

Blast of Cold Air Brings Some Relief To Long Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS
Cold air dented a seven-day heat wave today, but weathermen said most of the nation's eastern two-thirds would keep on suffering.

With summer still officially six days away, merchants reported sweating customers were already flooding them with orders for air conditioners and swimming suits in many big cities.

Cool fronts nibbled on the edge on the huge mass of hot air in the Northeast, northern Midwest, and Rocky Mountains. Some relief was promised today for New England, the Great Lakes and the upper Mississippi Valley. Cool Pacific air had already flowed into parts of eastern Wyoming and northeast Colorado, dropping temperatures as much as 14 degrees.

More Scorchers Predicted
But more 90 and 100-degree scorchers were predicted for most of the vast area from the Great Plains to the East Coast. Rising humidity made the heat feel even worse.

Record-breakers Thursday included 94 at Detroit, 96 at New York and 91 at Hartford, Conn.

It was an even 100 at Lakehurst, N.J.

The heat caught New Yorkers in the middle of the big town's first major subway strike in 30 years.

In many other cities, the marathon heat wave was causing serious water shortages. Completely Without Water
The 2,500 residents of Boscomb, Wis., were completely without water for 17 hours until a milk plant, cheese factories and farms provided emergency supplies.

Thousands of Iowans were urged to save every drop of water. Water pressure dropped so low at Oelwin that hospitals and many homes ran dry. Other shortages afflicted Shenandoah, Fort Dodge and Spencer.

Detroit was the biggest town to feel the water pinch. The city is pumping water at a record pace and may impose bans against lawn sprinkling.

In Arizona, the most destructive forest fire of the year raged out of control across 10,000 parched acres of Sitgreaves National Forest. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000 and FBI agents investigated the possibility of arson.

City Police Arrest Two For Burglary

George Sidney Smith, 18, of Houston, Texas, and a 17-year-old companion were arrested and confined to jail this morning on charges of auto theft and burglary, according to Medford police.

Smith and his companion burglarized the Rose Grocery store, 201 West Jackson st., early this morning and took a loaf of bread, some small change, two cup cakes, two pounds of lunch meat and a carton of cigarettes, police said.

They were arrested about 4:20 a.m. this morning with the stolen goods in a car which they stole earlier, police said.

Senate Expected To Trim Restoration in Foreign Aid Measure

Washington—(U.P.)—Sen. Styles Bridges said today the Senate probably will trim part of the $615,000,000 that its Foreign Relations Committee restored to the foreign aid bill Thursday.

Bridges—senior Republican member of the Senate—predicted a tough floor fight.

The Foreign Relations Committee voted 9 to 5 to restore more than half of the $1,100,000,000 that the House slashed from President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program. The committee is expected to finish action on the bill in a few days.

The House had passed a $3,800,000,000 bill including $2,000,000,000 military aid. The Foreign Relations Committee restored $600,000,000 in military aid to the House bill. It also restored $15,000,000 which the House had eliminated from defense support funds for Marshal Tito's regime in Yugoslavia. But the Senate committee restored the money to the general European area.

Yugoslavia Provision
The committee adopted a House provision that would cut off aid to Yugoslavia unless the President personally determines that it should be continued.

However, the committee added an amendment prohibiting the cut-off until 90 days after enactment of the bill. The House provision provided immediate stoppage.

Committee restoration of the cuts is a personal victory for the President. He appealed from his hospital bedside Monday to Sen. GOP and Democratic leaders that the House cuts jeopardizing UN security.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the committee, said the whole concept of the foreign aid bill is "obsolete." Obsolete Bill
Fulbright, who voted against the military aid increase, said the bill would have been appropriate a few years ago during the Korean war.

But he told reporters that now the bill "instead of 85 per cent military aid, should be 30 to 50 per cent military and the rest economic and cultural assistance to increase the stability of our allies instead of loading them down with guns."

Fulbright said some countries like Britain could use military aid, but heavy arms shipments to new and undeveloped nations like Pakistan "do positive harm—create instability."

Russell Lowell Stanton, of Camp White, was cited by Medford police yesterday for failure to leave information at the scene of the accident, city police said.

Stanton was involved in a collision yesterday with vehicles operated by Mary Ellen Pond, 624 Victory Way, and Charles Clarence Rooker, Ashland, at Court and McAndrews st., police reported.

About 300 Roosters Expected at National Crow Contest Saturday

Rogue River—About 200 entries have been received by the Rogue River Boosters club for the National Rooster Crowing contest at 12 noon, Saturday, June 16, at the Rogue River city park. About 100 additional entries are expected, officials said.

