

On The Side

By E. V. DURLING
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Note the publication of a pamphlet titled "Guide To Packing." That's for me. I am going to lean to pack my own suitcase. I wish to achieve my independence in this respect. My girl friend frequently threatens to make me do my own packing. This sends a shudder through my frail frame. However, I am going to master the art of packing so when my matrimonial mate says, "no comment please, or I'll make you do your own packing." I'll reply, "and, so what?" or, words to that effect.

Warning
Don't consume alcoholic liquors when driving in Florida. The courts of that state are really throwing the book at inebriated motorists. Recently a 20-year-old drunk driver involved in a fatal accident in Florida was given a prison sentence of 20 years.

Asking
Questions from clients. Q. The Louis Fourteenth restaurant in Rockefeller center claims to be "one of the best 10 restaurants in New York" but doesn't name the other nine. What are they? A. That certainly is strictly a matter of opinion. I would say they are Luchow's, Le Pavillon, Club Twenty-One, Colony, Chambord, Chateaubriand, Lindy's, Carlton House and Gage & Tollners. . . Q. Who starred in the original New York production of "The Affairs of Anatol" and when? A. John Barrymore. That was in 1912. Also in the cast were such distinguished actresses as Doris Keane, Marguerite Clark and Gail Kane.

Asides
Those with inventive talent should be interested in that book titled "Twenty-One Hundred Needed Inventions" by Raymond F. Yates. . . Before using her current slogan of "The Last Of The Red Hot Mamas," Sophie Tucker was billed as "The Mary Garden Of Ragtime." And long before Hildegarde appeared on the entertainment scene, Anne Held was billed as "The Incomparable Anne Held."

Horses And Women
The flat-coated figure, popular among females in the 1920s, really seems due for a revival. Grace Kelly is said to be responsible. An intense interest is reported in a form compressing gadget called the "Diminisher." Our horses and women experts view this situation with regret and some alarm. They think the girls who have been endowed with curves by nature should continue to follow a policy of looking sweeter in a sweater. They also believe that flattening out said curves might be injurious to the health.

Passing By
Stavros Niarchos. Picturesque shipping magnate. Followed the advice of that ancient greek who urged young men to get into a business involving ships or women. His brother-in-law, Aristotle Socrates Onassis, took similar advice. Both are now millionaires. Onassis, as you know, is the man who bought the bank at Monte Carlo just for a hobby. He is also said to have suggested that Prince Rainier marry Grace Kelly.

As It Was
There are some things cheaper now than 20 or more years ago. As for example, golf balls which I note offered for $3.33 cents a dozen. I paid a dollar each for golf balls not so many years ago. That was very hard on my bankroll because I had a long drive with a terrific slice and I lost many a ball.

Trade Marks
Note the Metro-Gladwyn-Mayer lion named "the best of all film company trademarks." It is very effective. However, my favorite film trademark of all time was the old mutual film company's winged clock with the slogan: "Mutual Movies Make Time Fly."

Cigars
Ninety per cent of the cigars

5-Days Are Here!
The Greatest Safeway Sale Ever!
LUCKY TIGER HAIR OIL
4-oz. Bottle 19¢
(Plus Tax)
SAFeway

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

United Press—Full Leased Wire
MEDFORD, OREGON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1956
Pages 1-6

Ellsworth Reviews Administration Results Under Democratic Controlled 84th Congress

By HARRIS ELLSWORTH
Republican Congressman from Oregon's 4th district

(This is one of a series of guest columns written by members of the Oregon congressional delegation, concerning their part in the recently adjourned 84th Congress.)

Washington—A year or so ago a top government officer said with reference to the world situation that it was time for an "agonizing reappraisal" of our policies. In ordinary words that means let's look at what we've done no matter how much it hurts.

Now that the second Congress of the first four-year Eisenhower presidential term has adjourned, the voters in our 48 states might well make an agonizing reappraisal of what they did midway of the Eisenhower term when they faced him with an opposition Congress by their votes in the 1954 election.

Korea Peace Established
The first two years went smoothly in spite of some sharp changes in the trend of things as they had been under the previous administration. Inflation was halted. Price, wage, and rent controls were ended. Reduced federal expenditures made tax reductions of more than seven billions of dollars possible. A phony truce in the Korean war was halted and actual peace established. Confidence in government and a stabilized economy brought investment capital out of hiding, resulting in tremendous industrial plant expansion and more people working at higher wages than ever before in our history.

Those were terrific strides to be made in less than 24 months. To a considerable extent they were made possible because the

Klamath Indian Land Up for Sealed Bids

Klamath Agency, Ore.—(U.P.)—Thirty-five allotments of Indian land are being offered for sale on a sealed bid basis, officials here said Monday. The bids will be received until 2 p.m. on Aug. 31 when they will be publicly opened here.

Detailed information about type of land and the bid offering may be had from the superintendent of the Klamath Indian Agency here.

manufactured in the United States are machine-made. Incidentally, one of the first inventors of cigar making machinery was Oscar Hammerstein, the opera impresario. There are many good machine made cigars but I like the hand rolled kind better.

