Four-Lane Highway Length of Oregon Seen for 99 Route

Limited Access Highway in Plans

Salem—(U.P.)—State highway officials painted a rosy picture today of what they can expect with approval of the $32,900,000 federal highway program.

A border to border four-lane highway, bypassing cities and towns and with limited access throughout its length was said to be in store for U.S. 99.

U.S. 30 from Portland to the eastern border of the state would be in for a similar improvement with only some stretches of sparsely populated eastern Oregon destined to remain a two-lane route.

Bill Approved

Senate-House conferees yesterday put their approval on the compromise highway improvement bill.

The State Highway Department estimated Oregon expects to be allocated $26,000,000 a year for use on Highways 99 and 30 and $12,000,000 a year for other routes. The state would match these with 10 per cent and 40 percent, respectively.

W. C. Williams, deputy state highway engineer, said that the state would start work on U.S. 99 and U.S. 30 "to the end that these two great highways will be completed within the 13-year period for which Congress has provided the funds."

Divided Highway

U.S. 99 will be a four-lane divided highway from state line to state line," Williams said, "with complete access restriction, meaning egress and ingress will be permitted only at traffic separated interchanges.

"There will be no cross traffic at grade or any traffic signals on its entire length. It will go around cities and towns."

Still to be worked out are details for financing the federal highway project.

Atomic Discovery May Aid Science To Comprehend Universe

Los Alamos, N. M.—(U.P.)—The Los Alamos scientific laboratory announced today that experimenters have proved the existence of a "vanishingly small" particle in the heart of the atom which may help scientists to comprehend the universe.

Clear Skies, Warm Weather Ushers In Official Summer

Clear skies, warm temperatures and a desire to go swimming ushered in the official arrival of summer today, but rain is forecast by the weather bureau for tomorrow evening.

The forecast for Medford and vicinity is for increasing cloudiness tonight and tomorrow with showers Friday evening.

Although summer officially arrived at 2:24 a. m. today, attendance at the Hawthorne park swimming pool indicated that summer weather has been here for about two weeks.

Darrel Huson, park director, said 444 persons used the pool yesterday, bringing the total to 3,003 since the pool opened June 11. The lowest attendance any one day since the pool opened, Huson said, was 19.

231 Enrolled

Huson said 231 have enrolled in the first swimming classes which are held each morning. The last starting date for swimming classes is July 9, he said. A wading pool is free for children under 8 years old, and playground supervisors are on duty each afternoon and evening. The wading pool is closed one hour each afternoon for a story-hour and planned entertainment.

Summer started following a total of 33.40 inches of rain since Sept. 1, or 15.76 inches above normal. Thus far this month, there has been .8 inch of rain, .05 above normal, according to weather bureau figures.

Bids Called For Highway 99 Work

The state highway commission has called for bids to elevate Highway 99 near Savage Rapids dam.

The work will include two sections of low highway which floods, highway commission officials said, and is designed to prevent the highway from flooding during average floods.

Bids will be received at 9 a. m. Thursday, July 12, by the commission at its Portland meeting. Work includes 1.75 miles of grading and 2.11 miles paving in addition to excavation and fill-in work.

The project is about seven miles southeast of Grants Pass near the Josephine county line and the Rogue River rd. sections of Highway 99.

The highway commission will receive bids at 9 a. m. Friday, July 13, for repairing the Torrent Creek embankment on the Pacific highway about six miles south of Ashland. Bids opened earlier on the project were all rejected.

Eisenhower Walks To Ward Corridor

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower walked out of his hospital room today for the first time since his operation.

A medical bulletin issued by attending physicians at Walter Reed Army Hospital at 1 p. m. (EDT) disclosed that the convalescing chief executive walked without support from his bedroom to a ward corridor after breakfast today.

He sat at a desk chair and chatted with his doctors for about 20 minutes, and then walked back to his room. The round trip was about 80 feet.

Mr. Eisenhower has been taking short "walking exercises" in his bedroom since the first day after his operation, but this was the first time he had ventured into the "outside world."

Record Timber Cut Seen In Forests of Northwest

Portland—(U.P.)—A record timber cut on national forests in the Pacific Northwest was predicted by Forest Service officials here today after scanning reports for the first three quarters of the current fiscal year.

Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone said the cut in the first three quarters totaled 2,100,000,000 board feet, worth $36,463,022. It was sold for nearly $54,000,000.

Valuable Documents of Revolutionary, Civil War Eras Located in Bank Vault

Chicago—(U.P.)—A Lincoln scholar said today he has hit a million-dollar jackpot of "lost" Revolutionary and Civil War letters and documents.

Substantial Sum of Money

The Lincoln scholar, Ralph G. Newman, said he acquired the collection "for a very substantial sum of money" from Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds of Palm Beach, Fla., widow of a former Michigan industrialist and Florida bank owner who died in 1948.

Reynolds, in turn, had bought the collection in 1945 from Dr. Ellsworth Elliot Jr., New York physician and surgeon. Elliot had spent 50 years gathering the collection, but his fellow collectors never guessed its value, Newman said.

Died Too Soon

Reynolds became ill and died before he could examine the collection. It stayed in bank vaults until Newman got a chance to see it early this year.

He said the collection "rivals" some of the major institutional collections and, with "some material I have which supplements it," has a retail value of "possibly a million dollars."

"They're all here—a fabulous cast," Newman said. "Over 50 George Washington letters, 30 by John Adams, a large collection by Lincoln, letters by Lee, Grant, Stonewall Jackson, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, John Paul Jones, John Hancock, Alexander Hamilton, Generals Sherman, and Sheridan, LaFayette."

Items in the collection of more than 2000 documents include:

A letter from Thomas Paine to Washington accusing him of "connivance at my imprisonment" in a French prison.

Original Surrender Message

The original message telling how Gen. Ulysses S. Grant should conduct surrender negotiations with Gen. Robert E. Lee at the close of the Civil War. The message is signed by Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton, but "was actually written by Abraham Lincoln who obviously dictated the entire terms," Newman said.

Way Cleared To Pass Highway Measure

Washington—(U.P.)—A Senate-House conference committee cleared the way for speedy final passage of the $32,900,000,000 highway bill today by agreeing to put the road building program on a "pay as you ride" basis.

House conferees agreed to accept a Senate provision under which any one year's spending on the proposed 41,000-mile interstate network of superhighways would be limited to the amount of money available in a special fund set up to finance the program.

The fund would be built up out of highway user taxes, some of which are to be increased under the legislation.

If tax receipts lag behind expectations, the effect of the "pay as you ride" restriction might be to stretch out the building program over a somewhat longer period than the presently planned 13 years.

Neuberger Comes To Aid of Goats

Washington—(U.P.)—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.), friend of the White House squirrels, now has come to the aid of goats.

Neuberger demanded Wednesday that Secretary of defense Charles E. Wilson investigate "shocking" reports the Army is shooting goats.

His statement was touched off by a news dispatch quoting Capt. Carolyn Taylor of the Army Medical Corps as saying goats were shot with high-powered rifles at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., to give doctors battlefield experience.

Injured Boy Scouts Improving at Hospital

Two Boy Scouts injured in a hiking accident June 10 are reported in good condition at Community hospital today. Both boys had a good night last night.

Tom Turpin, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Turpin, 3533 Jacksonville hwy., and Bruce Blachly, 13, son of Mrs. Ben Blachly, 1121 Spring st., were taken to the hospital last week after falling down a river bluff on an expedition with Troop 9 in the Silver creek region of the lower Illinois river.

Twining Hopes To Fly in Russian Planes on Visit

Air Force Chief Leaves for Moscow

Washington—(U.P.)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining left for Moscow today with the "hope" that he will get to fly in some new Russian airplanes during his visit.

The Air Force chief of staff and a roster of six general officers left the Washington National Airport in an Air Force DC6 transport. They headed for an air base in Europe en route to Moscow.

To Arrive Saturday

Twining said the party will spend 24 hours at the undersigned base and arrive in the Russian capital at about 4 p. m. local time Saturday. The Twining plane will be accompanied from Berlin by a Russian navigator and radio operator.

Twining, who is going to Moscow on Russian invitation to see the June 24 air show, said that the Russians provided him with an "interesting" itinerary Wednesday night.

