McKay Speaks on Aid To Education

Monmouth — (U.P.) — Money spent for education and national defense are equally investments in national security, Douglas McKay, Republican candidate for U.S. senator, said here.

In a "Republican night" speech before an Oregon Education association workshop, McKay said he had "no sympathy with those who refuse even to consider the merits of federal aid to education."

Failure of federal aid to education legislation in the 84th Congress was the result of opposition from three groups, McKay said.

He listed them as "those opposed to federal aid to the states per se; those fearful that federal contribution would lead to federal control of educational processes, and those opposed to federal grants to those states that refuse to end racial segregation."

"I cannot share the concern of those who fear that federal aid will lead to federal control of education itself," McKay said. "I am satisfied that sincere and intelligent leadership can work out the conflict of interest between those concerned with racial qualities."

McKay said the "most difficult obstacle" is creating popular understanding of what constitutes "good" but not wasteful education and urged school people to undertake this public education task.

News and Weather For a Penny a Day

Bristol, Tenn. — (U.P.) — "Lots of news" plus the weather—and for a penny a day.

That's the deal offered by George McCall and George Schieren, publisher and editor, respectively, of the Eagle News.

The Georges are 11 years old, both sixth graders at Fairmont School here. They publish their ambitious little journal daily in the basement of the McCall home. Just now it has six regular subscribers.

Two small printing machines turn out the Eagle News—and since type often gives out before an issue is completed, stories usually are pretty short.

The other day, though, there was a bad wreck in the neighborhood. The boys put out an extra and according to McCall "We made eight cents and sold out."

The paper's delivery boy, Jimmy Keith, doubles as the reporter, gathering news items along his route. Betsy Beach, who lives close by, is circulation manager.

On Sunday there is a bigger edition, containing a comic strip and a summary of the week's news. That edition sells for two cents and is "just as big as we get news to make it."

The weather reports? They're borrowed from bigger dailies in the area.

McCall says there's plenty going on to keep the paper supplied with news.

Raid at Beaverton Nets Gaming Devices

Beaverton — (U.P.) — A daylight raid by police on the Beaverton Elks lodge Monday resulted in confiscation of slot machines, punchboards and an electric gambling clock.

Russell Lee Enck, lodge manager, was arrested on a charge of unlawful possession of gambling equipment. He was released on his own recognizance.

Beaverton Police Chief Charles L. McCarthy, a member of the lodge, led the raid on the year-old club. He was accompanied by two Beaverton policemen and a state patrolman. Two slot machines, three punchboards and the gambling clock were confiscated and turned over to the county sheriff at Hillsboro.

Army Trucks Explode; At Least 50 Killed

Call, Colombia — (U.P.) — Seven Army trucks loaded with ammunition and fuel were reported yesterday to have blown up near the center of the city. The explosion blasted eight city blocks, killing at least 50 persons, injuring many others and causing heavy property damage.

It was estimated that at least 450 persons were injured. A two-story military police headquarters, a number of cafes, crowded because it was the eve of a national holiday, and a theater were among the structures razed by the explosion.

An area three miles from the scene was rocked by the blast. Window panes were shattered and debris showered throughout the affected district. Fires broke out in the area, adding to the disaster. The scene of the blast is only 12 blocks from Caicedo Square, the center of the city.

Correctional Institution Plans Given Approval

Salem — (U.P.) — Preliminary plans for the state's new Salem area correctional institution have been approved by the State Board of Control with first work to start on the boiler room.

About one-half the institution, which eventually will house 600 inmates, will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1959.