Medford Mayor Earl Miller will be escorted to Rogue River by the crowd by state police, sheriff's deputies of Jackson county and honorary city police.

Rogue River Mayor Phil Engle will greet Mayor Miller and present him with Mr. Goodwill, Rogue River rooster. The rooster will be donated by the Rogue River Boosters club.

Registration of Birds
Each rooster must be registered an hour before the contest starts Saturday, club officials said. All roosters must be restrained in some manner, according to Boosters. No entry fee will be collected.

Entries may be made by mailing or bringing in person an entry blank with the name of the rooster and person entering the rooster. Prize money will be $500 and a trophy will be presented to the crowing rooster.

Prizes will be awarded for the roosters crowing the most times during a specified 30 minute period on the day of the contest. Cash prizes are awarded for the most original coop or best prepared cage housing a rooster.

Crows Counted
The number of crows are counted by judges who are selected before the contest to watch each rooster or pair of roosters and to record the crows. According to Boosters, when one rooster crows loudly, others follow. All crows are counted at the same time by the judges.

Boosters said the roosters are not made to crow but crow of their own volition. Boosters recommend caging the rooster several days before the contest and move him about in strange surroundings, since a rooster crows best in his home surroundings. It is also best to keep the cage covered, the Boosters said, and take off the wraps just prior to the contest. The rooster will be fooled into thinking it is morning, they said.

Soothing Music
Mrs. Bill Ford of Rogue River will furnish music on the Hammond organ to soothe the roosters before the crow.

A parade starting at 10 a.m. Saturday will include the Rogue River high school band, the Trail riders of Medford, the Timber riders of Grants Pass, the Jackson County Sheriff's posse and the Ladies Mounted troop. About 200 horses will be in the parade, Boosters indicated.

There also will be a bicycle parade with riders dressed like roosters and a safety contest at the school for children. Each bicycle will be equipped with scotch lite tape and other safety features will be explained to participants. A new bicycle will be awarded to one of the participants, and accessories will be presented to other entries.

The four recruiting services, Navy, Army, Air Corps and the Marines, will serve as color guard to lead the parade.

The Cavemen of Grants Pass will attend the crow, Tony Baldini, secretary, said.

Silver Dollar Awards
Silver dollars are being obtained to award winners of various crowing events. There will be two cage prizes—a $20 prize for the most interesting or outstanding cage, and $10 for a cage made by some child 12 years old or younger.

During the crow, free hot dogs will be distributed, and after the crow Charles Morrison of the Pacific Auction company will auction off all the non-crowing roosters for pot pies not wanted by owners.

Entertainment planned will include the Ethyl Mars Dance studio in Medford, the Darrell Holt Dance studio in Grants Pass, the Brimley Hillbilly band, the Joy-Russell girl-boy singing duet and the Trail riders will do a square dance on horse back.

The Boosters have mailed letters to the departments of agriculture of the 48 states and one to the national department. TV, radio and newspapers throughout the country have been invited.

Chambers Invited
Chambers of commerce in leading cities, Lions clubs in adjoining areas, and movie, TV, and radio celebrities have been invited, according to Boosters.

The Bridge Cafe in Rogue River has offered two free Chinese dinners to the owners of the winning roosters.

In the evening there will be dancing on the Rogue River pavilion. Krazy Kurly Anderson and his Hungry Kats will furnish music for the dance.

Costly Forest Fire, Spurred by Winds, Rages in Arizona

Winslow, Ariz.—(U.P.)—A multi-million dollar forest fire which destroyed 15,000 acres of valuable timber in less than 48 hours was again spurred by high winds today, defying all efforts to bring it under control.

An estimate of $3.5 million was placed on the loss in timber at 9:30 a.m. today by the Forest service. The fire, described as "definitely man-caused, was out of control in Sitgreaves forest about 40 miles south of here.

About 800 men were on the fire line, but their efforts to control the two-day-old fire were stymied by the high winds, extremely low humidity and dry timber.

A report from Winslow police said they were asked to have four trucks stand by in the event it was necessary to evacuate the Chevalon ranger station in view of a change in wind that threatened chief of this morning.

Other Property in Path
Attempts also were being made to save other property in the path of the fire.

The fire raged along a 10-mile front some 40 miles south of here. The Forest service office at Holbrook, Ariz., said it was possibly caused by a camper.

Men and equipment were being flown in today from California and other points to aid in battling the fire, most costly of the year in the state and one of the most destructive in a decade.

There were reports of men overcome by smoke, but no injuries among those battling the flames.