The general said it was "Clear in the itinerary that we will get out of the Moscow area."

Twining was asked whether he expected to learn something he did not previously know about Russian air power. He said "probably."

Big Display Expected

Some top airmen here expect the Russians to go all out in an effort to impress the American generals. And Russian-born Maj. Alexander de Seversky, longtime exponent of strategic air power, is out with a prediction that the Soviets will show enough to "scare the free world out of its wits."

In contrast with previous years, the Russians showed little new stuff at their May Day displays this year, and it may be that they held back for the June 24 show.

Search Continues For Missing Plane

Lebanon, Ore.—(U.P.)—Search continued today for Dr. Ralph T. Johnston, Lebanon dentist, and Hartwick Hanson, singing evangelist from Salem, who disappeared in a light plane in a flight over the Cascades a week ago.

Delmar Clem, one of the volunteers directing the big search, said that "we have every reason to believe that the two men are on this side of the Cascades."

Ground parties searched the Craig lake area near Maxwell but, east of Lebanon, "on a hunch," according to Clem. Another search will be made of the Sheep creek area near Iron mountain along Highway 20.

Clem said Dr. Johnston was capable of administering to injuries and that there was a possibility the two men might be alive in some remote section of the mountains. He said the men had sufficient food to keep them alive if used sparingly.

Wife Held in Death Of Man Near Bend

Bend—(U.P.)—Bobby Blake Balzhiser, 37, was shot and killed yesterday as he stood outside his estranged wife's home at Deschutes Junction seven miles north of here. Police arrested Mrs. Jennie Bonita Balzhiser, 40, in connection with the shooting.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Livingston said he and Balzhiser had gone to the Balzhiser home to inspect property involved in a pre-divorce settlement. Believing no one home Balzhiser had peered in a window and was shot by a .38 calibre revolver from inside the house. Mrs. Balzhiser was arrested by Livingston as she ran out of the building. She was first lodged in Deschutes county jail and then removed to St. Charles Memorial hospital.

President Accepts McLeish Resignation

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Robert McLeish as farmers home administrator in a friendly letter which praised his "valuable assistance" and wished him "health and happiness."

McLeish resigned under fire Tuesday in the midst of a congressional investigation of charges that he drank heavily on the job.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had previously announced that McLeish's resignation would be accepted.

A spokesman for the Senate Civil Service Subcommittee investigating the Farmers Home Administration said meanwhile that the Justice Department will be asked to examine testimony about heavy drinking and political activities by agency officials.

Planes Collide In Night Over Seattle

Seattle—(U.P.)—Two light planes, circling to land, collided 1000 feet above thickly populated Beacon Hill residential district here today and police said at least three persons were killed.

The planes crashed in a deep gully 100 yards behind the home of Mrs. Della Calderola and burning debris showered out of the sky into her backyard, barely missing three small children.

Could See It Coming

Joe Daniels, a private pilot, saw the planes before they collided. "I could see it coming," he said.

Daniels said one of the planes was trying to land and the other "cut right into the traffic pattern."

"The right wing of the Beechcraft Bonanza caught the Cessna 140's left wing," Daniels said. Two bodies were found near the wreckage and a third victim was found about 200 yards away an hour later.

"I think we've got them all now," said Coroner John P. Brill Jr.

Near Boeing Field

The crash scene was about one mile, northeast of Boeing field, where the planes were attempting to land.

The Cessna 140 was identified as belonging to the Forrest Taylor Academy of Flying. A spokesman at the flying school said he believed two persons were aboard. He identified them as Cal Clark, a pilot instructor, and Ellis Clark, a student, both of Seattle.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration said the Beechcraft was an out of state plane, and there was no record of it listed here.

Rehearsals Start for Shakespearean Event; Season Opens Aug. 1

Ashland—Casting for the 1956 Oregon Shakespearean Festival was completed this morning, and rehearsals began this afternoon. The season opens with "Richard III" Aug. 1 and continues through Sept. 1.

Don Gunderson, Chicago, was given the sought-after role of Richard in the play by that name, and also will play the title role in "Titus Andronicus." Gunderson, who played Antony in "Antony and Cleopatra" and Orlando in "As You Like It" in 1950, is with the Goodman institute, associated with the Art Institute of Chicago, as an actor and director.

