

PCC To Consider Easing Grid Penalties Against Seniors; President Calls for Review

By SCOTT BAILLIE
San Francisco—(U.P.)—UCLA's Ronnie Knox and Southern California's Jon Arnett, two of some 80 players facing banishment from Pacific Coast Conference football on charges of accepting illegal handouts, may be back in the lineup after all next September.

Apparently yielding to pressure exerted by those two powerhouse schools, who suddenly turned up with Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in their rooting section, the PCC voted Tuesday to consider easing penalties invoked against all seniors in the recent crackdown for code violations.

Knight suggested last Thursday that the four California schools abandon the PCC and form their own group.

The code itself which was attacked as unrealistic by the Trojans and Bruins, comes up for examination at an undisclosed place on Sept. 18.

Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, chairman of the PCC's presidents council which called for a review of all penalties at Tuesday's crucial session, said the group will convene "to discuss possible revision of the code," on that date.

President Fred D. Fagg Jr. of Southern California, who requested Tuesday's special session, urged behind closed doors that all sanctions against athletes be suspended immediately pending a revision of the code.

He announced later through his university that the conference turned him down, 6-2, with UCLA joining the Trojans in favor of the motion.

However, this was followed by the decision to consider "ameliorating" penalties against seniors in certain cases.

Sproul said such action will be discussed on Aug. 8 in the third day of a three-day meeting at Berkeley, Calif., but warned that the amnesty only would be possible where seniors are involved.

Reprieves might be granted, Sproul said, after the faculty representative and presidents had decided whether measures taken by the schools against coaches and their staffs "who may have failed to discharge their responsibility" were "effective."

Sproul agreed to a reporter's question that such measures might consist of dismissal of an entire staff but he did not elaborate.

Waldorf Reprimanded
Coach Lynn Waldorf of California was reprimanded by the university on July 9 after the Bears were fined $25,000 by the conference for loans he had made to members of his squad. To date he is the only coach to be chastised.

As matters now stand, the faculty representatives who hand out the penalties will meet in Berkeley Aug. 6 to study reports of the current "self-examination."

tions' each school has been ordered to conduct.

After two days of discussion, there will be a joint meeting with the council on Aug. 8 where all penalties will be reviewed along with the matter of senior amnesty and measures taken by schools against errant coaches.

Sproul said this review will "take in the whole picture," which presumably would include checking penalties which have banned USC, UCLA and Washington from the Rose Bowl for periods of two to three years. The bowl was not discussed Tuesday, he said.

Sproul declared that the scheduled August meeting reaffirms the council's instructions that the faculty members consider all past penalties and be sure they are fair.

There were three junior girls and seven girls entries.

Duke Snider Scraps With Redleg Fan

Cincinnati—(U.P.)—Duke Snider's fistie exchange with a Cincinnati fan in which two false teeth were broken and both parties wound up in police court, was the latest episode involving the Brooklyn Dodgers today in their most hectic road trip in years.

Snider became involved with the fan, Ralph Baumeil, 33-year-old electrician from Mason, Ohio, as the teams were leaving the field Tuesday night after Cincinnati beat Brooklyn, 4-3.

The fan approached and allegedly asked the Dodger center fielder— "What's the matter Duke—haven't you any guts."

"Yes, I'll show you who has guts," Snider allegedly replied. Baumeil charged Snider called him a name, whereupon he was reported to have swung and grazed Duke's nose. Snider, in turn, delivered a punch and Baumeil suffered two broken teeth in his dental plate.

Separated
Joe Becker, Dodger pitching coach, who was nearby stepped in and separated the pair before any more punches could be thrown.

Both Becker and outfielder Carl Furillo were close enough to hear all of the conversation and said the fan accosted Snider without provocation.

"The guy took a swing at Duke," Furillo said. "Duke swung back and that's all there was to it."

But that wasn't all there was to it as far as the police were concerned. They took both Snider and Baumeil to the police station.

Snider pressed assault and battery charges and was released on $300 bail and was to have a hearing in court early today. He filed counter charges against Snider and said he would "sue for plenty."

Snider also was ordered to appear. He was served with a "notice of arrest."

Channel Catfish For Devils Lake

Portland —(U.P.)— Following the chemical treatment of Devils lake in Lincoln county scheduled for tomorrow, the lake will be restocked with trout and salmon and a prized species of warm-water fish, the Oregon State Game Commission said today.

The warm-water species scheduled for the restocking of Devils lake is the channel catfish.

The game commission said it hopes warm-water anglers will accept the channel catfish as a welcome substitute for the perch destroyed in the rehabilitation program planned for the lake.
