MIDWAY AUCTION YARD
MARKET MEMORANDUM
The last 2 sales this month have shown a steady decline in price of all classes of cattle except canners and cutters.
The reports we get from other western markets show that the same conditions exist on the whole west coast, and as long as the hot spell and heavy marketing continues, we may expect this condition to continue.
Top quality fat grass steers and heifers and choice heavy calves are still selling well at $16 to $17.50, but utility range cows have dropped to $10 cwt.
Good quality feeder steers $15 to $16, heifers $12 to $14. Off quality classes are very hard to move.
Not much chance of improvement on these prices for 60 days, but if any change appears we will publish it in this column.
