Growers Reminded of Shipping Cherries

C. B. Cordy, county horticultural agent, reminded cherry growers today that Oregon cherries may not be taken into California because of a fruit fly outbreak in this state.

Cordy said, however, that commercial growers desiring to transport loads of cherries into California may do so if they have the fruit fumigated. The state department of agriculture has approved one fumigation chamber in the area and arrangements for using it may be made through the county agent's office.

Growers must arrange for their own fumigant, the county agent said, and the fumigation process is done at the grower's expense.

Attorneys Will Get Official Guide Book

Salem — U.P. — The attorney general's office said today that an official state guide book will be made available to district attorneys on the correct legal forms used in legal proceedings.

The form book will be distributed at the fourth annual district attorney conference and institute to start here Thursday. The more than 400 pages contain indictments, complaints and legal forms designed to withstand the most rigid scrutiny of courts and defense attorneys.

It was pointed out that in the past many indictments and complaints have been dismissed for technical defects.

Assistant Attorney General Fred A. Miller, formerly district attorney of Clackamas county, prepared the major portion of the work.

BRADSHAW — To Mr. and Mrs. William 3954 South Pacific highway, June 25, 1956, a boy, 8 1/2 pounds, at Sacred Heart hospital.
