Formed Oregon Man Found Decapitated

San Bernardino, Calif.—(UPI)—The decapitated body of a 40-year-old junk and salvage man was found yesterday on the Santa Fe railroad tracks near Redlands.

The coroner said the victim, Lewis E. Ford, apparently was hit by a westbound freight. He lived in a hut next to the tracks. A clipping found in his wallet indicated Ford was a former resident of Willamina, Ore.

Berkeley, Calif.—(UPI)—The private library of a former University of California regent, James K. Moffitt, presented to the university in June, contains 5,000 volumes valued at more than $75,000. The first dated edition of Horace, printed in Milan, Italy, in 1474, the only known copy in the United States, is among 225 books printed in the 15th century in the collection.