Congress for those two years was controlled by the president's party. The president could ask for and get legislation he needed to advance his program. That was the 83rd Republican Congress.

Since the beginning of the new Democratic controlled 84th Congress in 1955, President Eisenhower's legislative program has been mauled, man-handled and has frequently taken a beating. The President asked for a long-range program of highway construction and rebuilding. The opposition majority in this Congress could not make up its mind how to disagree with the President and still pass wanted highway legislation. Finally, after haggling for nearly a year and a half a bill was passed—but the construction program was delayed more than a year.

Impossible Situation
The Eisenhower administration fell heir to an impossible situation in agriculture. The mandatory 90 per cent price support program which seemed to be needed to increase food production for war was still in effect. The price depressing mountain of surplus commodities in government warehouses in idle ships, and in box cars had become a growing multi-billion dollar headache. The 83rd Congress took off the rigid controls and advanced surplus disposal. But the House in the first session of the opposition 84th Congress passed a bill to reinstate 90 per cent rigid parity. The President then made some recommendations for farm legislation which were generally ignored and he was confronted with what he considered an impossible farm bill, which he vetoed. Finally, the 84th Congress passed a farm bill—but not before the hassle over it had delayed its benefits for a crop year.

Result of Momentum
It seems likely that our present happy state may be the result of momentum generated in the first two years when the President and Congress pulled together. There are little signs here and there, in the auto industry and elsewhere, that our economy is not moving ahead with the vigor it had not long ago. Our free economy is a sensitive apparatus which invariably reacts to the stability and dependability of government.

In view of the record which is now written in full it seems that the logical result of careful reappraisal would be to continue President Eisenhower in office for another four years and this time give him a Congress controlled by his own party.

Jehovah's Witness Sees Lasting Peace
Salem — (U.P.) — Permanent peace in our time was predicted to more than 6,000 Jehovah's Witnesses by Nicholas Kovalak of New York at the closing session of a four-day Northwest assembly here Sunday.

"Almost since man's beginning, people have been seeking and praying for peace, but to no avail," Kovalak said. "In the last 3,361 years of recorded history there have been only 227 peaceful years."

Kovalak, an official of the Witnesses' Watchtower organization, said "wars have settled nothing permanently and now the devastating power of war hangs as a dark cloud over the entire earth."

COOL NIGHT
Des Moines — (U.P.) — Just before the train carrying Des Moines businessmen on their annual goodwill tour of central Iowa left the station, one man asked another to help him put a 50-pound chunk of ice in one of the berths. When the helper decided to go to bed, he found the ice was in his berth.

Dead line Sunday Classified is at noon Saturday

A Nichol's Worth of . . . Comment On This and That

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Feature Writer

Washington — (U.P.) — The gal who represents the nation's capital at the Miss America contest in Atlantic City will display her charms in slip covers.

And no matter who is the local winner (39 or 32 bust or 24 inches around the midriff) her gear is bound to fit.

The gals who compete in the Miss America thing must have a gown to wear down the ramp each night. They must have a different rig for the night they compete in talent and yet another when they roll down the boardwalk in the annual parade.

The utility garment starts out with uncounted yards of tulle, with a satin bodice, or topside. After that on come the slip covers for the other ensembles.

The basic garment remains on most of the time, hoops drawn out. The gown hooked on for the parade can be any color, blending with hair and figure. The one I saw was called aqua ocean spray, whatever that is.

Handy for Brides
If it doesn't match the girl, radio station WWDC, which sponsors the local entry, will find something that does.

Then comes the other slip cover — a silk organdie business on the bottom and white satin on top with phony rose petals all around. Real flowers are against the rules.

The three-in-one gown is going to cost the tab grabber $350. "If she really wanted to," Mrs. Betts said, "a girl could build this one garment up to 13."

It would be handy, she said, for a bride who wanted to travel light and always be properly dressed on her honeymoon.

Judith Dunkle, the Miss Washington of last year, said she wished she had known about putting everything in one or two suitcases.

"Golly me," she said, "it was a wonder they would let me on the plane. I even had a footlocker. Maybe I was born too early."

Maybe Judy was — she's all of 20 now.

Anyhow, getting back to the

slip covers or convertibles.

The gals who compete in the Miss America thing must have a gown to wear down the ramp each night. They must have a different rig for the night they compete in talent and yet another when they roll down the boardwalk in the annual parade.

The utility garment starts out with uncounted yards of tulle, with a satin bodice, or topside. After that on come the slip covers for the other ensembles.

The basic garment remains on most of the time, hoops drawn out. The gown hooked on for the parade can be any color, blending with hair and figure. The one I saw was called aqua ocean spray, whatever that is.

Handy for Brides
If it doesn't match the girl, radio station WWDC, which sponsors the local entry, will find something that does.

Then comes the other slip cover — a silk organdie business on the bottom and white satin on top with phony rose petals all around. Real flowers are against the rules.

