PIERCE, FRIEND HILL PICKS FOR ALL-STAR

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Sports Writer
Washington (U.P.)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees will start in Tuesday's All-Star baseball game, and the starting pitchers will be Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Bob Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mantle's status and the identity of the starting pitchers were cleared up today at a joint American-National League news conference.

Earl Hilligan, American league public relations director, said that "as of now" Mantle definitely will start in center field for the American league All-Stars. There had been doubt Mantle could start because of an injury to his right knee suffered in the first game of the Fourth of July doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox.

Hilligan said that Casey Stengel, manager of the American league All-Stars and of the New York Yankees, will watch Mantle warm up before game time Tuesday.

Friend Feels Okay
"If Mickey seems okay, he will go," Hilligan said. "If not, Jimmy Piersall of the Boston Red Sox will start in center field. But as of now, Mantle is the starting center fielder."

There also had been some doubt about Friend being able to appear in the game. But Dave Grote of the National League Service Bureau said that he had talked to Friend by telephone this morning and "he feels fine." Robin Roberts of the Phillies appeared to be in line if Friend had been unavailable.

Friend will be the first Pittsburgh pitcher ever to start an All-Star game.

Stengel also disclosed that his own No. 1 southpaw, Whitey Ford probably would succeed Pierce on the mound for the American leaguers and that still another southpaw, Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians, would follow Ford.

Saw Heavy Duty
The National League counted on a well-rested pitching staff to win Tuesday's classic at Griffith Stadium. The National League has won five of the last six games.

Five of the eight American League All-Star pitchers saw heavy duty in Sunday's games. But only one National league pitcher was used.

The National league encountered unexpected complications when Bob Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates was sent to his hotel room in New York to rest following treatment for an abscessed throat. Friend reported to the Giant-Pirate doubleheader feeling ill and Dr. Anthony Palermo, the Giant team physician examined him, lanced his throat and instructed him to take it easy.

Manager Walter Alston of the NL squad was in the unique position of being the manager of the defending world champions, yet without a single member of his team in the starting lineup.

Five Redlegs Start
The exuberant fans of Cincinnati took care of that, voting in five of their high-flying Redlegs in the balloting in which they were encouraged to vote more than once.

USC, Cal Plastered By League Officials

San Francisco (U.P.)—Pacific Coast conference schools were warned today to have their "self examination" reports in the commissioner's hands by next Sunday in the wake of drastic new fines and bans that just about ruined the West's Rose Bowl chances for the next couple of years.

The PCC faculty representatives plastered a $63,400 fine on University of Southern California Sunday, banned the school from the Rose Bowl for two years and just about wrecked the football team by declaring that 42 of its players lose a year of eligibility.

The University of California was slapped with a $25,000 fine because of illegal aid to athletes given by Head Football Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, and put on a year's probation. "Several" athletes faced loss of a year of eligibility.

The housecleaning isn't through yet. With UCLA out of the bowl for three years and under a $95,000 fine and Washington out for two years and with a $52,000 fine, there still were some other schools who must face the music.

Others Must Prove
The organization hasn't received the reports yet on Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State and Stanford. Idaho is ineligible for the Rose Bowl.

But in a tersely worded statement, the faculty representatives indicated the other schools must prove everything is on the up-and-up to get a clean bill of health.

Both the USC and California penalties came as a result of findings turned over to the PCC by UCLA after it was given its severe slap. But the rap on USC was rugged.

"We found that 44 athletes, two of whom were from the track and field squad, were receiving $45 a month above the $75 allowed by the PCC code," said Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt.

The violation at California amounted to only $1,713.40, but it involved 29 student athletes. Most of this money was in the form of "loans" to the athletes, and the athletes have been declared ineligible, but can be reinstated by repaying the loans.

California, however, was not banned from possible Rose Bowl participation and will share in the Rose Bowl receipts.

Marv Clark Southwest Golf Champ

Coos Bay (U.P.)—Marv Clark, a 52-year-old veteran amateur golfer from Grants Pass yesterday won the Southwest Oregon Amateur tournament here by unseating Don Bick, 21-year-old defending titlist.

Clark and Bick ended the first nine even up in the 36 hole final match. By the halfway point Clark was 3-up, then increased his lead to 6-up going into the final nine.

Gary Geertsen, Eugene, defeated Don MacPike, Eastmoreland, 4 and 3, to capture first flight honors.

SHANTY I WINNER

Chambers Lodge, Lake Tahoe, Calif. (U.P.)—Shanty I, owned by W. T. Wogner of Phoenix and piloted by Lt. Col. Russ Schlee of Castle AFB, won the 4th annual Mapes gold cup race for unlimited hydroplanes Saturday. Edgar Kaiser's favored Scooter II threw a prop in the last heat and finished second. Kaiser's second entry, Hawaii Kai III, was third.

Burlingame, Calif. (U.P.)—First-seeded Roger Werksman of Los Angeles defeated Rudy Hernandez of Detroit yesterday to win the National Junior Hard-court Tennis Championships for the second year in a row.
