Child's Death Blamed On Overcrowding
Detroit (U.P.)—Children's Hospital officials Saturday blamed overcrowded conditions for the death of a 15-month old boy whose mother claimed she was ignored by doctors and nurses for nearly two hours.

The mother, Mrs. Caroline McAbee, 27, said she took her baby, James, to the hospital twice. She said the first time she was told to take the infant home and feed him a mixture of syrup and boiled water. She said she returned to the hospital because the child "was breathing hard and in pain."

When she returned she said she tried vainly to obtain the help of doctors and nurses but after two hours of waiting the youngster died in her arms.

Mrs. McAbee said she finally managed to get attention by forcing her way into an examining room where Dr. William T. Gaffield was treating another infant. Apparently the child was dead at that time.

Jean Margetts Plans To Return Home Soon
Salt Lake City (U.P.)—Jean Margetts, the 18-year-old girl who survived nine days of starvation and exposure under a wrecked auto, expects to leave here early this week for her home in Sunnyvale, Calif.

She has been staying at the home of an aunt, Mrs. Andrew B. Oswald, since her release from the hospital last month.

She celebrated her recovery yesterday with a small party, included among the guests were Don Deming of the Utah Fish and Game department, the man who first spotted Miss Margetts in a Parleys Canyon ravine from an airplane.

Amendments in Program for GI Loans Included in Bill

The World War II GI loan program ending date has been extended for one more year to July 25, 1958, under an omnibus GI loan law signed by the President Aug. 1, according to S. T. Brannock, of the Veteran's Administration office in Medford.

The GI loan program previously was scheduled to end July 25, 1957, Brannock said, and under the wording of the original law, all GI loans would have had to be closed by that date.

Under the law, any GI loan for which VA receives an application by July 25, 1958, may be guaranteed or insured by VA if it is completed by July 25, 1959. Law affects Brannock added that the law affects only World War II veterans. Korean veterans have until Jan. 31, 1965, to obtain GI loans for homes, farms or businesses. More than 345,000 Korean veterans have borrowed $3.6 billion in GI loans. VA has guaranteed or insured $2 billion of that amount.

In addition, the law will permit any veteran who sells residential property purchased with a GI loan to be relieved from liability to the government under certain circumstances.

Previously, the veteran who sold his property and allowed the purchaser to assume his GI loan still remained liable to the government in the event of foreclosure and payment of a guaranty claim by the VA. Now the veteran is relieved of liability if the purchaser assumes full liability on the loan.

Entitlement Restored
The new law also permits World War II veterans to have their GI loan entitlement restored up to Jan. 31, 1965, if their property was taken by a governmental agency for public use, was destroyed by a natural haz-

Air Pumped To Man Trapped Under Water
New Orleans (U.P.)—Workers cut metal and pumped air by floodlight Saturday to try to keep alive two men feared trapped inside the cabin of a capsized floating oil rig in the Mississippi river.

While pumping crews worked to maintain a four-to-five foot air pocket inside the inverted cabin others cut through sheaths of heavy hull metal on the bottom of the huge barge in an effort to reach the men.

All but four of some 30 men aboard were accounted for after the $1,500,000 barge, bigger in area than a basketball court, capsized with a sudden shift of its load of metal pipe late Friday.

Witnesses said two missing men were seen on top at the last moment and could not be in the cabin. At least five others were injured in plunges into the water or in leaping to safety.

Peak of Chicago Epidemic Expected

Chicago (U.P.)—Dr. Herman Bundesen, Board of Health president, has expressed hope that a leveling-off would appear in Chicago's record polio outbreak in about a week.

Bunden's speculation of a leveling-off and an ensuing decline in the polio case load was based on past records of the disease in the city. Although hopeful, Bundesen admitted his prognosis could be wrong.

There have been 676 cases of polio and 18 deaths from the disease so far this year, far exceeding case loads in past years.

Bunden's optimistic statement came as the polio rate continued to climb, particularly in the hard-hit West Side slum area where almost 50 per cent of the cases have been recorded.
