Comrades Take Name for Poznan Revolt Last Week Party Paper Charges 'Irregularities'

Berlin—(U.P.)—The Polish Communist party Saturday took the blame for the Poznan revolt in a confession of "irregularities" and "mistakes" that apparently provides the basis for the current purge of party members, government officials and police in the city.

In its efforts to soothe dissatisfied workers, the party accused local leaders of neglecting to heed legitimate complaints. The President of Poland promised new freedom in "ever growing measure" for all citizens.

Western travelers arriving from Poland said the purge of authorities who either supported the rebels in last week's uprising or who failed to crack down quickly enough had filled prison cells.

They said security police made wholesale arrests in a series of raids on homes of suspect officials.

More arrests are being made daily and as many as 3,000 persons, both rebels and official supporters, have been jailed, they said.

The party backed up its actions in an article in the official Poznan party paper "Trybuna Ludu." It charged party and union bosses with "bureaucratic irregularities," "confusion" and "mistakes."

The paper accused local leaders of being responsible for the uprising by failing to alleviate poor conditions in the city.

"The workers had reasons for bitterness," it said in an editorial believed to reflect the opinion of a commission set up to investigate the revolt.

Pilots Association Sets Deadline for West Coast Airlines

Chicago—(U.P.)—The Airline Pilots' association Saturday set Wednesday midnight as a new strike deadline against the West Coast Airlines following collapse of contract negotiations.

The airline's 65 pilots originally were set to walk out June 27, but postponed that strike date at the request of the National Mediation Board pending renewed negotiations.

With the polo season in this area approaching, a recipient of the vaccine may receive considerably immunity, it was pointed out.

The vaccine is administered in a series of three shots, the first two spaced a month apart and the third from seven months to a year later. The eligible group is from infancy to 19 years of age and expectant mothers.

Supplies Sufficient Vaccine supplies in the county are now sufficient to give a protective shot to all eligible persons, officials said.

Dr. A. E. Merkel, county health officer and chairman of the chapter's medical advisory committee, estimated a little more than half the eligible group in the county have received shots.

A former theory that vaccine should not be administered during hot weather or during the polo season has been proven false, Dr. Merkel said.

Those eligible to receive the vaccine are urged to contact family physicians.

Defeat Predicted for Canyon Bill

Washington—(U.P.)—A shift of sentiment on the part of two southern Democratic senators regarding a bill for a high dam in Hells Canyon was reported here Saturday and caused observers to predict defeat for the Democrat-sponsored measure if it is brought to the Senate floor for a vote.

Majority Leader Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas was reported trying to dissuade Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Warren Magnuson of Washington from bringing the bill to a record vote.

The measure, authorizing federal construction of a high dam in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake river on the Oregon-Idaho border, is scheduled to be called up July 17 with a vote about three days later.

The vote shift by Sens. Russell of Georgia and Eastland of Mississippi presumably would be enough to defeat the bill since a winning margin of two votes had been predicted on the basis of unofficial polling.

Congress Holds Inquiry on Crash

"Maybe We'd Better Fasten Our Seat Belts"

United Not Told TWA Plane Near Collision Scene

CAB, CAA Officials Questioned Saturday

Las Vegas—(U.P.)—A congressional inquiry was told Saturday that a United Airliner never was notified of the proximity of the TWA plane it presumably collided with because "air traffic control procedures do not require it."

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said the statement was made during the closed session of his subcommittee which is investigating the crash of the two airliners in Grand Canyon with history's greatest commercial aviation toll, 128 persons.

The public morning session of the day-long hearing brought testimony by William K. Andrews, director of the CAB bureau of safety, that in his opinion the disaster was caused by a mid-air collision.

He and other witnesses said the TWA's Super-Constellation was advised the UAL DC-7 was in the vicinity, but CAA communications did not notify either the UAL pilot or his radio ground headquarters that the TWA plane was due to fly over virtually the same spot at the same time last Saturday.

Andrews testified that while the TWA liner was told by the CAA control room that UAL was flying at the 21,000-foot level and UAL was indication of blame one way or the other.

"Both pilots, under CAB regulations, had the responsibility of looking out for their own safety under the visual flying conditions existing out of air traffic control channels at the time of the crash."

One-Day Hearing Harris wound up the one-day, one-the-spot inquiry by the nine-man committee after 7 1/2 hours of questioning more than a dozen witnesses from the CAB and CAA.

As the hearing was held, helicopters and mountain climbers worked to recover pieces of bodies from the wreckage of the two planes only a mile apart in the Grand Canyon.

Only 12 bodies have been identified. There was no indication when the task of body-recovery on the walls of the canyon, would be completed.

Senate Rules Group Votes Inquiry Funds

Washington—(U.P.)—The Senate Rules committee Saturday voted $300,000 to finance a major investigation of the nation's foreign aid program.

The inquiry, if approved by the full Senate, will be conducted by the Senate Foreign Relations committee. The committee has recommended the study to determine whether the aid program still is needed and, if so, whether it is headed in the right direction.

The rules committee acted after Senate-House conferees agreed late Friday on a $4.1 billion foreign aid ceiling for the government year which began last Sunday.

Prospect Youth Collects $43 in Porcupine Bounty

Adin Hannon of Prospect is believed to be holding the July lead in Jackson county's war against "porky".

County Treasurer Karl Janouch reported Friday that Hannon brought in 43 porcupine noses in one day and collected one dollar bounty for each nose. He told the treasurer he gathered them while walking up and down one logging road in the Prospect area.

Janouch said a total of 64 bounty orders had been brought to his office between Monday and Friday of last week.

