

Two-Headed Calf With Double Moo Romps Briskly in North Carolina Farm Pasture

Sparta, N. C. —(U.P.)— A two-headed Hereford calf began its 15th day of life with a double moo today and then took a brisk romp around the pasture.

Dr. O. M. Fulcher, the veterinarian who has been keeping a close watch on the registered heifer, took a second look and said, "It has every chance of living longer than any other two-headed calf I've ever heard about."

Little Princess Fay Helman was born unassisted June 28. She has two perfect mouths, two perfect noses, four eyes and two ears.

"She walked backwards for the first couple of days," owner Mrs. Howard T. Lyon of High Point, N. C., said, "because her head was so heavy."

"But now she just romps and plays around the pasture like all other calves."

Double Life

Little Princess lives a double life of Riley. She is fed three times a day. She just opens each mouth, mooms twice . . . that is double mooms . . . and she is given a ginger ale bottle full of milk in one mouth and a Coca Cola bottle of milk in the other.

Little Princess was sired by B. S. Helman II out of Princess Fay Domino. The mother produced three normal calves before giving birth to Little Princess.

Fulcher said he is "amazed."

"I thought it would die soon after birth, but this is past the 14th day and I don't know of another two-headed calf that has lived longer," Fulcher said.

Fulcher said the heifer is perfect except for the two center eyes.

"It could see out of all four eyes when it was born, but the two center eyes have died . . . I think from pressure," he said.

One Brain

The veterinarian said the calf has "one functional brain" because it mooms from both mouths and when one eye blinks the other must blink.

Fulcher said he believed a

"gene mutation" is responsible for the two heads. A gene is one of thousands of units that determine the characteristics of any offspring.

Mrs. Harrison Lyon, whose husband is taking care of Little Princess on his farm here for Mrs. Howard Lyon, said people in Allegheny County are seeing double.

"At least 2,000 people have come to see her," she said. "She romps and plays and frisks around and none of the other livestock pay her much mind."

Mrs. Howard Lyon said she has received several offers for Little Princess but that she is undecided whether to sell.

"She was so cute when she opened both mouths and moomed at me," Mrs. Lyon said. "And you ought to see her gobble the milk from the pop bottles."

EYE WITNESS—Philip E. Siggers Jr. (above), 29, son of a prominent Washington, D. C., attorney, is shown in the San Francisco Hall of Justice where he was booked "on suspicion of aiding and abetting a suicide" in the case of Mrs. Oleta Farnham. He admitted he sat by her side as she killed herself, then "kissed her goodbye" as she died.

Coffee Drinking Boycott Urged

New York —(U.P.)— The president of a New York coffee processing company today urged consumers to "stop drinking coffee, as the best way to curb rising coffee prices."

With prices at their highest since the peaks of 1954, William Black said "there isn't a thing we can do about it, except to stop drinking coffee."

The head of Chock Full O' Nuts Coffee corp. said present prices don't reflect supply and demand. He pointed to Agriculture Department reports that the current crop of foreign grown coffee beans which U.S. roasters depend on will top 50,000,000 bags, "the largest on record."

Black said "All the South American countries have to do is hold back their supplies, and we have to pay whatever they ask—through the nose."

His statement recalled vigorous protests and boycotts instituted by American consumers when coffee price tags soared to 1954 peaks. Trade sources believe that the outcry and resulting lower demand were factors in pulling prices down from their highs.

McMinnville Editor Campaign Chairman

McMinnville —(U.P.)— The editor of the McMinnville Daily News-Register, Phil Bladine, yesterday was named chairman of the state committee of State Sen. Carl H. Francis of Dayton, Republican candidate for attorney general.

Francis will face Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton,

Democrat incumbent, in the November election.

Bladine said he and Francis are agreed that the campaign will be waged solely on the issues. Bladine has been identified with Republican party affairs for many years and resigned as chairman of the Yamhill Republican central committee a few weeks ago.

MAIL DELAYED

New Castle, Ind. —(U.P.)— Two fire companies rushed out on a false alarm Wednesday because someone couldn't mail a letter.

