The finest Oregon products go to make up this American favorite... Strawberry Shortcake. It's a summertime must for the entire family.

This is Oregon Strawberry Shortcake week. According to an "official" proclamation issued by Governor Elmo Smith, "Oregon, as no other state in the union, is the natural center for this favorite family dessert."

The three most important ingredients which go into strawberry shortcake are Oregon wheat, strawberries and cream. Oregon Marshall and Northwest variety berries are the finest for flavor and quality. Oregon is one of the leading strawberry producing states in the nation, and the shortcake which bakers produce is made from Oregon's famous soft wheat. Oregon's fresh, wholesome dairy foods complete the flavorful trio, adding richness and flaky texture to the shortcake and a glorious creamy crown for the shortcake.

Oregon strawberry shortcake is also available the whole year around since much of the Oregon crop goes into the huge frozen strawberry pack, which makes strawberry shortcake a year-around treat.

Shortcake making is a cinch. Bakers and grocery stores have a tasty and convenient base, fluffy yellow dessert cups with scooped out centers for holding the sliced or crushed berries. But if your idea for shortcake is golden biscuits, here's an old-fashioned recipe made better because of Oregon wheat.

Use 2 cups prepared biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3/4 cup cream or 1/2 cup milk and 1/4 cup melted butter, extra softened butter, 4 cups sliced sweetened strawberries and 1/2 cup whipping cream.

Add cream or milk and melted butter to biscuit mix and sugar. Mix with a fork. Keep dough soft but if it is sticky add a bit more biscuit mix. Turn out on floured cloth. Knead 10 times to shape in ball. Pat or roll out to half of thickness desired when baked. Spread liberally with softened butter and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in hot oven, 450 degrees F., for 10 minutes. Split and butter. Cover lower half with sweetened berries. (Use about 3/4 cup sugar for 4 cups berries and allow to stand at room temperature a while.) Place top half on berries and cover with more berries. Top generously with whipped cream. Serve at once.

Medford Woman Given Office by State Auxiliary

Mrs. George Simmons, 806 Valley View drive, Medford, was elected senior vice commander of the auxiliary to Disabled American Veterans, Department of Oregon, during the recent state convention in Salem.

Mrs. Simmons was one of seven delegates from the Jackson county auxiliary. Others were Mrs. Lester Moser, Mrs. James Lillie, Mrs. Clifford Heeter, Mrs. John Tingley, Mrs. J. P. Graham and Mrs. Adeline Grissom.

The auxiliary passed a resolution favoring installation of medical and surgical facilities in the Camp White domiciliary. Veteran groups are working for this in the belief that veteran hospitals in the west are overcrowded and that men at Camp White needing medical attention should receive it there rather than being transferred to another institution, it was said.

Other department officers elected by the auxiliary were Mrs. Tom Van Lanningham, West Linn, commander; Mrs. Sam Fordyce, Portland, junior vice commander; Mrs. Pearl Zeek, Oregon City, chaplain; Mrs. Blanche Zilinski, Oregon City, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Brady, Portland, adjutant.

Mrs. Arch L. Brewster, Salem, retiring department commander, was named delegate to the national convention to be held in San Antonio, Tex., in September.

The Medford delegation reports that one of the highlights of the session was a tea given by the National Order of Alley Cats for Gold Star Mothers of the Salem area. The event was held in the Colonial room of the Marion hotel.