Romeo, Juliet

The title roles of Romeo and Juliet went to Ted van Griethuysen, student at the University of Texas, and Rosalyn Newport, Wichita, Kan., student at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

B. Iden Payne will play the role of Friar Lawrence in "Romeo and Juliet." Former director of the Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford-on-Avon in England, professor of drama at the University of Texas and a former director of the Shakespearean theater at San Diego, Payne is directing "Cymbeline" this year.

Bill Oyler, Sacramento, Calif., was given Aaron in "Titus" and Cymbeline in "Cymbeline." Richard Graham, Festival actor for many seasons, is ill at present and was unable to appear at try-outs. It is expected he will be cast in small roles and will continue as program director. (See story page 15)

Ashland Hospital Directors to Meet

Ashland—The board of directors of the Southern Oregon Hospital association will hold an organizational meeting Monday, June 25, at 7:30 p. m. in the Ashland Chamber of Commerce office.

Members of the board Tuesday night heard a report from Ben Lombard that articles of incorporation for the non-profit association have been approved by the state corporation commissioner.

Monday's meeting will be to elect officers. Purpose of the corporation is to ascertain feasibility of construction of a new hospital in Ashland, financed through contributions.

The non-profit, community organization was proposed and approved at a town meeting last winter when more than 250 residents from Ashland and Talent

New Park at Camp White Laid Out Near Domiciliary

Camp White—A new park, to serve members of this Veterans Administration domiciliary, is being laid out adjacent to the center under the auspices of the VA Voluntary Services.

The eight-acre site is next to the Crater Lake highway, just to the east of the domiciliary and next to the baseball field. Water pipes have already been installed, and ground is now being prepared for landscaping. Many trees, shrubs, and bushes have already been donated by individuals and organizations.

Planning for the park has been under way for some time. Completion of the project will depend on additional donations, including lumber, concrete and electrical equipment needed for the kitchen area and other phases of the work.

Among features of the park will be a barbecue, for which American Legion Post 15 has

Kiwanis Delegates Hear Secretary Blast Communism

San Francisco—(U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles challenged Soviet leaders today to permit free elections in Russia and Eastern Europe if they really believe Communism can win on its own merits.

"Violence is the classic and natural tactic of Soviet Communism" as taught not only by Stalin but also by Lenin, Dulles said in a speech prepared for the 41st annual convention of Kiwanis International. The Soviets "would surely be tempted" to revert to violence if the free world let down its guard, Dulles warned.

Why Not Give Chance?

"If Communism is so good that, as its leaders say, others will freely accept it on its merits, why not give the first chance to those who know it best?" Dulles asked.

Until free elections are permitted in Russia and Eastern Europe, Dulles said, the free peoples are entitled to presume that there is "something basically wrong" with the Communist system.

Dulles called Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev's speech denouncing Stalin "the most damning indictment of despotism ever made by a despot."

He said Khrushchev's speech "should of itself be sufficient to make all free peoples shun that type of despotism as they would shun a plague."

Almost Traitor

In Khrushchev's speech, Dulles said, Stalin emerges as a "deviationist" from Marxist doctrine. "Almost a traitor... a man so brutal and sadistic in character as to rival one of the most evil of the Roman emperors, Caligula."

The main point in Khrushchev's speech, Dulles said, is that he exposed "the inability of the Soviet Communist system to liquidate its own evil leadership, because it was the evil leader who had the supreme power to liquidate others."

President Chosen

The Kiwanis delegates chose a Salt Lake City wool grower, Reed C. Culp, to be their new president, effective Aug. 1. Culp defeated Vice-President W. Donald Duball, a St. Louis lawyer, in an election. The vote was not disclosed.

W. H. Driver of Euclid, Ohio, and Kenneth B. Loehoe of Toronto, Ont., were named vice-presidents. H. Park Arnold, Glendale, Calif., businessman, was named treasurer.

At a "recognition breakfast," Claude E. Taggart, Rialto, Calif., was honored for being the 259,000th man to join Kiwanis.
