

Governor Proposes Cal Loop; PCC Presidents Meet Tuesday

By ED CAPPS
Sacramento, Calif. — (U.P.) — Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has suggested that California's major universities pull out of the Pacific Coast conference and form a state sports conference of their own.

The governor, obviously fired by recent disciplinary actions in the PCC, said the "whole ivory tower business raises the hackles on my red-blooded American neck."

"I am wondering if it might not be a good plan to consider the forming of a California conference, leaving out the two universities in Washington and the two in Oregon and the one in Idaho," he added.

Meanwhile, PCC officials in Los Angeles submitted a full report of its disciplinary action against west coast schools to the NCAA, governing body of intercollegiate athletics.

And President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California, and chairman of the PCC's council of presidents, announced that conference presidents have agreed to a special meeting next Tuesday to reconsider fines and penalties against schools charged with violating the conference codes.

Knight said that the fact that the University of California at Berkeley apparently has accepted the conference penalties without a struggle complicates the situation "very badly."

However, he admitted that as governor he has no power to reverse Sproul's acceptance of fines against the University of California and UCLA, and has "absolutely no jurisdiction over the PCC."

Report Requested
PCC Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said the NCAA has requested a report on penalties assessed against UCLA and Washington, but will also receive reports on California and Southern California, which were penalized later.

NCAA regulations call for all aid to athletes to be administered by the university. The conference found in the cases of UCLA, Southern California, Washington and California certain aid was not handled by the schools but either by outside booster groups or athletic officials personally.

The governor had no criticism of the boosters clubs.

"These present-day booster clubs have been composed of all the community leaders with whom the professors fraternize and the community leaders from whom they ask school financial support," Knight said.

"I played rugby football at Stanford when the game was much smaller and the public interest much less," he added.

"However, I can assure you that if some prominent alumnus had approached me with an offer of modest assistance in my tuition or expenses, I would have told them that this prominent alumnus was a man of character and standing in the community — and that this proposition had the tacit approval of those in authority."

And Another Thing . . .
Attacking another conference order of recent years, Knight said the rule that prohibits a school going to the Rose Bowl two successive years is "unrealistic and unworkable."

Last Sunday PCC faculty representatives fined Southern California the equivalent of $63,400 and barred the Trojans from the Rose Bowl for two years, and fined California $25,000 and placed the school on a year's probation.

Last May, the group fined UCLA the equivalent of $93,000 and barred the Bruins from the Rose Bowl for three years. All Bruin teams were barred from winning a conference championship or participating in division, conference or NCAA championship events.

Washington was fined the equivalent of $52,000, barred from the Rose Bowl for two years, and its teams were also barred from championship play. Athletic sources said that the NCAA normally accepts deci-

Sacramento, Calif. — (U.P.) — Gov. Goodwin J. Knight said today he believed the Rose Bowl pact between the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences should be scrapped unless they agree to send their best team to the New Year's classic.

Chuck Taylor Takes Issue With Knight

Stanford, Calif. — (U.P.) — Stanford football coach Chuck Taylor today defended the present composition of the Pacific Coast conference in taking issue with Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's "break of the conference" suggestion.

Knight, taking note of the heavy penalties levied against the two Southern California members of the conference, UCLA and USC, for violation of the PCC code, said Thursday night he believed a new conference should be formed. He proposed a new conference made up exclusively of California schools.

"I don't think a California only conference would be feasible," Taylor said. "And regardless of what the final outcome of the PCC problems will be, I feel sure the conference will be able to field a representative team for the Rose Bowl game."

Tigers, Pointers Score Pee Wee League Triumphs

Central Point and Medford Tigers strengthened their respective holds on No. 1 and No. 2 spots in the pee wee baseball loop yesterday.

A three-run third inning made the difference in a 4 to 1 CP win over Eagle Point. The Tigers went an extra inning for the one run which was the margin of difference in a 3 to 2 nod over the Medford Wildcats.

Lee Vincent drove in two runs with a three-bagger for Central Point in the third. Alvarez, pitching a four-hitter for CP, fanned 12 batters and walked none. Geren and Weidman, combining for a three-hit game, whiffed eight Central Point batters and walked seven.

The Wildcats were a big threat in their tussle although pitcher Jerry Piland of the Tigers held them to one hit, a single by Steve Isaacs in the second inning. A single, a stolen base and a fielder's option were used by the Tigers in the sixth inning to get the winning run.

Ashland took its first win and handed Central Point its second loss Wednesday in the intermediate league. Five runs in the first inning did the trick. Two hits, including a three-baser, four walks and an error were used.

Frank Stranahan Leader in LaBatt

Boischatel, Que. — (U.P.) — Muscular Frank Stranahan, the glamor boy of golf, said today he would gladly settle for three more rounds like his five-under par 67 that topped the field after the first round of fourth annual $26,800 LaBatt Open tournament.

The handsome 33-year-old Toledo, Ohio, heir to spark plug millions broke the competitive course record of 68 set by Henry Martel of Edmonton, Alta., in the Canadian Open PGA tournament on this picturesque, par 35-37-72, 6,525 yard Royal Quebec course—the second oldest in North America.

One Stroke Ahead
His 33-34-67 card, however, was only good for a one-stroke lead with three other swingers threatening with 68s—veterans Stan Leonard of LaChute, Que., Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and young pro Bill Casper Jr. of Chula Vista, Calif.

Another trio was only two strokes off the pace—tempestuous Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., 46-year-old Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and young Bud Holscher, the first winner of the LaBatt tourney in 1953.