A painter said he saw an unidentified man struggling to get a letter into a fire alarm box. The man walked off, still carrying the letter, before the fire engines arrived.

275 New Cases of Polio Reported

Washington —(U.P.)— The Public Health Service said today that 275 new cases of polio were reported in the nation last week, sharply less than the 405 cases reported in the comparable week of 1955.

The new bases boosted this year's total so far to 2,931. At the same time last year the figure was 4,111.

At this time of the year, polio cases usually swing up sharply each week. But last week there were only 17 more cases than the week before.

Although the total number of polio cases is running considerably behind last year, the paralytic rate is only down slightly. There have been 1,528 cases so far this year compared to 1,652 at the same time last year.

Authorities said there is no way of measuring what effect Salk polio vaccinations are having on this year's rate. However, they feel certain inoculations will prevent several thousand cases.

Researcher Denies Communist Ties

Los Angeles —(U.P.)— Mrs. Elizabeth Poe Kerby says a statement before the House Un-American Activities Committee that she was active in a Communist group was "absolutely nonsense."

Mrs. Kerby was associated with John Cogley in making a study financed by the Fund for the Republic on show business blacklisting. The report had accused New York newspaperman Frederick Woltman of being a "clearance" man for the entertainment industry.

Woltman denied the charge and testified before the committee that Elizabeth Poe was "very active in the Communist group" in the American Newspaper Guild while a Time magazine employee. Mrs. Kerby married Phil Kerby, editor of Frontier magazine, after leaving Time magazine in 1953.

Mrs. Kerby declared Wednesday that "Mr. Woltman's statement is absolute nonsense."

"It is interesting to note that Mr. Woltman, even behind congressional immunity, does not say I am a Communist. He knows I never have been one."

San Diego Clue In Kidnap Studied

San Diego —(U.P.)— The FBI said today it was checking a police report that the kidnaped Weinberger baby was brought here from Chicago on an air liner by an unidentified woman.

Police, however, said they doubted if the baby was Peter Weinberger who was kidnaped from his Westbury, N. Y., home July 4. Officers referred the report to the FBI after Mrs. Gladys Conley told them a woman left a baby in her care for a few minutes after arriving here Wednesday at the airport.

Mrs. Conley, an airport employee, said the woman left the child "between three and six weeks old" with her while she made a telephone call. Mrs. Conley said the woman came back and got the baby a few minutes later and drove off in a car with a man.

Officers said Mrs. Conley failed to identify the child as Peter Weinberger after being shown pictures of the missing infant.

Catholic Daughters Protest Attire

Portland —(U.P.)— The Catholic Daughters of America were on record today in protest against what they called the increasing immodesty of women's attire; the opening of supermarkets and service stations on Sunday; and the distribution of sexy magazines "and other indecent literature."

Delegates to the national convention here adopted a resolution yesterday agreeing to "influence other women for a possible restoration of modesty in speech, action, styles, thought, literature and advertising."

A spokesman for the order said this resolution was a reflection of the Catholic church's concern about increasing immodesty of women's dress and behavior.

Another resolution placed the organization on record as favoring local level efforts to stop circulation of sexy magazines "and other indecent literature."

And still another resolution urged the Daughters to express in writing to theater managers their disapproval of bad movies and approval of good movies.

The convention was scheduled to close today with election and installation of supreme officers.

Flood Insurance Program Approved

Washington —(U.P.)— The House Banking committee today approved a bill calling for a $3,000,000,000 government sponsored flood insurance program.

The measure and a companion Senate-passed bill would provide up to $250,000 insurance for businesses and a maximum of $100,000 on any one home.

Under the House bill, business would pay 60 per cent of the premiums and the federal government 40 per cent. The government would decide what it would pay on home insurance.

Under the Senate measure, federal and state governments would share 40 per cent of the cost.

The administration recommended an "experimental" federal flood insurance program after last year's disastrous floods in New England and the Far West. The idea is to provide low cost insurance for flood victims who generally cannot afford high priced private flood insurance.
