Winchester Youth Rescued From Bay

Winchester Bay, Ore.—(U.P.)—An 18-year-old Reedsport youth was rescued from the rough waters of Winchester Bay at the mouth of the Umpqua river last night after his 32-foot troller smashed against the rocks and sank.

Harry B. Cure Jr. was rescued by his father and Coast Guardsman Arlee Jensen, commander of the Winchester Bay station.

The youth told Jensen he lost his bearings heading out into the open sea and his boat crashed into submerged rocks near the jetty. The boat went down in 30 feet of water. The youth's father was waiting for his son in another troller. When he saw the youth's vessel sinking he abandoned his own vessel and set out in rough water in a dinghy. He held his son at the stern of the dinghy until Jensen arrived and pulled him out.

Jensen was in a 40-foot patrol boat at the time and was on the scene in a matter of minutes.
