Council Gives Instructions On Milk Care

Want to keep those dairy foods as fresh, sweet and flavorful as they were when you bought them at the store—or they were delivered to your doorstep? Every homemaker does, particularly during these warm summer days. Many people fail to realize that prompt refrigeration and protection from contamination are just as important after milk reaches the home as they were during its production and processing. Proper care of milk in the home will help conserve valuable vitamins and minerals, as well as keep it clean and safe to drink, according to the Oregon Dairy council.

If milk is delivered at the door, take bottles in immediately after delivery. Wipe off the bottle with a clean damp cloth and place in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The reason for whisking milk into immediate refrigeration is this: heat and light cause changes in the flavor of milk, as well as a loss of food value. The vitamins, riboflavin and ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) are sensitive to light, and it is the destruction of these nutrients by strong light which causes the "sunshine flavor"—not harmful at all, but not as sweet and delicious as cold, fresh milk, says the council.

To help conserve the food value in milk, don't leave milk on the kitchen counter when preparing or during a meal. Pour milk for drinking just before the meal is served.

A word about the care of evaporated milk and powdered milk which many homemakers use. Evaporated milk will not spoil while the can is unopened. However, after opening, it requires the same care as fresh milk. Powdered milk should be kept in a tightly closed container and stored in a cool, dry place.

Coffee cream and whipping cream should always be kept refrigerated until immediate use. For best results in whipping cream, chill the bowl, beater and cream thoroughly. Use a deep bowl with straight sides and beat rapidly. Also the more sweetening used, the less stiff the whipped cream will be.

To preserve butter's flavor and freshness, keep it wrapped or covered and store in a cool, dark place—preferably the refrigerator. This prevents deterioration and absorption of other food flavors. No one likes butter which tastes like onions or some other strong-flavored food.

A good rule to remember in storing all dairy foods, whether it be milk, butter, cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream or yogurt, is the three C's—always keep them clean, cold, and covered. It will pay dividends in freshness, flavor and food value.

Festival Auditions Continuing Today

Ashland—Auditions for roles in this year's Oregon Shakespearean Festival are in their second day in the outdoor theatre here.

Over 40 actors and actresses from all parts of the United States auditioned yesterday. The morning was devoted to giving scenes especially prepared for the try-outs, and the morning spent in reading from "Love's Labour's Lost," "Romeo and Juliet," "Cymbeline" and "Richard III" and "Titus Andronicus" will be read tomorrow morning. Tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to rereading by some of the actors to give the directors a final chance to judge, and casting will be completed Wednesday night. Rehearsals begin Thursday afternoon.

"Cymbeline" will be directed by B. Iden Payne, past director of the San Diego festival. "Richard III" and "Love's Labour's Lost" will be directed by Allen Fletcher, returning to the festival after a year's absence. "Romeo and Juliet" and "Titus" will be directed by Hal J. Todd, of the Idaho State college drama department.

Producing Director Angus Bowmer said that he is "very enthusiastic" with his year's cast. "We seem to have a very mature company—and a good variety of types. I look forward to an excellent series of plays," he said.
