

Oregon Congressmen Waste Little Time Getting Out of Washington

BY A. ROBERT SMITH
Mail Tribune Correspondent
Washington — (UP) — Oregon members of Congress for the most part were wasting little time in getting out of the nation's capital from their heels and heading westward for home and the election campaign ahead of them. The only one staying behind for any length of time were two Democrats who are planning to go first to Chicago to participate in the Democratic national convention before going to Oregon. Republicans planning to attend the GOP national convention at San Francisco starting Aug. 20 figured to go first to Oregon and then to the Bay city.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D) is neither staying long behind or attending the Democratic convention. His plans call for flying to Oregon late this week to launch his reelection campaign.

Rep. Harris Ellsworth (R) will also be flying out of Washington this week, stopping first in Cleveland and then in Santa Fe to visit his two daughters. He and Mrs. Ellsworth, who went on ahead, then plan to drive from Santa Fe to their home at Roseburg after which they hope to get a brief vacation before the opening of the convention at San Francisco. The congressman tentatively plans to attend the convention.

Rep. Sam Coon (R) is planning to drive straight to his home in Baker, then to go to the Republican convention. After that, he'll return to commence his reelection campaign.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D) and Rep. Edith Green (D) are both staying in the capital until shortly before the opening of the Democratic convention Aug. 13.

Neuberger, who is chairman of the Oregon delegation to the convention, hopes to join his wife, Maurine, afterward for a short vacation prior to the start of active campaigning in the state. Mrs. Neuberger is going directly home to Portland from Washington this week.

Mrs. Green said she will go to Chicago the week before the convention starts to sit on the platform writing committee which will draft the platform after holding advance hearings. The freshman congresswoman will also be one of several women members of Congress who are scheduled to address the convention. Her five-minute speech is to cover the general field of welfare legislation.

Norblad to Kentucky
Rep. Walter Norblad (R) is the only other member of the state's delegation who is not planning to attend his party's convention. He and Mrs. Norblad are going by train first to Fort Knox, Ky., for a visit with their 17-year-old son, Albin, who is there for a six-month military training program.

Norblad will then return to Oregon, stopping off in Chicago for a visit with his parents, who expect to be en route to South Africa on a trip celebrating their 50th anniversary.

Iranian Floods Leave At Least 1,000 Dead
Teheran — (UP) — At least a thousand persons are reported dead or missing in floods which swept several provinces of Iran for the past three weeks.
Interior Minister Assadollah Alam told newsmen 430 dead had been buried so far and 500 were still unaccounted for. He estimated the damage at 5,000,000,000 rials ($66,000,000).
Cottage Grove — (UP) — Plans are under way to reopen the Black Butte Quicksilver mine near here.

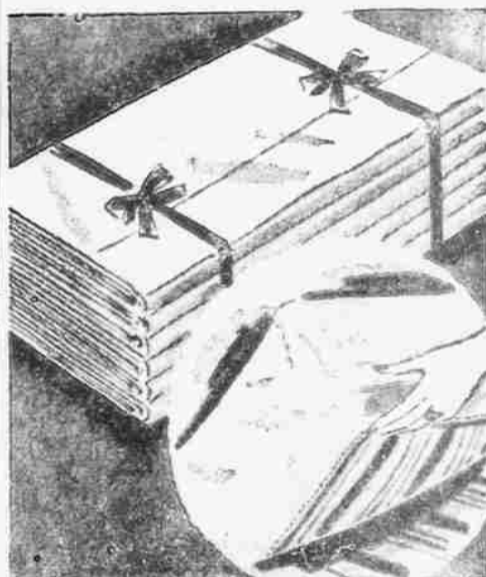

Two Killed in Crash West of McMinnville
McMinnville, Ore. — (UP) — A head-on collision about 40 miles west of here claimed the lives of two men yesterday.
One of the two was identified as Carl Leonard Lieberman, 50, of Neetsu. The other was tentatively identified from a wallet found in the car as Jake Loose, 32, Portland.
Raymond Buckland Hutchinson, 24, Portland, who was taken to a hospital at McMinnville, Hutchinson suffered multiple abrasions, contusions, a concussion and fractured ribs. He was unable to give any account of the accident.
The accident happened on highway 18 near Widow creek fish hatchery bridge. Impact of the collision threw both autos off the highway.
