The Medical Roundup

Value of Breast Feeding

I always marvel when I see a physician refuse to let a mother nurse her infant for even a few days, because I have long read that the colostrum, or first watery milk secreted by the breast, contains valuable antibodies designed to protect the infant from illness and death. I have read that a calf that is not allowed to get this colostrum is likely soon to die of dysentery.

Now comes Drs. Bery Campbell and W. E. Petersen, of the University of Minnesota, who report experiments on cows that showed that germs in a nursing calf's mouth go into the mother's udder and there produce within a few hours antibodies that come back out in the milk to protect the calf against infection with the particular germ. If this wonderful process takes place also in a mother's breast, we old-fashioned doctors will have an additional argument for the return to the ideal method of the Great Designer for the nourishment of infants—breast-feeding. Cancer Cured More Often

Today, as we hear so much about the greater incidence of cancer in man, it is good to hear, also, that cancer is being cured much more often.

As Surgeon General Scheele, of the U. S. Public Health Service, just told the General Practitioners in Washington, D.C., with the help of earlier diagnosis and better treatment, in the last 10 years the average rate of cure of cancer has gone up from about 15 per cent to about 50 per cent. And in many cases in which the patient comes too late for a cure, his life can be prolonged and he can be made more comfortable.

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand that it would be impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Correspondent

Hollywood—(U.P.)—Those rock 'n' roll tunes Elvis Presley and the other new didn't even bother to satirize the Gale Storm rock 'n' roll record of "Why Do Fools Fall In Love." He just put on the record and did pantomime to it.

"We dubbed a sneeze on the record and you don't notice much when she stops singing and starts sneezing," said the poker-faced Jones.

The worst blow of all, he continued, was when he worked up a satire on another "jump" record by a popular group, the Platters.

"Fifty per cent of the people in the audience applaud—they think it's a wonderful imitation," he groaned. "They don't even know we're making fun of the Platters."

"So we tried to satirize another song, 'Transfusion.' We gave up. When I can't make a song worse, you know it's horrible!"

"It's murder when you're in the business of depending on pop tunes to satirize," is his argument. "Each year I think the songs can't get any worse, but they do."

"Most pop tunes border on the ridiculous now. We're really painted into a corner. We can't make them any worse!"

Spike delivered his tale of woe while escorting me on a tour of Hollywood's jazz night clubs appearing with a celebrity in one way to get a table. Although a date with Spike is not exactly a date with Clark Gable, it's educational. The murderer of music is an expert on musicians and what they play.

"We used to satirize standard tunes but now if we try that the teenagers don't know what we're satirizing," he said. "They don't know 'Deep Purple' from 'nothin'."

"Last year at least we had 'Davy Crockett.' But this year we're struck with 'Heartbeat Hotel.' For my show now at the Moulin Rouge here we finally did it as 'Heartburn Motel.'"

Unlike most dinosaurs which stood on four legs, the Eubrontes stood erect on the two hind feet, balancing itself with a long tail which was kept off the ground as the beast moved about, according to Chan Waldron, an official of the museum's education department.

Waldron said there were four toes on the Eubrontes' feet but only the three front ones touched the ground.

New Amphibious Vehicle Passes Test

Oceanside, Calif. —(U.P.)— Marine officers at Camp Pendleton recently completed successful testing of a new amphibious vehicle, armed with a 105-mm. howitzer gun, which can be put ashore without a human crew.

In place of soldiers, the amphibious craft has a complex radio receiving unit which receives orders from a helicopter maneuvering overhead.

Officials said the demonstrations showed that remote helicopter control can start the vehicle's engines, drive it through the surf and bring it ashore and into firing position over an obstacle course.

Remote control from a helicopter offers better observation of surf and beach conditions and probably will eliminate the capsize factor which long has plagued amphibious landings in
