

JACKSONVILLE Chief Warns Jaywalkers

By MRS. C. S. HOSKINS
Jacksonville — Police Chief Frank Carter last week cited as evidence a recent near-serious jay-walking incident, that such accidents are not confined to large cities. Not using the crosswalks, which are put there and well marked for everyone's protection, could lead one into a serious or perhaps fatal mishap. So to be safe, he said, don't be a Jacksonville jaywalker.

Carter also reports that young bicycle riders on Jacksonville streets need a serious reminder that the same rules, regulations, and safe driving laws apply to them as well as to automobile drivers. Parents should see that their children are well acquainted with the laws before they are allowed to ride bicycles on city streets, he said.

The Word Krafters club met at the Alvin Minshall home in Jacksonville June 25. Fifteen members were present and one guest, Mrs. John R. Hamaker. The co-hostess was Mrs. Joe Price. A short business meeting was held and group discussions on various current contests, and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. E. Eggers at 1021 West 11th st., Medford, with Mrs. Hicks as co-hostess, on the last Monday in July at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Joe Price, Mrs. James Noble and Mrs. John R. Hamaker will provide the program.

If any readers of this column are former residents visiting in Jacksonville or living at a distance, a letter with details about yourself and family would help make this column more newsworthy and informative. The Candlelight circle is a newly formed group of the Presbyterian church in Jacksonville. It is an auxiliary of the Women's Missionary association. The officers chosen were, chairman, Mrs. Quintin Jordan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eugene Pyeatt; world service chairman, Mrs. Edward Hinkle; program chairman, Mrs. Walter Mooring; and fellowship chairman, Mrs. Henry Jordan. The project for this year is sewing clothing for Haines house, a home for Eskimo children in Haines, Alaska, and sponsored by the Presbyterian churches. Plans are being made for several other activities. The meetings are held the third Thursday of each month, usually in the home of one of the members. The next meeting will be July 19 at the Walter Mooring home. All interested women are invited to attend.

Mrs. N. E. Shockley returned this week from visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bowman and children, Ricky and Sandra, in Sacramento, Calif.

A birthday surprise telephone call was received last week by Henry Burmeister Jr. in Bellmore, N.Y., from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell and son Jimmy, sister, brother-in-law and nephew of Burmeister, all of Jacksonville. All joined in congratulations via telephone. The call was suggested by "Daddy," young Burmeister's daughter in New York. The call was made here at 8:30 p.m., but by New York time it was 12:30 p.m. Some difficulty was experienced by Mrs. Burmeister in finding logical reasons for delaying Henry from retiring before the call was received.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Omar Culy and Mrs. Verna Culy returned last week from a trip to Reno, Yosemite National park and other points. They were accompanied by Miss Marjorie Fish, who taught at Jacksonville High school a few years ago. Miss Fish has been employed in Beverly Hills, Calif., and is visiting friends in the Jacksonville-Medford area enroute to her home in North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Saulsbury of San Francisco were visitors last week at the home of Saulsbury's mother, Mrs. Lulu Saulsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winningham of Mt. Vernon, Wash., visited at the home of Mrs. Harry Whitney and other relatives in the valley last week. They were enroute to San Francisco to visit their son and drive on down the Coast highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Page of Seattle, Wash., were overnight visitors recently at the Daniel E. Serry home. The Serrys and Pages were friends in South Dakota years ago.

Guests at the Lloyd Whitney home for a two week vacation are Mrs. Whitney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Walker of Snider, Texas, and her sister, Mrs. Clifford Hall and children, Linda, Mary and Steven, of Newport, Ore.

Funeral services were held in Medford this week for Michael Benull. He was the uncle of Mrs. Walter Sokolowski, Jacksonville, and made his home with her and her family for awhile after moving here from Chicago. He was known as "Uncle Mike" on South Oregon st. while he lived here.

He is also survived by a sister and three nephews in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Medford Haskins of Lincoln, Ill., are visitors this week at the Warren Hazen home. Mrs. Haskins is Hazen's niece.

Dr. and Mrs. Al Griffin of Jacksonville are attending the annual northwest convention of osteopathic physicians and surgeons this week in Yakima, Wash.