The Jackson county court recently authorized a one-dollar bounty for each porcupine nose. The Medford Kiwanis club and

MAN BEATEN TO DEATH

Youth Jailed After Portlander Tries To Break Up Fight

Portland—(U.P.)—A 19-year-old youth was jailed here Saturday as a suspect in the fatal beating of a 53-year-old man early yesterday morning when he tried to intervene in a teenage fight.

Portland detectives planned to question Jerry Richard Stout in regard to his alleged part in the fatal beating and kicking of John Leverson, Portland. The youth's blood stained shoes were taken to the crime laboratory for study.

Police said that Stout was arrested early Saturday morning in a downtown cafe, shortly after the body of Leverson was discovered, beaten and blood smeared on the street.

Stout was partially intoxicated at the time of his arrest, police said, but after a struggle was taken to city jail and placed in a detention room. Later he attempted to take his own life by hanging himself.

Witnesses said the fight occurred outside an apartment house when one gang of youths attempted to crash a birthday party.

Leverson was passing down the street and attempted to intercede in the fight.

Stout, who witnesses said was not taking part in the fight, jumped from a car parked at the curb and attacked the man, beating him and then kicking him as he lay at the curb.

The youth was booked on a murder charge pending filing of a formal complaint Monday.

Military Bill Passes Lower German House

Bonn, Germany—(U.P.)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Saturday rammed his controversial military draft bill through the Bundestag (lower house) to prove to the world that West Germany is not dragging heels on rearming on the side of the West.

The vote, on the third and crucial reading, was 270-166 with 20 abstentions. The measure now goes to the Bundestag (upper house) where final approval is expected July 20.

Approval of the measure making 12 million young Germans liable for military service came after a turbulent session of nearly 18 hours, marked by often-acrimonious debate. At one point, a member of the anti-rearmament Socialist opposition accused Adenauer of being "dirty as always" and the chair was forced to call the chamber to order.

Portland Teacher Is Elected NEA Head

Portland—(U.P.)—In a standing vote thousands of teacher delegates here thundered their approval of a motion to wire the speaker of the House of Representatives their bitter disappointment at the defeat of the $1.5 billion Kelley bill for school construction.

Concluding their week-long annual convention Friday night at Portland, the NEA said in its telegram to the house: "The representative assembly of the National Education Association deeply regrets your decision to deny urgently needed emergency funds to build schools for the nation's children."

Dr. William G. Carr's report on the Kelley bill's history included a warning to congressmen of election year reckonings were in store for them. "It is probable that this means there will be nothing done in this session of congress with respect to school building legislation," Carr said. "But there will be a new session and there will be a new congress."

One member of NEA, Bill Johnston, superintendent of schools in Fort Benton, Mont., a Republican, said he was opposed to federal aid in principle, "but this is no way to kill a bill."

Johnstone was referring to the attachment of the anti-segregation amendment which lost the votes of southern representatives.

Eleven vice presidents were elected. They were James Ryan, Alaska; Anna Jenkins, California; Donald Brooks, Colorado; Lottie Topp, Connecticut; Olin Stead, Illinois; Florence Bennett, Minnesota; Chester Marshall, Nebraska; Chester Davis, Nevada; W. W. Eshleman, Pennsylvania; Francis Beldin, Michigan; and Paul Stevens, Maryland.

Next year's convention will be held in Philadelphia.

Nixon Arrives in Formosa for Talks

Taipei, Formosa—(U.P.)—U. S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew here last night to talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to negotiate the Formosa dispute. He gave the Nationalist leader a personal message of "continuing support" from President Eisenhower.

Nixon delivered the message to Chiang shortly after he arrived from Saigon despite the lateness of the hour.

"International Communism alters its tactics from time to time, but we have as yet no evidence of any change in its objectives," Mr. Eisenhower's message said.

Nixon delivered a similar message Friday to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Forster is Subpenaed To Testify Wednesday

Washington—(U.P.)—The house committee on un-American activities Saturday subpoenaed the chief counsel of the B'Nai Y'B'rith Anti-Defamation league to determine whether he contributed secretly to a report alleging widespread "blacklisting" of left-wingers in the entertainment world.

The committee said the witness, Arnold Forster of New York, will be questioned behind closed doors next Wednesday in connection with its investigation of the report which was issued twelve days ago by the Fund for the Republic. The fund is financed by the Ford Foundation.

Mother Appeals For Boy's Return

Westbury, N.Y.—(U.P.)—The mother of kidnaped five-week-old Peter Weinberger appealed to the abductor Saturday to leave the child in any church or synagogue in the New York city area.

Religious authorities agreed to keep every house of worship open around the clock to receive the child.

The appeal was made and acted upon as the search for the infant entered the crucial stage. Police sealed off a 16-block area around the Weinberger home on Long Island and clamped a tight secrecy lid on their activities while awaiting possible word from the abductor.

Peter was kidnaped Wednesday for a $2,000 ransom. A telephone call later increased the ransom to $5,000 and the family said it was willing to pay "any amount" for the return of the child.

The Weinberger family said Saturday they received another call Friday afternoon from the same person who increased the ransom. The call was made after the family announced they would pay the higher sum.

It was learned, however, that the caller had not yet identified himself in a way to make the family certain he was the kidnaper.

Mrs. Kelly Appointed Campaign Chairman

Mrs. Edward C. Kelly, Medford, has been appointed the Jackson county finance and campaign chairman for Senator Wayne Morse, County Democratic Central Committee Chairman Robert Boyer has announced.

Mrs. Kelly, Boyer said, will undertake appointments for sub-chairmen and assistants in the county's cities and towns. The job is one of coordinating the campaign and raising funds for the campaign in this area.

Boyer was notified of the appointment by Hugh Hearle, Portland, state finance chairman of the Reelect Senator Wayne Morse committee.
