

'Summer Symphony' Show To Be Held July 19

Flower lovers of the Rogue Valley are looking forward to "Summer Symphony," the tenth annual flower show of the Central Point Garden Club.

The show will be held Thursday, July 19, in the Crater High school cafeteria, North Pacific highway. It will be open to the public from 2 to 9 p.m. Any flower grower in the valley is invited to bring entries.

The show will be held Thursday, July 19, in the Crater High school cafeteria, North Pacific highway. It will be open to the public from 2 to 9 p.m. Any flower grower in the valley is invited to bring entries.

The show is competitive, and therefore entries will be received from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. on Thursday. Late entries will be placed on exhibit in the non-competitive division.

The exhibit is planned for beauty and education, built around four divisions: horticulture, arrangements, junior, and education.

The first section of horticultural specimens will include the following annuals: classes one to 13, single and double asters, single and double petunias, small and large zinnias, sweet peas and any other annual.

Perennials and biennials are listed in classes 14-23 as Shasta and hybrid daisies, hybrid and other delphiniums, phlox, tetra and other snapdragons, Canterbury bells, hibiscus and any other perennial or biennial.

Classes 24 and 25 are for seedling and other dahlias. Single and double tuberous begonias will be shown in classes 26 and 27, and potted tuberous begonias in class 28. The "various lilies, tiger, henry, speciosum and others will be in classes 29 to 32, while any variety of daylily will be shown in class 33. Class 34 will be Japanese iris and classes 35 to 37 will include hybrid tea, grandiflora and floribunda roses.

One of the largest sections expected will be gladioli of all colors in classes 38 to 50. Clematis and other vines will be in classes 51 to 54.

Valley arrangers will be seeking ribbons in the arrangement classes, beginning with class one which features flowers with accessories portraying a title or line of a song.

Other arrangement classes are: class two, "A Summer's Day" in three sections, "At Dawning," "High noon," and "Eventide"; class three, arrangement of the home using accessories; class

Hey Day Next Sunday

Morris dancers, roving dancing groups familiar to all in the days of Shakespeare, will be one of the featured attractions at the annual Bard's Hey Day to be staged Sunday, July 22 in the Shakespearean festival theater in Ashland.

The Morris dancers actually originated long before Shakespeare's time but were still a popular attraction at religious festivals and other community events... during the Bard of Avons day. The dancers, six in number, all men, were accompanied usually by a hobby horse, a maid marion and a fool who added to the merriment and collected pennies thrown by the spectators. The group traveled from village to village competing with other morris dancers at various fairs and festivals. Each group could be identified by the costume they wore, peculiar to the area from whence they came. The dancers who will entertain at the Hey Day will be directed by Art Silva of the festival company.

The Hey Day, an annual pre-season event, is sponsored by the Tudor Guild of the Oregon Shakespearean Festival. Admission is 50¢ for adults, with children under ten admitted free if accompanied by their parents. Tickets are available from any member of the Tudor Guild or at the following places: Festival box office in Ashland, Lawrence's or the First Nat'l Bank in Medford.

The non-competitive division will include commercial exhibits, educational displays, conservation material and exhibits by other clubs.

Under flower show regulations, all horticulture entries must be grown by the exhibitor or have been in his possession at least three months. All flowers and foliage used in arrangement divisions need not be grown by exhibitor, but must be home grown, except materials used in class eight.

Awards will be blue, red and white ribbons. If no entries in a class are worthy of an award in the opinion of the judges, none will be given. Only one entry in any class by an exhibitor is permitted. Uniform containers will be furnished for horticulture classes, but exhibitors must furnish containers for arrangement classes with their names on the undersides. No entries may be removed from the show until 9 p.m. Thursday.

Show chairman is Mrs. C. W. Anhorn, telephone NO 4-1379. Committee chairmen are: schedule, Mrs. Gaston Floux and Mrs. Lloyd Seymour; staging, Mrs. L. C. Gordon and Mrs. Charles Jantzer; entries, Mrs. R. D. Kay; classifications, Mrs. W. B. Kincaid and Mrs. John Holmer; judges, Mrs. Ernest Jermark; corsages, Mrs. Ralph Hixson; hospitality, Mrs. Frances Russell; publicity, Mrs. W. I. Sutherland and tea, Mrs. Bert Elliott.