The three-in-one gown is going to cost the tab grabber $350. "If she really wanted to," Mrs. Betts said, "a girl could build this one garment up to 13."

It would be handy, she said, for a bride who wanted to travel light and always be properly dressed on her honeymoon.

Judith Dunkle, the Miss Washington of last year, said she wished she had known about putting everything in one or two suitcases.

"Golly me," she said, "it was a wonder they would let me on the plane. I even had a footlocker. Maybe I was born too early."

Maybe Judy was — she's all of 20 now.

Anyhow, getting back to the

slip covers or convertibles.

The gals who compete in the Miss America thing must have a gown to wear down the ramp each night. They must have a different rig for the night they compete in talent and yet another when they roll down the boardwalk in the annual parade.

The utility garment starts out with uncounted yards of tulle, with a satin bodice, or topside. After that on come the slip covers for the other ensembles.

The basic garment remains on most of the time, hoops drawn out. The gown hooked on for the parade can be any color, blending with hair and figure. The one I saw was called aqua ocean spray, whatever that is.

Handy for Brides
If it doesn't match the girl, radio station WWDC, which sponsors the local entry, will find something that does.

Then comes the other slip cover — a silk organdie business on the bottom and white satin on top with phony rose petals all around. Real flowers are against the rules.

The three-in-one gown is going to cost the tab grabber $350. "If she really wanted to," Mrs. Betts said, "a girl could build this one garment up to 13."

It would be handy, she said, for a bride who wanted to travel light and always be properly dressed on her honeymoon.

Judith Dunkle, the Miss Washington of last year, said she wished she had known about putting everything in one or two suitcases.

"Golly me," she said, "it was a wonder they would let me on the plane. I even had a footlocker. Maybe I was born too early."

Maybe Judy was — she's all of 20 now.

Anyhow, getting back to the

slip covers or convertibles.

The gals who compete in the Miss America thing must have a gown to wear down the ramp each night. They must have a different rig for the night they compete in talent and yet another when they roll down the boardwalk in the annual parade.

The utility garment starts out with uncounted yards of tulle, with a satin bodice, or topside. After that on come the slip covers for the other ensembles.

The basic garment remains on most of the time, hoops drawn out. The gown hooked on for the parade can be any color, blending with hair and figure. The one I saw was called aqua ocean spray, whatever that is.

Handy for Brides
If it doesn't match the girl, radio station WWDC, which sponsors the local entry, will find something that does.

Then comes the other slip cover — a silk organdie business on the bottom and white satin on top with phony rose petals all around. Real flowers are against the rules.

The main emphasis at the U.S. Army Language School is on Russian, Korean, Mandarin Chinese and German. In addition to the school, the Army maintains two language detachments—"R" in Europe for teaching Russian, and "S" in Japan for teaching Japanese.

COSTLY STROLL
Falls City, Neb. — (U.P.) — A 13-year-old boy calmly walked the full length of a block of freshly poured cement sidewalk here recently, then put his initials in the cement. His father had to pay $20 for having the sidewalk refinished.

Commercial possibilities of aluminum opened up when the cost of production dropped to $8 per pound. But even at this price, the material was considered so valuable that its American producers locked up each day's production in a safe.

Hotpoint Hotpoint Hotpoint

GIANT SIZE! GIANT VALUE!

Hotpoint SUPER-COLD FOOD FREEZER

HOLDS 914 POUNDS

AS LITTLE AS . . . 83¢ A DAY

- Big size for big savings —26 cu. ft. capacity
- Special fast-freeze compartment
- Rustproof all-aluminum liner
- Sliding baskets simplify storage
- 5-Year Protection Plan on Freezer and Food

City Appliance, Inc.

"Jackson County's Exclusive Hotpoint Dealer"

127 North Central Ave. • MEDFORD, OREGON • Phone 3-5306
137 East Main Street • ASHLAND, OREGON • Phone 9-5831

OPEN WEDNESDAY EVENINGS 'TIL 9 P.M.

Hotpoint Hotpoint Hotpoint

SALE ATLAS TIRES

save up to 25%***

All sizes • Tubed or Tubeless • Whitewall or Black

Buy 4 tires for the price of 3*—Easy-Pay Plan lets you spread the cost!—Don't miss this pre-vacation sale!

For a limited time, all Atlas Grip-Safe and Cushionaire Passenger Tires are on Special to give you real savings. They're top quality, rugged, guaranteed in writing against road hazards. Buy on your Chevron National Credit Card.

SAMPLE SAVINGS

	REG. PRICE No trade-in	SALE PRICE with re-appeal trade-in
ATLAS CUSHIONAIRE
6.70-15 (White) Tubeless	$36.15	$26.95
7.60-15 (Black) Tubeless	35.45	26.60
8.20-15 (White) Tubeless	50.10	37.60

*See table of sample savings. Applicable taxes to be added to prices.

CHEVRON STANDARD

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

"Atlas" Reg. U.S. Pat. Off., Atlas Supply Co.