

Ike's Decision To Be Candidate Again Made With Little 'Color'

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press Correspondent
 Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower revealed today, with the least possible fuss and feathers, that he still is a candidate for reelection.

The President's television report to the nation on his health last Feb. 29, was a production number. It was preceded by a news conference announcement that he would run again. And, that, too had a preliminary buildup for which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty can take a bow.

As the day of public decision approached last February, tension increased around the White House. Hagerty and other aides almost gloomily said they didn't know the answer to the big question and they weren't laughing when they said it, either.

Gloom Now Gone
 It is fair to say that there wasn't much if any anxiety or tension among the White House staff after results of Mr. Eisenhower's operation became known. All or most of them had that gone feeling in their stomachs for a few hours when the chances were as good as even, anyway, that the President's abdominal obstruction was malignant.

There was no malignancy, and relaxed now is the word best to describe the White House crew. They have no doubt the President can win.

The United Press was informed that Mr. Eisenhower would resume a full pre-operation schedule on his return from Panama on July 23 or 24. That will include a daily calling list and the usual White House business, subject to the doctor's orders for a brief mid-day rest.

Nehru Incident Recalled
 The Panama journey to a meeting of heads of Pan American states fits into the White House strategy of public evidence of the President's ability to carry on. Barring the incident of Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's cancelled visit to Washington, the reporting of Mr. Eisenhower's illness and convalescence seems to have been complete. The Nehru incident may have been on the up and up, too, but there are some who have doubts.

The public was told that Nehru cancelled his plans to come to Washington after Mr. Eisenhower's operation. There are some indications that he was maneuvered into the cancellation by the State Department but politely accepted responsibility for it himself. As it lies, Nehru and not Mr. Eisenhower is responsible for cancelling one of the President's vital foreign affairs engagements. That could be important in a presidential campaign in which the Democratic party will pound hard at the issue of Mr. Eisenhower's health and the chance that he may not complete a second term, if elected.

Rogue River Man's Car Falls in River

Grants Pass—A Rogue River man who tried to help a lady motorist in distress wound up as the real victim of a series of events at Savage Rapids dam yesterday.

State police said James Bailey of Rogue River tried to aid Leah Wood of Grants Pass in getting her automobile back on the highway. She had driven down a steep grade along an old trail made during rehabilitation of Savage Rapids dam to avoid a collision on Highway 99.

Bailey's vehicle became lodged on a high center and he was trying to free it by jacking up the wheels on one side. The car tumbled into the river in deep water just above the dam, police said.

NOW IT'S LEGAL

Washington—(U.P.)—The House passed a bill Monday giving District of Columbia commissioners formal authority to maintain order during the inauguration of the President in January of next year.

JAPAN SHIPPING RISES

Tokyo—(U.P.)—Japan has climbed to second place in the world's shipbuilding industry, second only to Great Britain, the Japanese Transportation Ministry claimed today. The ministry said Japanese shipbuilders are enjoying an unprecedented boom and now have a backlog of orders totaling 3,380,000 gross tons.

Birds have a third eyelid or membrane which not only aids in keeping the eyeball moist, but also serves as a shade in strong light through which the bird can still see.

PRISONER OF LOVE

Los Angeles—(U.P.)—Bernice McMeans, 52, mild-mannered owner of a coffee shop, sought a court restraining order today against his wife, Johnnie, 39. McMeans said he feared his husky wife, a machine operator, might beat him up. She threatened to work him over when he told her he wanted a divorce, he said.

New Teachers Named At Ashland Schools

Ashland—Dr. Howard Balderson, newly appointed superintendent of Ashland public schools, has announced the appointment of six high school and four elementary teachers in the Ashland school district.

Secondary teachers added to the staff at the junior and senior high schools are Bruce Bray, elementary music supervisor from Albany; Miss Eleanor Robinson, junior high girls physical education instructor from Illinois; Gerald Eurick, commercial teacher recently graduated from Lewis and Clark college; Miss Lenise Christopher, from Albany; Harry Wright, science instructor from Ontario; and Robert Palmer, English and social studies instructor recently graduated from Lewis and Clark college.

New teachers in the elementary schools include Mrs. Mary Myrick of Ashland who has taught before in Ashland schools; Neil Richardson, a 1956 Southern Oregon college graduate; Jean Lindstrom, also a SOC graduate; and Miss Carol Legg who previously taught in Umatilla county.

QUICK FRECKLED HAND

Los Angeles—(U.P.)—Ronald H. Passoe, 25, a real estate investor, told police all he knew about the man who robbed him Monday was that he had a freckled hand. Passoe said all he saw of the robber was the hand that grabbed $1,063 in cash while the other hand held a knife to Passoe's neck as he sat at his desk.
