Portlanders File Initiative Petition

Portland — (U.P.) — Three Portlanders Friday filed an initiative petition aimed at repealing the voter — passed city ordinance restricting location of a multi-million-dollar sports and recreation center to the east side of the Willamette river.

Jack Clenaghan, Ormond Binford, and Harry Glickman filed the petition as individuals a few moments before the deadline for filing at the city auditor's office.

Voters in May passed by a narrow margin a ballot measure that would have required the center to be built on the east side. The measure also clouded the legal authority to the exposition-recreation center to act.

Clenaghan said that "in view of the city attorney's opinion that the east side limitation E-R measure just passed by the voters may be tied up in the courts for the next several months or years, we are filing an initiative petition to repeal this controversial measure."

He added that if the city council should initiate its own measure to clarify the E-R status, the three-man petition would be withdrawn.

Thornton Rules on Teacher Control

Salem — (U.P.) — Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton ruled Saturday that a public school teacher has the right to control misbehavior of pupils outside and school hours provided the misconduct is detrimental to the best interests of the school or effects school discipline.

In an opinion requested by Deschutes County District Attorney G. F. Rakestraw of Bend, Thornton said:

"It seems clear that public school districts in Oregon have statutory authority to promulgate rules and regulations for the government of schools and pupils as may be reasonably necessary to maintain discipline."

The law specifically provides that the management, direction and control of the school house as a civic center shall be vested in the district school board and that such board may appoint a special supervising officer to preserve order and protect school property, Thornton concluded.

Hamley Resigns Job On Supreme Court

Olympia — (U.P.) — Chief Justice Frederick G. Hamley resigned Friday as a member of the Washington State Supreme Court.

Hamley, who had been chief justice since January, 1936, will be sworn in Monday in San Francisco as a judge of the Ninth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Charles T. Donworth took over as chief justice and will serve until the new term begins next Jan. 14. Judge Matthew W. Hill then will be in line for the top position.

Donworth, a former long-time Seattle attorney, has served on the high court since August, 1949.

A LONELY HONEYMOON
Detroit — (U.P.) — Lawrence D. Browning, 20, gave the judge a reason why it would be inconvenient to start serving a 30-day reckless driving sentence right now. He's getting married July 14. Reflecting on how the bridegroom's confinement might confuse him between marriage and a jail sentence, the judge said, "All right, you can start serving your sentence July 16—two days after the wedding."

SHOWERS FOR HOGS
Champaign, Ill. — (U.P.) — Cold showers are good for hogs as well as humans on hot days. Dr. Stanley Terrill, animal scientist at the University of Illinois, recommends sprinkler systems for the porkers to produce the best feeding results. The hog will gain weight faster in cooler surroundings, Terrill said.

SHOES FROM POULTRY SKINS
London — (U.P.) — Workers in Czechoslovakia are making shoes out of the skin of goose and turkey feet. The Czech news agency reported Friday. The report said production is booming at the Racjanka Producers Cooperative.

On The Side

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
Lovers grow cold. Men learn to hate their wives. And only parents' love can last our lives. —Browning.

If the father is the stronger physically, the child is most likely to be a girl. If the mother is the healthier and more husky of the two, it will be a boy. Such is a scientific theory as to sex pre-determination now being checked. A report on a number of couples indicates there may be something to this claim. Those doing the research point out that many powerful fathers have all girl families. As for example, Jack Dempsey and Rocky Marciano, you may ask, "How about Eddie Cantor, father of an all-girl family of five?" At the peak of his career as a parent Eddie was possessed of boundless energy and outstanding physical endurance. Anybody who saw and heard Mr. Cantor singing "If You Knew Susie" in the Ziegfeld Follies will agree to that. In just one rendition of that song Eddie used up as much energy and strength as a boxer does in a 15-round bout. However, even in the case of a physically powerful husband, according to the scientific theory being discussed, measures can be taken against an all-daughter family to acquire a son. This can be done by weakening the father by putting him on a starvation diet. In the case of an all-son family, where the mother is healthier and huskier than her spouse, a daughter may possibly be obtained by putting Mama on a

Says She
"You speak of the innumerable artificial aids to appearance used by women," writes a feminine subscriber. "How about those used by men, such as padded shoulders, built-up heels, girdles and toupees? When women resort to artificial aids they do so intelligently. They really improve and rejuvenate their appearance. When men try to make themselves appear younger, they handle things so stupidly they either look ridiculous or conspicuous or both."

Asking
Queries from clients. Q. On what ship did Prince Rainier sail on his return from the United States just before his marriage to Grace Kelly? A. The Ile De France. Incidentally, I am very fond of that grand old ship. It carried my girl friend and myself safely through the submarine zone at the beginning of World War II. The British ship Athena immediately preceding the "Ile" was sunk by a Nazi submarine. . . Q. Who was featured in the original film version of Rex Beach's novel "The Spoilers"? A. William Farnum, Besse Eytan, Wheeler Oakman and Tom Sanchi. Was produced in 1914. It was the first film shown at the Strand Theater, New York, by the late "Roxy" Rothafel.

Body of Drowned Man Found by Father

Horseshoe Bend, Idaho — (U.P.) — The body of Frank Tucker, 26, Caldwell, Ida., one of two men drowned when their canvas canoe overturned June 19 in the Payette river, was found Friday by his father.

The discovery was made by Frank L. Tucker Sr. of Portland, Ore., who came to Idaho to aid in the search for his son.

Boise County Sheriff John Williams, in whose jurisdiction the accident occurred, reported the discovery.

The younger Tucker and Hans Hoss, 24, Nampa, Idaho, disappeared when their boat overturned as they attempted to "shoot" some rapids in the river above Banks. Hoss' body was recovered a week later at a power dam near here, some 16 miles downstream from the accident.

Ceylon May Establish Relations with Reds
London — (U.P.) — Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike said Saturday Ceylon will "very soon" establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and Communist China.

At the same time, the Ceylonese Prime Minister told a press conference, "We will welcome any further aid from the United States—without strings."

RECALL CAPTAIN
Washington — (U.P.) — The Navy has recalled Capt. Finn Ronne, antarctic explorer, to active duty to command an antarctic station to be built next winter in connection with international geophysical year studies.
