco 4, Calif.

On all chemicals, always follow label instructions and warnings carefully.
