Political Parties Declared Essential

Los Angeles —(UP)— A University of California political science professor here believes that the weakness of political organizations in California have left a vacuum which has been filled by pressure groups.

The professor is Dr. Dean E. McHenry who points out that every state or nation of considerable size has found that political parties are essential to the proper functioning of big democracy.

"However," he said, "through a combination of historical factors and unique devices such as cross-filing, political parties in California have been relegated to a meager and nominal role.

"Into the vacuum created by the shrinking of party, the pressure groups have entered. Purposeful, well-organized, and well financed they have thrown their weight and influence around both campaigns and the legislature."

Warm Wheat Causes Alarm Aboard Ship

Vancouver, Wash. — (UP) — The State Marine freighter Sea-Splendor, victim of a $120,000 fire last Friday, is still plagued with trouble in her cargo holds.

Grain investigators were called to the ship yesterday to check the number 3 hold of the ship when the shipment of wheat became warm. Coast guardsmen and fire equipment stood by.

Vancouver port authorities said no fire was believed to be in the wheat but the hold was "pretty warm." They said the heat might have been produced by fermentation.

Ship officers said it probably would be necessary to discharge and examine the cargo before the ship departs for Seattle and the Far East.

'LAMB' LOSES $75

BATON ROUGE, La. — (UP) —The combination of a thief's good act and his own respect for the law cost John Foster, of Waynesboro, Miss. his wallet and $75. Foster complained to police that a thief flashed a badge, demanded to see his wallet, grabbed it and ran. "He came up acting like the 'law'," Foster said, "and when the law talks to me, I get meek as a lamb."
