Mrs. L. F.—I love my husband but want to leave him.

Mrs. D. M.—My sister is acting like a 14-year-old.

Mrs. L. F.—I have been married for 12 years to a man I love dearly, yet with whom I have never been romantically in love. He is a wonderful person and adores me and has always been the soul of kindness to me and our two children.

He courted me for four years before I married him. I resisted because I could simply never see him in a romantic light and finally agreed to marry him because I felt I would never find anyone so fine and devoted to me. The more I know him the more I realize I have chosen an exceptionally wonderful husband, but I can't get over my desire for a romantic love affair and several times during the past years I have been strongly attracted to various men of our acquaintance, none of them. I must admit, on a level with my husband.

Now, at last I have found someone who returns my feeling and we want to marry. I have been so happy since I met this man I am fairly walking on air all the time, and everyone says I look like a changed person. He has never been married and longs to make a home for me and the children. I just don't know how to break it to my husband.

Grange

Phoenix Grange met Tuesday, July 10. Master Melvin Lattie called the meeting to order at 8 p.m.

During the lecturer's program Jake Arnold gave an interesting account of the trip he and Mrs. Arnold made recently through California. Of special interest were his remarks concerning orchards. The trees are planted closer together than in Oregon and were thrifty with much foliage, necessitating the use of smaller tractors and spray rigs. He said they do not practice thinning and have two pickings instead of one, as in Oregon.

Arnold said proper thinning is what makes larger, more uniform and better quality fruit. They also visited Sutter where gold was first discovered in California. From there they went down through Yuba City and Marysville where they saw many signs of last winter's flood. Great piles of sand where once had been orchards, refrigerators and other furniture and appliances damaged beyond repair still lying around in the yards. Much repair work had been done to homes but still lots to do.

Community singing followed Arnold's talk. A humorous skit, Dec Hendrickson taking the part of the "Farmer" who out-smarted the "City Slicker," who was portrayed by Harold Denmore.

Lecturer Hendrickson announced the program for the meeting July 24 would be in charge of the Recreation committee, Mrs. Al Floyd, chairman.

Chaplain Gertrude Lewin reported Brother Col. Dudley improved and convalescing at home. It was also reported Mrs. Al Floyd suffered a badly cut thumb while assisting at the SOS dinner served Monday at the Grange hall.

The annual Grange picnic will be held at the Melvin Lattie home on Phoenix road, Sunday, July 15, at 12 noon. The Grange will furnish coffee and ice cream. The meat and main dish to be furnished by the committee consisting of the Latties, Mervin Hixons, Irvin Pattons, Mark Pattons, Christine Dinmore and Mona Ferns.

All Phoenix Grange members and their families are invited, and members of other Granges wishing to attend will be welcome. Those attending bring salads, desserts and table service.

At the close of the meeting cherry pie and coffee was served by the Hartleys, De Groot and Drakes.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Correspondent

Hollywood — (U.P.) — What is it like to ride on a crippled airplane? Glen Ford told today how he lived through such an experience — on his first "and last" flight.

Ford recently was working in Japan on the MGM location of "The Teahouse of The August Moon." But when the heavy dew got too much for the movie company, the order came for everybody to pack their kimonos and go home.

The actor had traveled to Japan by boat. He prefers slower transportation "because my father was a Canadian Pacific Railroad man and I've always liked boats and trains. Why be in a hurry?"

Plane Trip Ordered But MGM ordered him to take a plane back because already delays on the picture had sent the budget soaring.

"We left Honolulu and were past the 'point of no return' when one engine went out," Ford said.

"Then the second engine quit. For five and a half hours we flew on two engines, with the third one heating up. We never knew whether we'd make it until we landed at the airport."

"But it wasn't like 'The High and The Mighty.' That is, people didn't talk to each other or get involved. All I could think about was how to conduct myself if the plane had to ditch in the water. You don't have too much time to think over your life."

Passengers Silent "The plane was absolutely quiet except for one woman crying. Nobody said a word. You know the whole thing is in the hands of the man flying the plane and you develop a great deal of respect for the pilot."

Two Coast Guard planes followed the faltering plane. After the landing, Ford thanked the pilot "and I'm sure other passengers did, but otherwise there was no demonstration."

Ford added firmly "I'll never get on another plane for any movie studio!"

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are calling on every family in Central Point, offering a selection of first aid kits for sale. The kits are supplied by Johnson and Johnson, through Ernie Kennedy of the Central Point Pharmacy.

Proceeds from the sales will help finance activities of the organization.
