Foreign Aid, Housing Programs On Agenda as Adjournment Nears

Washington — (U.P.) — Congress began the final week of its current session today with the future of the foreign aid and housing programs the two big issues remaining to be settled.

Leaders of both houses were confident they can wind up the 84th session by the weekend. Thursday night or Friday appeared to be the likely adjournment date, although nothing is ever certain in the hectic closing days of Congress.

The House moved toward a final vote today on the controversial administration civil rights bill, which kept it tied up in debate and parliamentary maneuvering most of last week. But the bill's almost certain passage by the House will mean little since odds are overwhelmingly against the Senate acting on the measure before adjournment.

Aid Bill Next

The Senate turned its attention today to routine legislation. But Tuesday it faces a showdown fight on President Eisenhower's $4,000,000,000 Foreign Aid bill.

The House voted only $3,400,000,000 in foreign aid funds. If the Senate approves a higher figure as expected, the bill must go to a Senate-House conference committee for compromise.

The House Tuesday takes up a controversial Senate-passed bill calling for a $400,000,000 program of government - built atomic power reactors. It also is headed for a fight over whether Congress should have "veto" power over the Pentagon when the latter wants to close down a military commercial or industrial activity.

Housing Battle Looms

The battle over housing remains another important stumbling block to possible adjournment. The House is expected to act this week on an administration bill which, among other things, authorizes only 35,000 public housing units. The Senate is expected to stick by its own bill calling for 135,000 units and to insist on threshing the matter out in a conference committee.

Besides the big foreign aid money bill, two other appropriations bills still need final action before Congress goes home. Both are "supplemental" bills providing funds for a variety of agencies. One includes $1,400,000,000 in funds for a military construction program and still needs final Senate clearance. The other provides $400,000,000 for the atomic reactors and lacks House approval.

Both houses are expected to approve a compromise Social Security Bill worked out by conferees. Each will pass a host of minor bills before the final bells sound.

LATIN AMERICANS OBJECT — Maria Cardosa (Miss Brazil), right, poses with newly crowned Miss Universe (Carol Morris of Ottumwa, Ia.) but complained afterwards that she and other Latin American girls were disappointed in the choice for the title. None of the Latin American beauties placed in the five finalists.

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — The average American family's income may rise by as much as 70 per cent by 1981, according to a prediction by a former economic adviser to President Eisenhower. In his book: "Can Prosperity Be Sustained," Dr. Neil H. Jacoby, who is now dean of the graduate school of business at the University of California at Los Angeles, foresees this growth. "If our economy, in which government actively supports the expansion of private enterprise."
