President To Rest at Monterey Peninsula Following Convention

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower and at least two members of his Cabinet will go to California's Monterey Peninsula for four to five days of golf and rest when the Republican National Convention ends in San Francisco.

The White House said Wednesday that the President would stay at the Cypress Point club on the scenic 17-mile drive between Monterey and Carmel. With him will be Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Secretary of Treasury George Humphrey.

Accepts Invitation

Mr. Eisenhower decided to stay at Cypress Point at the invitation of John A. McCone, wealthy Los Angeles builder and a personal friend, acting on behalf of the club's directors.

The President is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco in his personal plane Wednesday, Aug. 22, and stay at the St. Francis hotel.

The next day he will address the convention to accept the presidential nomination. Then he will leave for the Cypress Point club.

Secret Service agents last week inspected the two-story stucco and redwood club and the surrounding area. They pronounced it safe.

The club covers 135 acres and is located among cypress trees at the edge of a beautiful golf course overlooking the ocean. Nearby are Pebble Beach, Del Monte and Peninsula golf courses to give the President a wide selection of playing sites.

Guestroom Remodeled
The clubhouse has kitchens and service quarters, a large living room lounge and club dining room on the ground floor. One of the four guestrooms on the second floor is being remodeled for Mr. Eisenhower.

Presidents of the club is Harry

C. Hunt of Pebble Beach. Vice presidents are Samuel F. B. Morse, president of Del Monte Properties Co., and state Republican leader, and Allen Griffin, publisher of the Monterey Peninsula Herald.

Korean Orphans Reach Portland; Holt Stricken

Portland—(U.P.)—Harry Holt, the famed Oregon farmer from Creswell, arrived at Portland International Airport shortly after 6 a.m. today with another plane load of Korean orphans. The children arrived in fine shape but Holt was immediately placed under the care of a physician.

Airline Stewardess Karen Cedarwall of Seattle said the pilot of the plane radioed ahead to Portland to have a physician meet the plane after Holt was stricken on the flight from Honolulu. It was not known immediately whether Holt suffered from a heart ailment or from exhaustion.

Brought From Korea

The 25 mixed-blood orphans were brought from Holt's orphanages in Korea for adoption by families in Oregon, Washington, California, Florida and Canada. Last year Holt and his wife adopted eight orphans to be raised on their Creswell farm in Lane county. Since then he has personally established orphanages and an extensive rescue operation to find homes for children rejected by Koreans. The youngsters are offspring of American soldiers and Korean mothers.

Miss Cedarwall said the flight passed without incident aside from Holt's illness. She said that when asked about the magnitude of his rescue mission, Holt simply looked up from his diaper changing and replied, "fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

Some of the orphans were met by adoptive parents in Portland. The others will enjoy a brief rest here before proceeding to their destinations.

U Nu Sees Early Border Settlement

Rangoon, Burma—(U.P.)—Former Premier U Nu said today he believes the issue over whether the Communist Chinese are occupying Burmese territory "can be settled peacefully."

U Nu issued a statement as president of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League in which he appealed to Burmese newspapers to refrain from writing anything about the occupation at the moment that might jeopardize negotiations.

He said he met Premier Chou En-lai and other Red Chinese leaders on a trip to China and that they "expressed a very keen desire to settle the general problem of the border in a friendly way and to settle it as speedily as possible."

Atom Merchant Ship Due Before 1960

Washington—(U.P.)—The United States hopes to have the world's first atomic powered merchant ship sailing the seas before 1960.

Maritime Administrator Clarence G. Morse told a news conference Wednesday he will get together with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission "before the end of this month" to decide what type of ship to build. He said it will be "other than a tanker," possibly a "combination passenger and cargo or dry cargo vessel."

Morse said the length of time required to complete the vessel will depend on the type of atomic reactor used to power it.
