Gladiolus Parade Saturday at Grants Pass

The Rogue River at Grants Pass, will be the setting for the annual Gladiolus Parade and Festival Saturday, July 26 according to an announcement this week by Don Ward, chairman of the gladiolus commission.

The Festival will feature the parade of "Lighted Pictures" made of gladiolus blooms, which will float down the Rogue in front of the Grants Pass city park. Each picture will be individually lighted by concealed lamps. The parade is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Ward stated.

The Lighted Picture Parade will replace the former street parade which has been held in the morning at Grants Pass for many years.

The Festival will open Saturday at noon in the city park with a gigantic carnival and water sports show and the annual Gladiolus show in which thousands of glad blooms have been entered.

Picnic tables and stoves have been set up under the shade trees along the river bank for those who wish to stay for the afternoon and evening shows. Swimming will be available and a complete playground, including swings and slides, is ready for the children.

Queen Gladys XVI and her Royal Court will preside over all of the festivities and will be escorted to the reviewing stand in the evening by the Royal Gladiolus.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by bands including the Ashland Killite band and the Grants Pass pep ensemble. During the Lighted Picture Parade in the evening, organ music and choral groups will broadcast background music.

The event is open to the public free of charge except the public booths. Those wanting to play the games will be charged a nominal fee. All booths are sponsored and manned by local organizations.

The Festival will start at 12 noon Saturday, and continue until midnight.

Mission School Starts Monday At Ashland

The second annual School of Missions and Christian Service will open Monday, in Susanne Homes hall on the campus of Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland. The school is sponsored by the Oregon Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, and will offer training in the four study books to be used in the local societies this coming year. Delegates from the entire state will be in attendance.

The two interdenominational books which will be studied are: "Mission Field, U.S.A.," taught by Mrs. E. V. Hamblen, Portland; and "The Church in Southeast Asia," taught by Dr. Dorcas Hall, executive secretary of the section of education and cultivation, Methodist Woman's division, New York city. Dr. Gertrude Boyd Crane, member of the faculty of Pacific university, Forest Grove, will teach the study "Paul's Letters to Local Churches"; and Mrs. Wayne Stauffer, conference secretary of Christian Social Relations, Eugene, will teach the study "Youth in a Responsible Society, A Christian's Concern."

Mrs. Charles Adamson, Medford, will begin each evening program at 7:30 p.m. with a period of "Adoration Through Music." Following this on Monday evening, Miss Evelyn de Vries, Oregon missionary from Umtali, Southern Rhodesia, will show slides of her work in Africa.

Tuesday evening the group will meet in the City Library, Ashland, to view the film "Ming Mei of Malaya" which is part of the study on Southeast Asia. Miss Cora Mason of Ashland will be in charge. Wednesday evening will feature the presentation of new quadrennial goals by Mrs. Oliver P. Taylor, Medford, who is conference secretary of promotion. This will be followed by a message from Dr. Hall. Thursday evening will be planned especially for the Wesleyan Service Guilds with Dr. Crane as the guest speaker. All interested persons in the community are invited to attend the evening sessions, which will be in the recreation room of Susanne Homes hall on the Ashland campus.

Those planning to attend from Medford include Mrs. Ben Greaser, Mrs. L. M. Minear, Mrs. L. B. Pierce, Mrs. Jennie Lawless, Mrs. A. S. Feller and Mrs. Taylor, who is chairman in charge of arrangements for the school. Mrs. E. M. Tea Planned For Parents Of Kindergarten Children

An informative tea will be given for parents who are interested in enrolling their children in kindergarten now or in the near future. The event will take place at the American Legion Hall, Central Point on July 26 at 2 p.m. The Central Point Lady Lions are sponsoring the tea to give parents an opportunity to learn the operation of the kindergarten and to meet Mrs. C. L. Miller, a certified registered kindergarten teacher, who will teach the classes this fall.

If a child is not eligible to enroll at this time but will be the next year, parents can learn of the benefits the child can gain by attending kindergarten.

George Johns, who will be the principal at the new Central Point elementary school this fall, will also be present to speak to the parents.

Summer pre-registration will follow the tea and a registration fee of $1.00 per child will be required. The American Legion Hall will be open from 10 to 12 a.m. for those that will be unable to attend the tea but wish to register their child. Parents can register for their child as it will not be necessary for the child to be present. The first 30 children enrolled will attend the first fall session. Children will be accepted whose ages are 5 before November 15. The morning class is limited to 30 children but if 50 or more enroll an afternoon session will also be held.
