

APPLEGATE-JACKSONVILLE 'Children's Day' Scheduled

By HELGA MITCHELL
 Applegate-Jacksonville — The American Union Sunday school has announced it will have "Children's day" on Sunday, June 10, at 10:30 a.m. Both parents and children are invited. Services at the Ruch Community church will include Sunday school, 10 a.m.; worship services, 11 a.m.; Bible study, 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Offenbacher and Mrs. John Horner returned last week from their trip to California. They were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baustain at the Lick observatory near Santa Clara. Baustain, an engineer, designed the new dome which will have a 120 inch telescope. Prior to this, a 36 inch was the largest. "It was a spectacular sight," Mrs. Offenbacher commented.

Ted Cobo, who arrived last Tuesday from Corvallis, is the new junior forester in this area. Last week school was out, and children came skipping home with report cards which were carefully scrutinized by their parents. As far as we know, all the youngsters were promoted, but 10-year-old Ricky Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davis of Ruch, not only made the sixth grade, but also scored a perfect attendance for three years.

Edward Milam of Sterling Creek and Guy Powell of Forest Creek went to Portland last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Johnson and their two sons of Thompson Creek recently moved into Medford.

William Ziegler of Upper Applegate made the headlines 23 years ago in the Sacramento Bee. He had caught the attention of a roving news reporter when he was traveling on horseback from San Diego to Medford, pulling a children's coaster cart behind him. The caption read, "Ex-marine finds unique way of traveling," with a picture of Ziegler on his horse. It was during the depression years when everyone was traveling about in search of employment that 29-year-old Ziegler purchased his horse in San Diego, and began his 980 mile trek up to Medford. He started out with two horses, the other belonging to a friend, but the latter horse got stifled at Tipton, Calif. At Modesto, Ziegler purchased a cart to carry his surplus belongings and continued on his journey. Ziegler recalled several unusual sights, among them, a man traveling on foot, pushing a baby buggy containing his belongings. From Medford, Ziegler came to Upper Applegate, found employment, met and married Maud Pool, and became a local resident.

Deanie Luehrs of Medford is staying a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Clyde Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, left for Lakeside, Ore., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens of Sterling Creek are the parents of a boy born May 31. He has been named James Mansel Stephens.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hall of Little Applegate went to Eugene last Friday to attend the funeral of a friend, Sam Long.

"Porky," a Boston terrier belonging to the Bill Birds of Applegate, presented the Birds with six little "weaners" recently. Porky, the pups, and the Birds are doing as well as can be expected.

The Rev. and Mrs. M. D. Christensen of Wheaton, Ill., were overnight guests last week at the Arion Christensen residence. In the evening, Mr. Christensen, a missionary to Africa, spoke to the Applegate Community church congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Flug and their two children of Coquille were week end visitors at the Arion Christensens.

We extend our apologies to the Flugs for an error in a recent column. We mistook the letter "F" for an "S" and unwittingly called them "Slugs."

Oliver Stephenson, a graduate of Grants Pass High school, is staying with the Arion Christensens and helping them with their ranch work.

Miss Martha Dahl of Redmond, Ore., is spending a week at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webb at Upper Applegate.

Mrs. V. E. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Annie Miller of Everett, Wash., is staying at the Taylor residence. The Taylor's daughter, Miss Barbara Taylor of Portland, is spending her month's vacation with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Offenbacher drove to Crescent City last Monday to visit their son and family. Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Offenbacher. The senior Offenbacher brought home their granddaughter, Sue Anf, who will stay with them a while.

Back Stairs: Ambulance on Standby Call

By MERRIMAN SMITH
 Washington — (UP) — Back stairs at the White House: It happened at the dedication this week of the AFL-CIO headquarters building across Lafayette Square from the White House. The President was seated on the speakers' platform with bowed head as Dr. C. Leslie Glenn, former rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

From a distance there was the wail of an ambulance siren. The siren got louder and louder and finally turned into 16th st., a few feet from where the President was sitting.

When the prayer ended all eyes were on the ambulance. Even the President was craning to see what was going on.

When the ambulance backed out of the roped off dedication area, the only explanation seemed to be that with a bright sun beating down on the dedication crowd of several thousand persons, someone thought it might be a good idea to have an ambulance standing by in event of a fainting case.

Only hitch was that the person who had this bright idea forgot to tell the ambulance driver that there was no rush and to approach quietly.

When Mr. Eisenhower arrived for the dedication, the first thing AFL-CIO President George Meany did after shaking hands stick a large white carnation into the chief executive's lapel. The President seemed just a trifle self-conscious about the blossom. He almost never wears flowers.

Bob Hope, the old quip master, is in town today to entertain Mr. Eisenhower for about the umpteenth time. Hope will be master of ceremonies tonight at the annual dinner given for the President by the White House News photographers Association. Hope seems to average appearing before a President at least once or twice a year.

Buddy Hackett, another top-flight comedian, entertained reporters. Hackett wanted to do a routine of golf stories, but some of the newsmen cautioned against it, saying everybody who came to town told golf stories and a certain sameness was beginning to set in.

Hackett agreed morosely and said it was sort of a shame because his routine started off with a story about Ferdinand Magellan who according to Hackett, was somewhat of a golfer, himself — "He went around the world in 1521 which ain't bad considering the length of the course."

When Indian Prime Minister Nehru visits Camp David next month with President Eisenhower, if the talk becomes too

CISCO KID RIDES EAST

Hollywood — (UP) — Japanese television owners will view "The Cisco Kid" and "Mr. District Attorney" this fall under terms of an agreement between Ziv-TV and Tokyo's JOKR-TV.

Republican, Nehru will find plenty of reading on the Democratic side. An extensive collection of books about the Truman administration recently was sent to the Camp David library.

When Mr. Eisenhower was given a horse at his Gettysburg farm last week, he walked all around the animal, slapping it on the flanks and praising the horse as "good boy." The horse didn't seem to mind but some of the neighborhood farmers might have raised their eyebrows. The horse was a seven-year-old mare.

The campaign gadgets continue to flow into the White House. The latest: black cuff links bearing the jeweled head of an elephant with raised trunk over silver letters proclaiming "IKE."

London Homes Raided For Cypriot Gunmen

London — (UP) — Scotland Yard detectives raided the homes of Greeks living in London in their hunt for Cypriot gunmen plotting death to British officials, it was reported today.

The report coincided with a new Labor Party demand that Sir John Harding resign as governor of Cyprus.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said documents seized in the raids included money appeals signed in red ink by Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the Cypriot Greeks, for "victims of British aggression" in Cyprus.

Many owners of the raided homes belong to an organization called the "Greek Cypriot Christian Brotherhood in London."
