The statement was issued in reply to a report from Rome quoting Rainier's American chaplain, Father Francis Tucker, as having told Pope Pius XII that he had no reason to deny that Princess Grace was pregnant and that the news "will be announced soon officially."

The legation cautioned that the statement was neither a confirmation nor a denial of this latest of the many rumors that Grace is expecting a child.

Roundtable Discusses Off-Street Parking

C. O. Lovejoy, chairman of the Retail Merchant's Association of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, discussed proposals for an off-street parking program at the chamber roundtable yesterday noon at the Jackson hotel.

The committee, composed of members of the merchant's association, studied proposals for the parking program. The plan, he said, called for the added taxation of $20,000 a year, two different sets of taxpayers, all who are connected with, or would profit by, off-street parking.

Business men in the downtown area, according to Lovejoy, are now taxed approximately $20,000 a year by the state business license tax. Lovejoy stated that the same business men are willing to be taxed another $20,000 if they could be sure both amounts would be taken from the city's general fund and applied to off-street parking.

According to the plan, property owners in the downtown area also would be taxed $20,000 for the off-street parking fund, Lovejoy said. He indicated property owners agree to the proposal.

Lovejoy added that additional taxations would amount to $60,000 a year and after 10 years provide the off-street parking fund with $600,000, an amount the mayor's parking committee said would be needed, he said.

He also said Director of Public Works Vern Thorpe and City Manager Robert Duff indicated it was a "fair price."

Lovejoy commented that after 10 years were up and the projects had been completed, the off-street parking area would become the property of the city.

He said this was the same as giving it to the city and said he couldn't understand why the city council turned down the proposal.

The committee's plan, Lovejoy said, did not suggest any particular lots but would call for appointment of parking authorities to meet with the city manager, director of public works and mayor, to decide locations. He said the committee had considered topping part of the railroad track area for parking use.

Annual Increase
Lovejoy explained that the council should have no difficulty in allotting the $20,000 from the general fund because of the