A reader points out that in the recent obituary of Birdie Schmitt Haney, who died in Portland last month, some of the names of her survivors in this area were omitted, including Mrs. Billie Young of Medford, Frances B. Kenney, Medford, Mrs. H. K. Hanna, Jacksonville, Mrs. Thomas Carlton, Gold Hill, and Mrs. W. H. Kentner of Santa Barbara, Calif. Birdie Schmitt was a dressmaker of long standing in this community in the 1920s and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schmitt, better known as Mama and Papa Schmitt.

Mrs. Ross Crowley returned home this week after undergoing emergency surgery at Community hospital. She is still unable to see visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sweren and three sons of Eugene were recent overnight guests at the Ross Crowley home. Mrs. Sweren and Mrs. Ross are sisters.

Mrs. Woodrow McCormack is recuperating from recent major surgery at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. W. Edwards, in Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bernston are spending the summer season in Santa Barbara, Calif., where Bernston is attending summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buehling of Paulina, Ore., where Buehling has been teaching school, arrived here recently. Mrs. Buehling is the daughter of the H. A. Bernstons. The Buehlings are living at the Lynn Bernston home while they are away at summer school, but plan to make their future home here.

Dr. L. R. Patmont of Kelseyville, Calif., arrived by plane last week for a visit at the H. A. Bernston residence. Bernston's son, Eddie, drove Dr. Patmont home and will stay there for a short visit.

Arizona indicated Friday that it would not call witnesses in regard to the Blue book, but California objected. Rifkind said they could argue the point Monday.

Meanwhile, Arizona continued its parade of witnesses to testify to that state's water needs.

Evidence Brings New Verbal Battle Over Colorado River Water

San Francisco — (UP) A new verbal battle is apparently brewing between Arizona and California over evidence introduced by Arizona in the legal fight for Colorado River rights.

Attorneys for Arizona have introduced three documents, known as the "Blue," "Red," and "White" books, which contain all bureau of reclamation records and reports on Colorado river water, information on the Central Arizona project, and material used in compiling its definition of "beneficial use of consumptive water."

Special Master Simon E. Rifkind admitted the Blue and Red books as evidence, providing Arizona can get witnesses to support the information they contain. The White book, which Arizona relies on most, was thrown out.

Arizona indicated Friday that it would not call witnesses in regard to the Blue book, but California objected. Rifkind said they could argue the point Monday.

Meanwhile, Arizona continued its parade of witnesses to testify to that state's water needs.

Victor Corbell of Tempe, president of the Salt River Valley Water Users association, testified that 30 years ago water supplies in his area were "unlimited," but in recent years farmers have been cut to from three to five acre feet annually.

Cross Examination Under cross-examination by Northcutt Ely, California counsel, Corbell acknowledged that the Salt River association's board of governors in 1948 refused to transfer waters to the Gila river in exchange for Colorado river water.

Ely claimed that a contract between the association and the Bureau of Reclamation called for that exchange. Other witnesses included John P. Van'Denburgh, Buckeye, Ariz., and Roderick J. McMullin, Scottsdale, Ariz. Both men testified that the bulk of Arizona's water supply must come from sources distant from their area, as wells were non-existent in some places and in short supply generally.

Rifkind adjourned the hearing for the week end with McMullin still on the stand.

Wallace Bowen Becomes New CP Police Chief

Central Point — Wallace P. Bowen today became Central Point's new police chief, replacing Oran Chastain, who recently resigned to become assistant police chief at Grants Pass.

Donald D. Turner became fire chief today and Alan M. Bishop took over duties as night patrolman, replacing Leroy C. Gilbert, whose resignation became effective today.

Appointments of the three new men were made at a recent adjourned meeting of the Central Point city council.

WINTER ARRIVES Buenos Aires — (UP) — Winter weather hit Argentina Friday. The first snow of the season fell, and the temperature dropped to 30 degrees in various cities, including the famed Mar Del Plata beach resort.

DECLARES SUPPORT Buenos Aires — (UP) — The Argentine Polish Union adopted a resolution Friday declaring its support for the Poznan workers and Polish people "expressed in their efforts to banish Russian Communist occupation."

THE HOSTESS WITH THE MOSTES!

She's the one who can make you feel at home, even though you're away from home.

She's the one who takes a second look at the foods and beverages most generally associated with your home life, then shrewdly serves them up to you right in her own home.

Milk is certainly a "must" in everybody's home. That's why it's about the friendliest, most welcome beverage you can serve your guests. And milk goes with everything...from pastry to cheese and crackers, from candy to TV tidbits.

Smart hostesses know that serving milk on social occasions is just as sound as the familiar advice...