Meeting July 25
The Central Point Jayettes will meet July 25 at the home of Mrs. Homer Billings, 1025 Oak street, Central Point.

Their last meeting, at the home of Mrs. Melvin Anhorn, Arnold lane, Medford, Mrs. C. F. Grigsby from the Hawkins Ceramic studio demonstrated how to make ceramics.

The members planned their next project to be the donation of books to the Central Point library. The library is in need of books of all kinds, especially those for children.

Brunch Held
Mrs. D. N. Fraysher, 2035 Sunset drive, was hostess to some 25 members of the Royal Neighbors for a doughnut and coffee brunch at her home July 11 at 10 a.m.

Guests included Mrs. Fraysher's sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Hill and daughter, Miss Eva Hill; Mrs. Fraysher's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Fraysher and four daughters, Miss Dorina and Miss Sharon Fraysher.

Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. Thomas Mee assisted Mrs. Fraysher.

Low Calorie Fish Bake
Can gourmet cooking and low calories ever meet in the same recipe? They not only meet but marry in this special fish bake.

During the day, put out a package of haddock, cod or sole fillet to defrost. At your convenience make a sauce of 1 chopped onion, sauted in butter until tender, to which is added 1 can concentrated tomato soup, 1 teaspoon A-1 sauce, 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard and pinches of thyme, basil, sugar, pepper (to taste). Simmer sauce 5 minutes. Pour over filets in a flat casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

Chicken Gravy
Cream of chicken soup, right from the can (undiluted) makes smooth, delicious chicken gravy. Bake or broil chicken parts in the oven or broiler of your gas range. When done, lift the chicken pieces from the pan and keep warm while you stir soup into the pan drippings. Add 1/4 cup of sherry if you wish. When the mixture bubbles, gravy is ready to serve.

Applesauce Bread Pudding
Crisp up one cup stale diced bread by putting it into a frying pan with a little butter and brown sugar and cook, stirring constantly. Add an equal amount of applesauce. Have it hot. Serve with cream, whipped or not, or with ice cream.

Help Yourself to Happiness

Readers are invited to present their problems to this column. All queries will receive individual attention and should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, directed to MARY HARRIS SIEFERT, Department of Education, AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF FAMILY RELATIONS, 527 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles 27, California.

How To Measure & Increase Your H. Q. (Happiness Quotient)

"I wish Jim could see what a sour puss he really is," sighs Marge. "I'd like him better, and he'd like himself more, if he could get wise to himself—and do something about it."

"How happy am I?" "Am I as happy as other people?" "Can I increase my capacity for happiness?" Everyone has asked himself these questions at one time or another.

Happiness is the element most desired in the world—yet it is the most difficult to define, to judge, and to shape at will. The most efficient way to measure it is by personality tests, which are often used in psychological counseling, in occupational aptitude tests, and in socio-adjustment profiles. Many such tests have been devised. To be truly significant, they must be based upon findings of a large group and be administered by advisors trained in interpreting their scores.

Happiness, according to modern psychology, is man's ability to get along with himself and the people around him, to live with or without material which contribute both to his emotional and physical well-being. In short, happiness is man's ability to adjust simultaneously to his inner being and his outer world.

What is your happiness quotient? Try yourself, just for fun, on this brief test, from the American Institute of Family Relations:

1. Do you think people are basically honest?
2. Do you expect to be as happy 10 years from now as today?
3. Do you prefer to give gifts rather than receive them?
4. Do you enjoy gossip?
5. Does anyone hate you?
6. Are you often blamed for things you have not done?
7. Do you daydream?
8. Do you enjoy being in large groups?
9. Are you homely?
10. Are you a worry-er?
11. Do you have frequent up-and-down moods?
12. Do you think yourself attractive?
13. Do you lose your temper?
14. Do you find it hard to speak in public, especially if your opinions differ from those of the group?
