

Coast Conference Officials Hope Penalties, Bans May Be Reduced

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
Berkeley, Calif. —(U.P.)—Hopes were rekindled at UCLA and University of Washington today that their financial penalties, Rose Bowl bans and player eligibility losses may be reduced.

The prospects were raised after Pacific Coast Conference college presidents, in session here Monday, told faculty representatives to review completely their recent decision, in view of possible inequities.

Washington was fined the equivalent of $52,000 and banned from the Rose Bowl for two years, and UCLA was fined $95,000, banned from the bowl for three years and players found taking money "under the table" were deprived of a year of eligibility.

Inequities Possible

"We don't know what the faculty representatives will find," said Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California and chairman of the college leaders' group. "And we don't know if they will revise the penalties upward or downward—or if they will leave them as they are."

"But there has been considerable talk that due to the fact the penalties were levied at different times, there may be some inequities."

With that in mind, the presidents ordered the faculty representatives to have their review work completed by Sept. 1, 1956.

The college executives made their decision after a six-hour session on the University of California campus.

They also ruled that in the future all monies raised by alumni or booster groups for use in athletics must be turned over to the college for administration.

"As a result of this meeting," Dr. Sproul said "we expect better enforcement of the rules. The presidents will pay more attention to athletic control in the future. After all, the ultimate responsibility is theirs and they had better keep a tight reign."

Dr. Sproul said the decision for the presidents to control the funds was the strongest one ever taken by the conference.

Unanimous Findings

"I will add that not one single school has even considered the possibility of withdrawing from the conference," he said. "And no man left our meeting feeling he had been gipped."

On the subject of penalties already assessed against UCLA and Washington, a statement from the group pointed out that the "penalties should not only be equitable, but also commensurate with the violations, some of which have been very serious."

From this it was taken to believe there was little chance for the penalties against the two schools to be lowered to any appreciable extent.

All school chiefs with the exception of Dr. Meredith Wilson of the University of Oregon were in attendance, and the findings by the group was unanimous.

The college presidents did not discuss charges of illegal activity in regard to payments to athletes at University of California and Southern California. Faculty representatives will take these charges under consideration at a meeting here July 7-8.

Youths Post Low Scores In 1st Round

Stanley Dowson led the Medford participants in the Junior golf tournament. Dowson posted a 90. John Milne finished the first round with a 98. Tom Alley had a 94, and Dick Sorenson has 104. Pam Stacey, Rogue valleys representative in the girls' division, posted an 89.

Portland —(U.P.)—Scores were low as 322 young golfers came home yesterday from the qualifying round of the Oregon junior golf championships being played here.

In two of the brackets medalists for the play were clearly established but in the other two brackets leaders had to share medal honors.

Steve Wright of Albany toured the Columbia-Edgewater Country Club course in an even par to give the lanky 14-year-old top honors in the 12 to 16-year-old division. Behind him was Eugene's John Kerr with a 73.

In the junior division for boys 16 and 17, four players knotted for the top spot.

Ron Weber, Prineville; Joe Hallmark, Roseburg; and Jerry Cuner and Bob Smith, both of Portland, all carded one-under-par 71s.

At even par were Dick Smith and Bill MacDonald, both of Portland.

In the pee wee boys division, a familiar name cropped up in the spotlight. Tommy Kabler, Sutherlin, brother of highly touted Carol Jo Kabler, posted a nine-hole score of 48 to lead the division.

Elaine Porritt of Eugene and June Robinson of Tillamook led the girls division of play at Riverside, each coming in with six-over-par 82s. Shirley Siegmund, Eugene was in third spot with an 83 and Alice Hammer of Coos Bay was fourth at 86.

Coquille	1	1	.500
Coos Bay-North Bend	1	1	.500
Cherry Studs	0	2	.000

The Cheney Studs stood at third place in the Southern Oregon semi-pro baseball league after five games played by four teams opening the season last week end.

The Studs won their first encounter from Drain Saturday and lost the nightcap and Sunday afternoon game. The two wins gave the Black Sox a percentage lead over the five league clubs.

Coquille and Coos Bay-North Bend were tied for second, having divided a doubleheader Saturday. One will be tied for second with the Studs and the other tied for first with Drain after their scheduled game at North Bend tomorrow evening.

The Bend Loggers remained idle, league-wise, during the week end and consequently stayed at the bottom of the standings.

Next Saturday, the Studs are at home in the Medford fairgrounds playing a twin-bill with Bend. A third game will come Sunday afternoon.

Drain visits Coquille in a similar three game series the same two days. Coos Bay-North Bend draws a bye.

Machen Gets 14th Victory

San Francisco —(U.P.)— Sharp-shooting Eddie Machen chalked up his 14th victory in as many professional fights Monday night when he stopped Sgt. Matt Jackson in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round fight at San Francisco Garden.

Referee Freddy Apostoli halted the fight in 2:51 of the fourth shortly after Jackson had fallen to the canvas for the third time and his corner threw in the towel.

Machen, of Redding, Calif., weighed 196, and Jackson, of Van Nuys, Calif., weighed 183. It was the 11th time that Machen has stopped an opponent.

Machen, who will meet Nino Valdes next month in a nationally televised match, also dropped Jackson in the second and third rounds, with the bell saving his opponent each time.

Jackson's third and final trip came in the fourth after Machen spun completely around after missing a left uppercut — but then connected with a soft right to the face.

Coach Says Morrow Is Best Sprinter of Era

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
San Francisco —(U.P.)— The best sprinter of modern times, says Brutus Hamilton, 1952 U.S. Olympic track and field coach, is Bobby Morrow, the powerman from Ablene Christian.

"Morrow is the best sprinter of this generation," said Hamilton after watching the Texan whip such formidable foes as Dave Sime of Duke, Bobby Whilden of Texas, Mike Agostini of Fresno State, Dick Blair of Kansas and Leamon King of California in the NCAA championships.

What impressed Hamilton wasn't so much the fact that Morrow won, but the way he did it.

Led Field From Start
The powerfully-built, 190-pounder just took one step off the starting blocks and it was such a strong one that he was in front of the rest of the field right away. He didn't get a better start than the rest — just stronger.

Many had thought that Sime would beat Morrow—but they hadn't counted on an important item called "experience" figuring in the final results. This was especially true in the 200-meter race, where the Duke sophomore was a heavy favorite. Sime pulled up with a groin injury. It was only the second time that Sime had run around a curve (the first time was the day before) and he showed lack of experience.

Jaw Muscles Relax
"There's an art to running around a curve at full speed," Morrow pointed out later. "You need to practice it. You have to lean into the curve, swing your right arm across the body and cross your right leg to avoid falling off balance. Coming off the bend, I straighten up, relax until I can feel my jaw muscles loose, then drive to the wire."

In most U.S. meets, the 220-yard dash is run on a straightaway. But with the Olympics coming up, the NCAA always runs the 200-meter race around a curve because that's the way they do it in international competition.

After his sad showing in the 200 in which he had to pull up after about 100 meters, the discouraged Sime said that he might forget track entirely and devote his time to baseball. He claims baseball is his "first love"—and there are reports that some major league scouts are talking in terms of a bonus that might run between $25,000 and $50,000.

Washington —(U.P.)— The House voted Monday to let the big airlines carry clergymen at reduced fares. Trains and interstate buses already may do so.

Amending a measure that already has passed the Senate, the House agreed to confine the reduced fare privilege to those airlines not drawing federal subsidies. In general these are the major lines.
